Olive Bridge Resident Is Killed in Glenford Crash Trying to Pass Big Truck

Harry L. Marshall, 24, Dead on Arrival at the Kingston Hospital Last Night

Death Accidental

Prattsville Chauffeur Is Absolved of Blame by Coroner Kelly

Harry L. Marshall, 24, of Olive Bridge was fatally injured in an automobile-truck crash late last night on Route 28 near Glenford.

Troopers from the Lake Katrine barracks said the accident occurred at 11:30 p. m. Friday near the intersection of Route 28 and the Maverick road.

Steenburg Not Held

Steenburg was not reported injured, and he was not held following investigation of the crash. Coroner Ernest A. Kelly has given a verdict of accidental death in the case of Marshall. An autopsy was ordered performed in Kingston this morning by Drs. Herbert Derman and John R. Roberts to determine the extent of Marshall's injuries.

It is believed that Marshall was driving toward Kingston and the truck was driving in the opposite direction at the time of the accident, troopers said.

Marshall was pronounced dead on arrival at Kingston Hospital. He was taken there by a W. N. Conner ambulance.

Worked at Lackawack

Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Marshall of Olive Bridge, was born December 5, 1926. He was not married. According to his driver's license, Marshall had been employed as a clerk by the New York Board of Water Supply at its Lackawack project.

The remains were to be taken to the Lasher Funeral Home in Woodstock following the autopsy today. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

Don't Serve Lunches

Knoxville, Tenn., May 12 (AP)—After notices reminded delinquent restaurant owners they had not paid their lunchroom privilege tax, the city finance office received an indignant telephone call. "We don't owe any tax," protested a restaurant operator to Office Manager William Paylor yesterday. "We don't serve lunches." "Don't serve lunches . . . ?" "Nope, only evening meals."

Cows Heat House

Swedish Engineer Has Way of Conducting Warmth From His Barn

Lund, Sweden, May 12 (AP)—How many cows does it take to heat a house? Eighteen Bossies keep one farmer's family cozy all winter—from a distance—at a state-sponsored model near this village in southern Sweden.

The cows give milk too.

They don't know it, but while they relax, their body heat is collected and piped 40 yards to the farmhouse while it keeps five rooms nice and warm.

Engineer Marten Blomquist started the experiment two and one half years ago for a Swedish state research committee for farmyard workers. He said it works fine.

Blomquist found that one cow produces between 17 and 20 pounds of steam and about 80,000 British thermal units (BTU) every 24 hours.

(A BTU is the quantity of heat required to raise the temperature of one pound of water and one degree Fahrenheit at or near its maximum point of density.)

A bunch of cows don't need all that heat to keep their barn comfortable, Blomquist reasoned. So he installed a combination air conditioning and heat pump device in the cow barn to borrow some BTU's for the farmhouse.

The engineer figures he saves about 50 per cent of the excess heat formerly wasted on cattle.

The temperatures in the barn and house, he said, can be maintained at a constant level by thermostatic control.

Three Are Injured In Auto Accidents

Pedestrian, Two Truckmen Treated at Local Hospital Friday

A local pedestrian and two truckmen were injured, not seriously, in two accidents here Friday afternoon and early evening, according to reports from the police and sheriff's office.

Willow Harrell, 53, of 86 Bruyn avenue was treated in Kingston Hospital's emergency room Friday evening for head injuries which police said he received when he was struck by a motor vehicle on Albany avenue.

Harrell was walking across Albany avenue near TenBroeck avenue about 6:20 p. m. when he was struck by a station wagon driven by Piero Piermattei of 312 West 56th street, New York, police said. The impact caused the left headlight of the vehicle to break.

Taken to the hospital by Conner's ambulance, Harrell went to his home after receiving treatment, hospital authorities said.

Patrolmen Thomas Tomshaw and Thomas McGrane investigated. No arrest was made.

Two Hurt in Truck

Two other men were treated at Kingston Hospital for cuts and bruises received when the truck in which they were riding struck a tree along Route 28 at the city line at 3:50 p. m. Friday.

Charles Ford of Pine Hill, listed by the sheriff's office as driver of the truck, was taken to the hospital by ambulance. John Hoeko of Fleischmanns, owner of the vehicle, was taken to the hospital in a sheriff's office car by Deputy Arthur Smith. Both were released following treatment.

Deputy Sheriff Carl Cline, who investigated with Deputy Smith, said the flat body truck, which had been traveling toward Kingston, spun completely around on the road after striking the tree. The tree is close to the highway in front of The Barn and near the entrance to the bridge and viaduct at the city line.

Weinberg Is Held For Contempt

University Professor Won't Talk on Accusation About A-Bomb

Washington, May 12 (AP)—The "Scientist X" accused by a House committee of slipping atomic secrets to Communists was arrested here yesterday on charges of contempt of the Federal District Court.

Slim, bespectacled Dr. Joseph W. Weinberg, a professor at the University of Minnesota, was held in $1,000 bail after he turned down a last chance to answer questions put to him by a federal grand jury.

At an open hearing of the District of Columbia Federal Court, Judge Alexander Holtzoff directed Weinberg to answer questions about where he lived in Berkeley, Calif., and some of his acquaintances while he was a physicist at the University of California laboratory in 1943. The questions involved, the judge said, had already been answered before the House committee.

Uses Constitution

Weinberg refused to answer, just as he has refused before the grand jury. Answers, he said, might tend to incriminate him. He claimed the protection of the constitutional guarantee that in criminal proceedings no witness need testify against himself.

The federal judge then ruled Weinberg in contempt. He set a hearing for Monday morning.

Myron Ehrlich, Weinberg's attorney, asked yesterday that Weinberg be released for appearance Monday without bail. To be held in bail, Ehrlich said, would mean loss of Weinberg's job at the University of Minnesota. The judge refused.

Last night a university spokesman said no action had been taken against Weinberg.

12 Cents Lopped From Chuck Pieces; 3% Off Stock

Washington, May 12 (AP)—The price control cleaver is lopping about 12 cents a pound off some chuck steaks and pot roasts, and five to six cents off rump roast.

The reductions, ordered last night by the Office of Price Stabilization, will show up in the dollars-and-cents ceiling prices on all beef which must be posted on meat counters Monday morning.

Although the new order was issued on the same day that the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported a three per cent drop in livestock prices during the week ended May 8, it had no apparent connection with this development.

Nor was there a connection with the projected general rollback which is scheduled to reduce all beef prices by about 10 cents a pound by next Oct. 1. The new order simply amends ceiling regulations to allow for "inequities" and to provide other adjustments in an order issued April 29.

This directed retail dealers to post controlled ceiling prices by May 14.

Order Outlined

Here is what the new order does:

It sets the same price for steaks and pot roasts of the varieties known as chuck arm and chuck blade, bone in.

Arm chucks were about 13 cents a pound higher than chuck blades in the original April 29 beef order. On Monday, the ceiling on arm chucks will drop 12 cents and the ceiling on chuck blades will go up one cent.

The reductions in the announced ceiling price on choice and good grade rump roast, bone in, will bring the butcher stop price down from 84 cents a pound to about 79 cents, OPS officials said. The price of choice and good boneless rump remains at $1.12 a pound.

The OPS postponed the effective date of retail kosher beef price ceilings from next Monday to May 21.

General Decline

Wholesale prices in general declined for the second week in a row during the week ended May 8, largely because of the 3.0 per cent drop in livestock prices. The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported yesterday an index of 182.9 per cent of the 1926 average was a decline of 0.3 per cent from the preceding week.

The index was 1.6 per cent above the level of Jan. 23. Just before the price freeze; 16.6 per cent above the May 24-June 25 (pre-Korea) average, and 17.7 above a year ago.

Plug Supply Hole

Frankfurt, Germany, May 12 (AP)—American and German authorities—determined to halt the flow of strategic German goods through the Iron Curtain—halted 4,000 tons of steel rails headed for Hungary yesterday. The action is believed to signal the opening of a drive to plug the German border leaks through which an estimated $1,000,000,000 worth of strategic goods have found their way into Communist countries since World War 2.

Lawyers Oppose Death Penalty

Philadelphia, May 12 (AP)—The Philadelphia Bar Association is opposed to capital punishment in Pennsylvania.

The association voted late yesterday to empower its committee on criminal justice to express its opposition to the death penalty before the state Legislature and before a special British royal commission.

Thomas D. McBride, prominent criminal attorney and chairman of the committee, led the drive for approval of the resolution.

He pointed out that since 1935 there have been 325 persons executed in this state—less than 10 per year.

A supporter rose and said: "With 100,000 persons a year dying in this state, we are wise indeed if we are wise enough to say that any 10 persons are more wicked than the others."

McBride said seven states already have abolished the death penalty: Kansas, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, Rhode Island and Wisconsin.

Britain and U. S. Iron Out Problem On China Terms

Harmony Seen on Tight Controls in Supplies; Formosa, Japan Plan Okay

Washington, May 12 (AP)—The United States and Britain appear to have ironed out for the time being most of their differences over dealing with Red China, terms of the Japanese peace treaty and Formosa.

Responsible officials said yesterday's statement by Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison helped bring the two western powers closer together on these thorny issues than they have been since the Korean fighting started.

Combined with other recent developments, the British foreign policy explanations by Morrison and other government spokesmen were accepted by American diplomats as meaning:

1. Britain is ready now to go along with the American idea of tightening economic pressure against the Chinese Communists and other Soviet bloc countries.

The British government on Thursday announced an embargo on further shipments of rubber to Red China this year. Oil shipments have been barred since last July. Agreement is expected on a U.N. embargo on sales of arms.

No Delay Expected

2. The last major obstacles to agreement on Japanese treaty terms have been removed. American and British officials said differences remain over a proposal of the British Commonwealth nations to limit Japanese shipbuilding but they don't look for this to cause delay. Red China will not

WPIX Workers Return To TV Posts Today

New York, May 12 (AP)—A federal mediator announced early today that television Station WPIX and striking AFL technicians had agreed to submit their wage differences to arbitration.

The union, Local 1212, AFL Radio and Television Broadcast Engineers, said workers would return to their jobs today.

During the two-day strike, the station had canceled all "live" programs.

The union has sought a five per cent across-the-board wage increase. Present wages range from $73.25 to $147 weekly, a union official said.

WPIX is operated by WPIX, Inc., a corporation owned by the News Syndicate Company, Inc.

Homicide Charge Comes After Jeep Race in City

Inspectors Tell Police Two Men Try to Get Away in Chase Over Mail

New York, May 12 (AP)—Police today booked for homicide one of two men they said rode a rampaging jeep station wagon through a crowd of pedestrians Monday, killing one.

Arrested late yesterday, John J. Forkin, a 31 year old longshoreman was booked early today after an all-night questioning by Assistant District Attorney James Daley.

The station wagon, pursued by two postal inspectors, who said the occupants tried to pick up some packages at a mail box, raced through late Monday afternoon crowds striking four men and fatally injuring one. It finally crashed into a truck at 18th St., and its two occupants escaped.

Police said Forkin identified the driver of the car as Charles McCue. McCue's father, Frank J., 53, and McCue's common-law wife, Mrs. Grace Fox, 41, were arrested Tuesday and chaged with receiving stolen property.

Police said they recovered a total of $11,500 in stolen goods at the Bronx apartments of the elder McCue and Mrs. Fox and at a Second avenue apartment occupied by McCue.

Check Two Fires

Two fire calls were received within two minutes at fire headquarters here this morning. At 3:24 a. m. Ulster Hose Company was summoned through mutual aid to a house at Glenerie Lake Park, where an oil burner had set fire to itself but was out when firemen arrived. Two minutes later, Cornell station firemen and Engine 2 were dispatched to Chambers street near Stuyvesant street, where a short circuit caused a slight fire in a Central Hudson electric pole. Firemen stood by until a crew from the electric company arrived.

Republicans See Ike's Chances Fade For US Presidency

Say MacArthur Episode Detrimental to General at '52 Convention

Tulsa, Okla., May 12 (AP)—Some Republicans contended today the MacArthur episode has reduced the chances General Eisenhower will get the party's presidential nomination in Chicago next year.

The Windy City won the 1952 convention — on a compromise date of the week of July 7—by an 88 to 11 vote of the GOP national committee.

Senator Millikin of Colorado collapsed last night near the end of a speech broadcast nationally—supplying unscheduled drama to the Republican meeting which winds up today. He was revived quickly after slumping over a microphone.

An attending physician said Senator Millikin suffered a fainting spell brought on by nervous exhaustion, heat and humidity.

National committeemen generally said that the testimony of General MacArthur, Pacific commander fired by President Truman, had boosted general opposition to the administration in Washington.

Hard on Military

Some members said the long range effect of the testimony before Senate committees has been to undermine grass roots confidence in the ability of military leaders to maintain a professional viewpoint untouched by administration political policies.

Walter Hallanan, West Virginia committeeman, said MacArthur's statements have "put Eisenhower in eclipse" because Eisenhower is so closely linked with Defense Secretary Marshall and other military men serving the Truman administration.

Former Senator Harry Darby, now national committeeman from Eisenhower's home state of Kansas, said he thought the MacArthur incident had introduced doubt among the people as to the judgment of military leaders.

Secrecy Surrounds Eniwetok Blast

No Definite Information Given on Test of Bomb May 7th

By LEIF ERICKSON

Honolulu, May 12 (AP)—The United States has exploded another bomb at Eniwetok in the first atomic test emphasizing defense against the A-bomb.

Even the time of the closely-guarded "Operation Greenhouse" explosion was not definitely known. But presumably it took place Monday or Tuesday in the 200-square-mile proving grounds 2,000 miles west of here.

Its force was thrown against structures built at the Eniwetok proving ground to develop information of construction design and materials which best can withstand the A-bomb's destructive power.

Early speculation that the test might involve a hydrogen bomb was discounted. The hydrogen bomb experimentation was believed to be still in the early stages.

The first positive word on the latest test came from Rep. Henry M. Jackson (D.-Wash.). He said here that he had attended "a test" at Eniwetok.

A short time later, in Washington, a member of the Senate-House Atomic Committee, asking to remain anonymous, said "the test has been finished."

Commission Silent

This source said May 7 was the target date for the main and final test at Eniwetok. He said the results had not yet been evaluated and he had no immediate information on the exact nature of the test.

The Atomic Energy Commission said only that a "test program is

Marshall Insists Truman Policy on Far East Best for U. S.

Washington, May 12 (AP)—Secretary Marshall began today his sixth day of testimony at the Senate inquiry into the ouster of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Marshall arrived 10 minutes early, and there was not a senator in sight.

Four senators came in a little later and began the session. They were Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the joint Armed Services-Foreign Relations Committees, which are holding the hearings, and Senators Cain (R.-Wash.), Knowland (R.-Calif.), and George (D.-Ga.).

The committees have asked the administration to outline the Korean war settlement it had in mind last March. If this is given them, President Truman presumably will provide it through the State Department.

At the end of nearly six hours in the witness chair yesterday, Marshall maintained anew that the administration's Far Eastern policy of trying to limit the war to Korea is the only sound one.

Near the end of the session Senator McMahon (D.-Conn.) asked Marshall:

"Are you prepared now to tell the people of the United States that it is the unanimous judgment of the top command of this government that our nation's security is best furthered and best protected by the policy we are pursuing in the Far East?"

Insists Policy Is Best

"Exactly that," Marshall replied tersely.

As the secretary has made clear all week, it was another way of saying he believes Mr. Truman was right in telling MacArthur last Jan 13:

"In reaching a final decision about Korea, I shall have to give constant thought to the main threat from the Soviet Union and to the need for rapid expansion of our armed forces to meet this great danger."

MacArthur, when he was before the joint committee last week, hammered away at his thesis that victory can't be won in Korea unless the allies bomb Red China's supply bases and the wraps are removed from the Chinese Nationalist forces based on Formosa.

MacArthur also called for a naval blockade of the China coast, and an intensified economic blockade—the only part of the heart of his program which has been put into effect.

Counts on Public

MacArthur let it be known, however, that he is encouraged to believe that a "realistic policy" on conduct of the Korean war may emerge under the pressure of public opinion and the Senate inquiry into his dismissal by Mr. Truman. The general's views were relayed to reporters in New York by his spokesman, Maj. Gen. Courtney B. Whitney.

Senator Knowland (R.-Calif.) touched off the call for an outline of the Korean war settlement terms the administration was considering last March.

At the inquiry, Knowland noted that on March 20 the joint chiefs of staff advised MacArthur that Mr. Truman was planning an announcement that the United Nations was prepared to discuss "conditions of settlement in Korea."

Four days later MacArthur made a public statement directed to the enemy commander-in-chief in the field. It said MacArthur was ready to work out a truce. The general added that "the enemy by now must be painfully aware that a decision of the United Nations to depart from its tolerant effort to contain the war to

Bill Is Signed to Aid Korea Vets at Hospitals

Washington, May 12 (AP)—President Truman yesterday signed into law a swiftly enacted bill giving veterans of the war in Korea—and others currently in the armed forces—the same medical benefits as veterans of declared wars.

Congress passed the bill Thursday afternoon, after a veterans hospital reported it had been unable to care for a man who had fought in Korea because there is no declaration of war covering hostilities there. The veteran had a non-service-connected illness. The old law provided for such care only to veterans of declared wars.

U. S. Troops Battle Foe Six Hours in Vain Trying to Break Up Big Bridgehead

May Attack Soon

Red Offensive Is Due Within Two Weeks, UN Officers Claim

Tokyo, May 12 (AP)—American troops battled in vain for six hours today to break up a Red bridgehead bulging out of a smoke-screened enemy buildup area in central Korea.

The bridgehead, three miles wide, is south of the Choyang river, east of Chunchon.

An estimated two Red battalions, firing mortars and automatic weapons, held the bridgehead against a stout attack by U. S. infantrymen with heavy air and artillery support.

The Americans broke contact in mid-afternoon.

Aggressive allied patrols traded shots with dug-in Reds elsewhere along the central and western fronts.

Chinese Communists covered their behind-the-front activities with a pall of smoke from fired timber and smudge pots.

United Nations officers said there were indications the Reds were building for a second spring offensive, expected within the next two weeks.

Locations Hint Next Blows

The locations of the Red-built fires hinted that the next enemy blows would come from points 20 miles northwest and 45 miles northeast of Seoul.

One wall of spreading smoke 36 miles long partly hid Communist troop movements in the mountainous country north of Chunchon. That town is 45 miles northeast of Seoul and eight miles south of Parallel 38. The smoke-screen extended from Kumhwa to Inje, north of the parallel.

It was below this buildup area that the Reds forged their Choyang river bridgehead.

United Nations pilots reported Red soldiers moving south toward Chunshon in pairs, 50 yards apart make make air attack more difficult. The troops were strung out for miles along the North Korea roads.

A front line dispatch said Reds also were reported massing in the Yanggu sector at the east end of the Hwachon reservoir.

U.N. artillery poured explosives into a Red buildup region northeast of Chunchon where an estimated Chinese division was reported.

Reds sent up another smoke pall near Hunsan, about 20 miles northwest of Seoul. There the Red concentration was 12 miles south of Parallel 38.

Other Red buildups have been observed between Munsan and Chunshon. They were near Pusyong and Kapyong, 15 to 32 miles northeast of Seoul.

A United Nations officer said air spotters Saturday saw no sign of the large enemy groups seen Friday north of Chunchon.

Same Situation Prevails

He pointed out, however, that

Mobilization Plan

Defense Burden Pictured as Lighter if U. S. Avoids War

New York, May 12 (AP)—A high mobilization official said today the national income "should approach" $310,000,000,000 for this year, $325,000,000,000 for 1952 and $345,000,000,000 for 1953.

On this basis, said A. E. Howse, assistant to Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson, "if we avoid all-out war, we can carry a defense burden and yet have enough resources left over to increase our basic industrial strength, and to provide a very good standard of living for our people."

Howse discussed the mobilization program in a speech prepared for the 25th annual convention here (Statler Hotel) of the New York State Society of Professional Engineers.

He estimated that by the end of 1953, "our total labor force should include 69 million, with two million unemployed, 3.5 million in the armed services, and 64 million in total civilian employment."

"Thus," Howse added, "we have the manpower to accomplish the job ahead, if we make the best use of our skills."

He estimated that "the maximum impact of the defense program will not be felt until the end of this year."

Wallace Denies Discussion With Chiang About Bringing Reds Into Government

South Salem, N. Y., May 12 (AP)—Former Vice President Henry Wallace denied last night he discussed bringing Communists into the Chinese Nationalist government during conversations he had with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek in 1944.

He took sharp issue with the agreement voiced yesterday in Washington by Secretary of Defense Marshall and Senator Knowland (R.-Calif.) that a 1949 United States "White Paper" (official document) on China indicated he had suggested Chinese Communists be taken into the Chiang (Nationalist) government "as early as 1944."

At Senate hearings on the ouster of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Knowland quoted from the "White Paper," released in 1949.

Wallace had been sent to China by President Roosevelt.

Knowland quoted the document as saying Wallace told Chiang that Mr. Roosevelt had indicated if the Nationalists and Communists couldn't get together they might call in a friend—and had indicated that he (Roosevelt) might be that friend.

In his statement issued here last night, Wallace said:

"Roosevelt was not interested in making over the Chinese government. What he was interested in was seeing the Chinese from all types of political faiths doing a good job of fighting the Japanese."

Wallace said no specific agreement of any kind was "indicated" by either the President or Wallace.

"The President was . . . interested in a strong . . . democratic China." Wallace said, "and . . . wanted all differences between China and Russia settled before the war came to an end."

Knowland said yesterday it appeared that "through the voice of Vice President Wallace" Chiang was being pressured to come to some agreement with Russia.

Wallace quoted a letter he said Mr. Roosevelt had written Chiang just after Wallace's four-day talk with the Nationalist chief. In the letter, Roosevelt said he welcomed the indication given him by Wallace of Chiang's desire "for improved relations between the U.S.S.R. and China."

"It occurs to me," the letter continued, "that any such conference (between China and Russia) would be greatly facilitated if a working arrangement had been reached beforehand between the Chinese government and the Chinese Communists."

Wallace said he then recommended to Mr. Roosevelt, at Chiang's suggestion, that "an American officer of the highest caliber" be sent to China as a personal representative between Chiang and the President. He mentioned Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer as a possible candidate.

Subsequently, Wedemeyer did go to China, as commanding general of the China theatre. Then in July, 1947, after having returned to this country, he was sent back by President Truman on a six-weeks' fact-finding study.

The result of that study became the long-secret "Wedemeyer report," portions of which were made public only 10 days ago, in connection with the Senate hearings.

Death Accidental

Prattsville Chauffeur Is Absolved of Blame by Coroner Kelly

Harry L. Marshall, 24, of Olive Bridge was fatally injured in an automobile-truck crash late last night on Route 28 near Glenford.

Troopers from the Lake Katrine barracks said the accident occurred at 11:30 p. m. Friday near the intersection of Route 28 and the Maverick road.

Steenburg Not Held

Steenburg was not reported injured, and he was not held following investigation of the crash. Coroner Ernest A. Kelly has given a verdict of accidental death in the case of Marshall. An autopsy was ordered performed in Kingston this morning by Drs. Herbert Derman and John R. Roberts to determine the extent of Marshall's injuries.

It is believed that Marshall was driving toward Kingston and the truck was driving in the opposite direction at the time of the accident, troopers said.

Marshall was pronounced dead on arrival at Kingston Hospital. He was taken there by a W. N. Conner ambulance.

Worked at Lackawack

Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Marshall of Olive Bridge, was born December 5, 1926. He was not married. According to his driver's license, Marshall had been employed as a clerk by the New York Board of Water Supply at its Lackawack project.

The remains were to be taken to the Lasher Funeral Home in Woodstock following the autopsy today. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

Swedish Engineer Has Way of Conducting Warmth From His Barn

Lund, Sweden, May 12 (AP)—How many cows does it take to heat a house? Eighteen Bossies keep one farmer's family cozy all winter—from a distance—at a state-sponsored model near this village in southern Sweden.

The cows give milk too.

They don't know it, but while they relax, their body heat is collected and piped 40 yards to the farmhouse while it keeps five rooms nice and warm.

Engineer Marten Blomquist started the experiment two and one half years ago for a Swedish state research committee for farmyard workers. He said it works fine.

Blomquist found that one cow produces between 17 and 20 pounds of steam and about 80,000 British thermal units (BTU) every 24 hours.

(A BTU is the quantity of heat required to raise the temperature of one pound of water and one degree Fahrenheit at or near its maximum point of density.)

A bunch of cows don't need all that heat to keep their barn comfortable, Blomquist reasoned. So he installed a combination air conditioning and heat pump device in the cow barn to borrow some BTU's for the farmhouse.

The engineer figures he saves about 50 per cent of the excess heat formerly wasted on cattle.

The temperatures in the barn and house, he said, can be maintained at a constant level by thermostatic control.

Pedestrian, Two Truckmen Treated at Local Hospital Friday

A local pedestrian and two truckmen were injured, not seriously, in two accidents here Friday afternoon and early evening, according to reports from the police and sheriff's office.

Willow Harrell, 53, of 86 Bruyn avenue was treated in Kingston Hospital's emergency room Friday evening for head injuries which police said he received when he was struck by a motor vehicle on Albany avenue.

Harrell was walking across Albany avenue near TenBroeck avenue about 6:20 p. m. when he was struck by a station wagon driven by Piero Piermattei of 312 West 56th street, New York, police said. The impact caused the left headlight of the vehicle to break.

Taken to the hospital by Conner's ambulance, Harrell went to his home after receiving treatment, hospital authorities said.

Patrolmen Thomas Tomshaw and Thomas McGrane investigated. No arrest was made.

Two Hurt in Truck

Two other men were treated at Kingston Hospital for cuts and bruises received when the truck in which they were riding struck a tree along Route 28 at the city line at 3:50 p. m. Friday.

Charles Ford of Pine Hill, listed by the sheriff's office as driver of the truck, was taken to the hospital by ambulance. John Hoeko of Fleischmanns, owner of the vehicle, was taken to the hospital in a sheriff's office car by Deputy Arthur Smith. Both were released following treatment.

Deputy Sheriff Carl Cline, who investigated with Deputy Smith, said the flat body truck, which had been traveling toward Kingston, spun completely around on the road after striking the tree. The tree is close to the highway in front of The Barn and near the entrance to the bridge and viaduct at the city line.

12 Cents Lopped From Chuck Pieces; 3% Off Stock

Washington, May 12 (AP)—The price control cleaver is lopping about 12 cents a pound off some chuck steaks and pot roasts, and five to six cents off rump roast.

The reductions, ordered last night by the Office of Price Stabilization, will show up in the dollars-and-cents ceiling prices on all beef which must be posted on meat counters Monday morning.

Although the new order was issued on the same day that the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported a three per cent drop in livestock prices during the week ended May 8, it had no apparent connection with this development.

Nor was there a connection with the projected general rollback which is scheduled to reduce all beef prices by about 10 cents a pound by next Oct. 1. The new order simply amends ceiling regulations to allow for "inequities" and to provide other adjustments in an order issued April 29.

This directed retail dealers to post controlled ceiling prices by May 14.

Order Outlined

Here is what the new order does:

It sets the same price for steaks and pot roasts of the varieties known as chuck arm and chuck blade, bone in.

Arm chucks were about 13 cents a pound higher than chuck blades in the original April 29 beef order. On Monday, the ceiling on arm chucks will drop 12 cents and the ceiling on chuck blades will go up one cent.

The reductions in the announced ceiling price on choice and good grade rump roast, bone in, will bring the butcher stop price down from 84 cents a pound to about 79 cents, OPS officials said. The price of choice and good boneless rump remains at $1.12 a pound.

The OPS postponed the effective date of retail kosher beef price ceilings from next Monday to May 21.

General Decline

Wholesale prices in general declined for the second week in a row during the week ended May 8, largely because of the 3.0 per cent drop in livestock prices. The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported yesterday an index of 182.9 per cent of the 1926 average was a decline of 0.3 per cent from the preceding week.

The index was 1.6 per cent above the level of Jan. 23. Just before the price freeze; 16.6 per cent above the May 24-June 25 (pre-Korea) average, and 17.7 above a year ago.

Plug Supply Hole

Frankfurt, Germany, May 12 (AP)—American and German authorities—determined to halt the flow of strategic German goods through the Iron Curtain—halted 4,000 tons of steel rails headed for Hungary yesterday. The action is believed to signal the opening of a drive to plug the German border leaks through which an estimated $1,000,000,000 worth of strategic goods have found their way into Communist countries since World War 2.

Weinberg Is Held For Contempt

University Professor Won't Talk on Accusation About A-Bomb

Washington, May 12 (AP)—The "Scientist X" accused by a House committee of slipping atomic secrets to Communists was arrested here yesterday on charges of contempt of the Federal District Court.

Slim, bespectacled Dr. Joseph W. Weinberg, a professor at the University of Minnesota, was held in $1,000 bail after he turned down a last chance to answer questions put to him by a federal grand jury.

At an open hearing of the District of Columbia Federal Court, Judge Alexander Holtzoff directed Weinberg to answer questions about where he lived in Berkeley, Calif., and some of his acquaintances while he was a physicist at the University of California laboratory in 1943. The questions involved, the judge said, had already been answered before the House committee.

Uses Constitution

Weinberg refused to answer, just as he has refused before the grand jury. Answers, he said, might tend to incriminate him. He claimed the protection of the constitutional guarantee that in criminal proceedings no witness need testify against himself.

The federal judge then ruled Weinberg in contempt. He set a hearing for Monday morning.

Myron Ehrlich, Weinberg's attorney, asked yesterday that Weinberg be released for appearance Monday without bail. To be held in bail, Ehrlich said, would mean loss of Weinberg's job at the University of Minnesota. The judge refused.

Last night a university spokesman said no action had been taken against Weinberg.

Lawyers Oppose Death Penalty

Philadelphia, May 12 (AP)—The Philadelphia Bar Association is opposed to capital punishment in Pennsylvania.

The association voted late yesterday to empower its committee on criminal justice to express its opposition to the death penalty before the state Legislature and before a special British royal commission.

Thomas D. McBride, prominent criminal attorney and chairman of the committee, led the drive for approval of the resolution.

He pointed out that since 1935 there have been 325 persons executed in this state—less than 10 per year.

A supporter rose and said: "With 100,000 persons a year dying in this state, we are wise indeed if we are wise enough to say that any 10 persons are more wicked than the others."

McBride said seven states already have abolished the death penalty: Kansas, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, Rhode Island and Wisconsin.

Britain and U. S. Iron Out Problem On China Terms

Washington, May 12 (AP)—The United States and Britain appear to have ironed out for the time being most of their differences over dealing with Red China, terms of the Japanese peace treaty and Formosa.

Responsible officials said yesterday's statement by Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison helped bring the two western powers closer together on these thorny issues than they have been since the Korean fighting started.

Combined with other recent developments, the British foreign policy explanations by Morrison and other government spokesmen were accepted by American diplomats as meaning:

1. Britain is ready now to go along with the American idea of tightening economic pressure against the Chinese Communists and other Soviet bloc countries.

The British government on Thursday announced an embargo on further shipments of rubber to Red China this year. Oil shipments have been barred since last July. Agreement is expected on a U.N. embargo on sales of arms.

No Delay Expected

2. The last major obstacles to agreement on Japanese treaty terms have been removed. American and British officials said differences remain over a proposal of the British Commonwealth nations to limit Japanese shipbuilding but they don't look for this to cause delay. Red China will not

WPIX Workers Return To TV Posts Today

New York, May 12 (AP)—A federal mediator announced early today that television Station WPIX and striking AFL technicians had agreed to submit their wage differences to arbitration.

The union, Local 1212, AFL Radio and Television Broadcast Engineers, said workers would return to their jobs today.

During the two-day strike, the station had canceled all "live" programs.

The union has sought a five per cent across-the-board wage increase. Present wages range from $73.25 to $147 weekly, a union official said.

WPIX is operated by WPIX, Inc., a corporation owned by the News Syndicate Company, Inc.

Inspectors Tell Police Two Men Try to Get Away in Chase Over Mail

New York, May 12 (AP)—Police today booked for homicide one of two men they said rode a rampaging jeep station wagon through a crowd of pedestrians Monday, killing one.

Arrested late yesterday, John J. Forkin, a 31 year old longshoreman was booked early today after an all-night questioning by Assistant District Attorney James Daley.

The station wagon, pursued by two postal inspectors, who said the occupants tried to pick up some packages at a mail box, raced through late Monday afternoon crowds striking four men and fatally injuring one. It finally crashed into a truck at 18th St., and its two occupants escaped.

Police said Forkin identified the driver of the car as Charles McCue. McCue's father, Frank J., 53, and McCue's common-law wife, Mrs. Grace Fox, 41, were arrested Tuesday and chaged with receiving stolen property.

Police said they recovered a total of $11,500 in stolen goods at the Bronx apartments of the elder McCue and Mrs. Fox and at a Second avenue apartment occupied by McCue.

Check Two Fires

Two fire calls were received within two minutes at fire headquarters here this morning. At 3:24 a. m. Ulster Hose Company was summoned through mutual aid to a house at Glenerie Lake Park, where an oil burner had set fire to itself but was out when firemen arrived. Two minutes later, Cornell station firemen and Engine 2 were dispatched to Chambers street near Stuyvesant street, where a short circuit caused a slight fire in a Central Hudson electric pole. Firemen stood by until a crew from the electric company arrived.

Republicans See Ike's Chances Fade For US Presidency

Say MacArthur Episode Detrimental to General at '52 Convention

Tulsa, Okla., May 12 (AP)—Some Republicans contended today the MacArthur episode has reduced the chances General Eisenhower will get the party's presidential nomination in Chicago next year.

The Windy City won the 1952 convention — on a compromise date of the week of July 7—by an 88 to 11 vote of the GOP national committee.

Senator Millikin of Colorado collapsed last night near the end of a speech broadcast nationally—supplying unscheduled drama to the Republican meeting which winds up today. He was revived quickly after slumping over a microphone.

An attending physician said Senator Millikin suffered a fainting spell brought on by nervous exhaustion, heat and humidity.

National committeemen generally said that the testimony of General MacArthur, Pacific commander fired by President Truman, had boosted general opposition to the administration in Washington.

Hard on Military

Some members said the long range effect of the testimony before Senate committees has been to undermine grass roots confidence in the ability of military leaders to maintain a professional viewpoint untouched by administration political policies.

Walter Hallanan, West Virginia committeeman, said MacArthur's statements have "put Eisenhower in eclipse" because Eisenhower is so closely linked with Defense Secretary Marshall and other military men serving the Truman administration.

Former Senator Harry Darby, now national committeeman from Eisenhower's home state of Kansas, said he thought the MacArthur incident had introduced doubt among the people as to the judgment of military leaders.

Marshall Insists Truman Policy on Far East Best for U.S.

Washington, May 12 (AP)—Secretary Marshall began today his sixth day of testimony at the Senate inquiry into the ouster of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Marshall arrived 10 minutes early, and there was not a senator in sight.

Four senators came in a little later and began the session. They were Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the joint Armed Services-Foreign Relations Committees, which are holding the hearings, and Senators Cain (R.-Wash.), Knowland (R.-Calif.), and George (D.-Ga.).

The committees have asked the administration to outline the Korean war settlement it had in mind last March. If this is given them, President Truman presumably will provide it through the State Department.

At the end of nearly six hours in the witness chair yesterday, Marshall maintained anew that the administration's Far Eastern policy of trying to limit the war to Korea is the only sound one.

Near the end of the session Senator McMahon (D.-Conn.) asked Marshall:

"Are you prepared now to tell the people of the United States that it is the unanimous judgment of the top command of this government that our nation's security is best furthered and best protected by the policy we are pursuing in the Far East?"

Insists Policy Is Best

"Exactly that," Marshall replied tersely.

As the secretary has made clear all week, it was another way of saying he believes Mr. Truman was right in telling MacArthur last Jan 13:

"In reaching a final decision about Korea, I shall have to give constant thought to the main threat from the Soviet Union and to the need for rapid expansion of our armed forces to meet this great danger."

MacArthur, when he was before the joint committee last week, hammered away at his thesis that victory can't be won in Korea unless the allies bomb Red China's supply bases and the wraps are removed from the Chinese Nationalist forces based on Formosa.

MacArthur also called for a naval blockade of the China coast, and an intensified economic blockade—the only part of the heart of his program which has been put into effect.

Counts on Public

MacArthur let it be known, however, that he is encouraged to believe that a "realistic policy" on conduct of the Korean war may emerge under the pressure of public opinion and the Senate inquiry into his dismissal by Mr. Truman. The general's views were relayed to reporters in New York by his spokesman, Maj. Gen. Courtney B. Whitney.

Senator Knowland (R.-Calif.) touched off the call for an outline of the Korean war settlement terms the administration was considering last March.

At the inquiry, Knowland noted that on March 20 the joint chiefs of staff advised MacArthur that Mr. Truman was planning an announcement that the United Nations was prepared to discuss "conditions of settlement in Korea."

Four days later MacArthur made a public statement directed to the enemy commander-in-chief in the field. It said MacArthur was ready to work out a truce. The general added that "the enemy by now must be painfully aware that a decision of the United Nations to depart from its tolerant effort to contain the war to

May Attack Soon

Red Offensive Is Due Within Two Weeks, UN Officers Claim

Tokyo, May 12 (AP)—American troops battled in vain for six hours today to break up a Red bridgehead bulging out of a smoke-screened enemy buildup area in central Korea.

The bridgehead, three miles wide, is south of the Choyang river, east of Chunchon.

An estimated two Red battalions, firing mortars and automatic weapons, held the bridgehead against a stout attack by U. S. infantrymen with heavy air and artillery support.

The Americans broke contact in mid-afternoon.

Aggressive allied patrols traded shots with dug-in Reds elsewhere along the central and western fronts.

Chinese Communists covered their behind-the-front activities with a pall of smoke from fired timber and smudge pots.

United Nations officers said there were indications the Reds were building for a second spring offensive, expected within the next two weeks.

Locations Hint Next Blows

The locations of the Red-built fires hinted that the next enemy blows would come from points 20 miles northwest and 45 miles northeast of Seoul.

One wall of spreading smoke 36 miles long partly hid Communist troop movements in the mountainous country north of Chunchon. That town is 45 miles northeast of Seoul and eight miles south of Parallel 38. The smoke-screen extended from Kumhwa to Inje, north of the parallel.

It was below this buildup area that the Reds forged their Choyang river bridgehead.

United Nations pilots reported Red soldiers moving south toward Chunshon in pairs, 50 yards apart make make air attack more difficult. The troops were strung out for miles along the North Korean roads.

A front line dispatch said Reds also were reported massing in the Yanggu sector at the east end of the Hwachon reservoir.

U.N. artillery poured explosives into a Red buildup region north-east of Chunchon where an estimated Chinese division was reported.

Reds sent up another smoke pall near Hunsan, about 20 miles northwest of Seoul. There the Red concentration was 12 miles south of Parallel 38.

Other Red buildups have been observed between Munsan and Chunshon. They were near Pu-yong and Kapyong, 15 to 32 miles northeast of Seoul.

A United Nations officer said air spotters Saturday saw no sign of the large enemy groups seen Friday north of Chunchon.

Same Situation Prevails

He pointed out, however, that

No Definite Information Given on Test of Bomb May 7th

By LEIF ERICKSON

Honolulu, May 12 (AP)—The United States has exploded another bomb at Eniwetok in the first atomic test emphasizing defense against the A-bomb.

Even the time of the closely-guarded "Operation Greenhouse" explosion was not definitely known. But presumably it took place Monday or Tuesday in the 200-square-mile proving grounds 2,000 miles west of here.

Its force was thrown against structures built at the Eniwetok proving ground to develop information of construction design and materials which best can withstand the A-bomb's destructive power.

Early speculation that the test might involve a hydrogen bomb was discounted. The hydrogen bomb experimentation was believed to be still in the early stages.

The first positive word on the latest test came from Rep. Henry M. Jackson (D.-Wash.). He said here that he had attended "a test" at Eniwetok.

A short time later, in Washington, a member of the Senate-House Atomic Committee, asking to remain anonymous, said "the test has been finished."

Commission Silent

This source said May 7 was the target date for the main and final test at Eniwetok. He said the results had not yet been evaluated and he had no immediate information on the exact nature of the test.

The Atomic Energy Commission said only that a "test program is

Bill Is Signed to Aid Korea Vets at Hospitals

Washington, May 12 (AP)—President Truman yesterday signed into law a swiftly enacted bill giving veterans of the war in Korea—and others currently in the armed forces—the same medical benefits as veterans of declared wars.

Congress passed the bill Thursday afternoon, after a veterans hospital reported it had been unable to care for a man who had fought in Korea because there is no declaration of war covering hostilities there. The veteran had a non-service-connected illness. The old law provided for such care only to veterans of declared wars.

Mobilization Plan

New York, May 12 (AP)—A high mobilization official said today the national income "should approach" $310,000,000,000 for this year, $325,000,000,000 for 1952 and $345,000,000,000 for 1953.

On this basis, said A. E. Howse, assistant to Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson, "if we avoid all-out war, we can carry a defense burden and yet have enough resources left over to increase our basic industrial strength, and to provide a very good standard of living for our people."

Howse discussed the mobilization program in a speech prepared for the 25th annual convention here (Statler Hotel) of the New York State Society of Professional Engineers.

He estimated that by the end of 1953, "our total labor force should include 69 million, with two million unemployed, 3.5 million in the armed services, and 64 million in total civilian employment."

"Thus," Howse added, "we have the manpower to accomplish the job ahead, if we make the best use of our skills."

He estimated that "the maximum impact of the defense program will not be felt until the end of this year."

Wallace Denies Discussion With Chiang About Bringing Reds Into Government

South Salem, N. Y., May 12 (AP)—Former Vice President Henry Wallace denied last night he discussed bringing Communists into the Chinese Nationalist government during conversations he had with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek in 1944.

He took sharp issue with the agreement voiced yesterday in Washington by Secretary of Defense Marshall and Senator Knowland (R.-Calif.) that a 1949 United States "White Paper" (official document) on China indicated he had suggested Chinese Communists be taken into the Chiang (Nationalist) government "as early as 1944."

At Senate hearings on the ouster of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Knowland quoted from the "White Paper," released in 1949.

Wallace had been sent to China by President Roosevelt.

Knowland quoted the document as saying Wallace told Chiang that Mr. Roosevelt had indicated if the Nationalists and Communists couldn't get together they might call in a friend—and had indicated that he (Roosevelt) might be that friend.

In his statement issued here last night, Wallace said:

"Roosevelt was not interested in making over the Chinese government. What he was interested in was seeing the Chinese from all types of political faiths doing a good job of fighting the Japanese."

Wallace said no specific agreement of any kind was "indicated" by either the President or Wallace.

"The President was . . . interested in a strong . . . democratic China." Wallace said, "and . . . wanted all differences between China and Russia settled before the war came to an end."

Knowland said yesterday it appeared that "through the voice of Vice President Wallace" Chiang was being pressured to come to some agreement with Russia.

Wallace quoted a letter he said Mr. Roosevelt had written Chiang just after Wallace's four-day talk with the Nationalist chief. In the letter, Roosevelt said he welcomed the indication given him by Wallace of Chiang's desire "for improved relations between the U.S.S.R. and China."

"It occurs to me," the letter continued, "that any such conference (between China and Russia) would be greatly facilitated if a working arrangement had been reached beforehand between the Chinese government and the Chinese Communists."

Wallace said he then recommended to Mr. Roosevelt, at Chiang's suggestion, that "an American officer of the highest caliber" be sent to China as a personal representative between Chiang and the President. He mentioned Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer as a possible candidate.

Subsequently, Wedemeyer did go to China, as commanding general of the China theatre. Then in July, 1947, after having returned to this country, he was sent back by President Truman on a six-weeks' fact-finding study.

The result of that study became the long-secret "Wedemeyer report," portions of which were made public only 10 days ago, in connection with the Senate hearings.

Olive Bridge Resident Is Killed in Glenford Crash Trying to Pass Big Truck

Death Accidental

Prattsville Chauffeur Is Absolved of Blame by Coroner Kelly

Harry L. Marshall, 24, of Olive Bridge was fatally injured in an automobile-truck crash late last night on Route 28 near Glenford.

Troopers from the Lake Katrine barracks said the accident occurred at 11:30 p. m. Friday near the intersection of Route 28 and the Maverick road.

The coupe owned and driven by Marshall was considerably damaged when it struck the left center and rear of a Carmen tractor-trailer driven by Elwood Steenburg, 44, of Prattsville, troopers said.

Steenburg Not Held

Steenburg was not reported injured, and he was not held following investigation of the crash. Coroner Ernest A. Kelly has given a verdict of accidental death in the case of Marshall. An autopsy was ordered performed in Kingston this morning by Drs. Herbert Derman and John R. Roberts to determine the extent of Marshall's injuries.

It is believed that Marshall was driving toward Kingston and the truck was driving in the opposite direction at the time of the accident, troopers said.

Marshall was pronounced dead on arrival at Kingston Hospital. He was taken there by a W. N. Conner ambulance.

Worked at Lackawack

Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Marshall of Olive Bridge, was born December 5, 1926. He was not married. According to his driver's license, Marshall had been employed as a clerk by the New York Board of Water Supply at its Lackawack project.

The remains were to be taken to the Lasher Funeral Home in Woodstock following the autopsy today. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

Cows Heat House

Swedish Engineer Has Way of Conducting Warmth From His Barn

Lund, Sweden, May 12 (AP)—How many cows does it take to heat a house? Eighteen Bossies keep one farmer's family cozy all winter—from a distance—at a state-sponsored model near this village in southern Sweden.

The cows give milk too.

They don't know it, but while they relax, their body heat is collected and piped 40 yards to the farmhouse while it keeps five rooms nice and warm.

Engineer Marten Blomquist started the experiment two and one half years ago for a Swedish state research committee for farmyard workers. He said it works fine.

Blomquist found that one cow produces between 17 and 20 pounds of steam and about 80,000 British thermal units (BTU) every 24 hours.

(A BTU is the quantity of heat required to raise the temperature of one pound of water and one degree Fahrenheit at or near its maximum point of density.)

A bunch of cows don't need all that heat to keep their barn comfortable, Blomquist reasoned. So he installed a combination air conditioning and heat pump device in the cow barn to borrow some BTU's for the farmhouse.

The engineer figures he saves about 50 per cent of the excess heat formerly wasted on cattle.

The temperatures in the barn and house, he said, can be maintained at a constant level by thermostatic control.

Three Are Injured In Auto Accidents

Pedestrian, Two Truckmen Treated at Local Hospital Friday

A local pedestrian and two truckmen were injured, not seriously, in two accidents here Friday afternoon and early evening, according to reports from the police and sheriff's office.

Willow Harrell, 53, of 86 Bruyn avenue was treated in Kingston Hospital's emergency room Friday evening for head injuries which police said he received when he was struck by a motor vehicle on Albany avenue.

Harrell was walking across Albany avenue near TenBroeck avenue about 6:20 p. m. when he was struck by a station wagon driven by Piero Piermattei of 312 West 56th street, New York, police said. The impact caused the left headlight of the vehicle to break.

Taken to the hospital by Conner's ambulance, Harrell went to his home after receiving treatment, hospital authorities said.

Patrolmen Thomas Tomshaw and Thomas McGrane investigated. No arrest was made.

Two Hurt in Truck

Two other men were treated at Kingston Hospital for cuts and bruises received when the truck in which they were riding struck a tree along Route 28 at the city line at 3:50 p. m. Friday.

Charles Ford of Pine Hill, listed by the sheriff's office as driver of the truck, was taken to the hospital by ambulance. John Hoeko of Fleischmanns, owner of the vehicle, was taken to the hospital in a sheriff's office car by Deputy Arthur Smith. Both were released following treatment.

Deputy Sheriff Carl Cline, who investigated with Deputy Smith, said the flat body truck, which had been traveling toward Kingston, spun completely around on the road after striking the tree. The tree is close to the highway in front of The Barn and near the entrance to the bridge and viaduct at the city line.

12 Cents Lopped From Chuck Pieces; 3% Off Stock

Washington, May 12 (AP)—The price control cleaver is lopping about 12 cents a pound off some chuck steaks and pot roasts, and five to six cents off rump roast.

The reductions, ordered last night by the Office of Price Stabilization, will show up in the dollars-and-cents ceiling prices on all beef which must be posted on meat counters Monday morning.

Although the new order was issued on the same day that the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported a three per cent drop in livestock prices during the week ended May 8, it had no apparent connection with this development.

Nor was there a connection with the projected general rollback which is scheduled to reduce all beef prices by about 10 cents a pound by next Oct. 1. The new order simply amends ceiling regulations to allow for "inequities" and to provide other adjustments in an order issued April 29.

This directed retail dealers to post controlled ceiling prices by May 14.

Order Outlined

Here is what the new order does:

It sets the same price for steaks and pot roasts of the varieties known as chuck arm and chuck blade, bone in.

Arm chucks were about 13 cents a pound higher than chuck blades in the original April 29 beef order. On Monday, the ceiling on arm chucks will drop 12 cents and the ceiling on chuck blades will go up one cent.

The reductions in the announced ceiling price on choice and good grade rump roast, bone in, will bring the butcher stop price down from 84 cents a pound to about 79 cents, OPS officials said. The price of choice and good boneless rump remains at $1.12 a pound.

The OPS postponed the effective date of retail kosher beef price ceilings from next Monday to May 21.

General Decline

Wholesale prices in general declined for the second week in a row during the week ended May 8, largely because of the 3.0 per cent drop in livestock prices. The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported yesterday an index of 182.9 per cent of the 1926 average was a decline of 0.3 per cent from the preceding week.

The index was 1.6 per cent above the level of Jan. 23, Just before the price freeze; 16.6 per cent above the May 24-June 25 (pre-Korea) average, and 17.7 above a year ago.

Frankfurt, Germany, May 12 (AP)—American and German authorities—determined to halt the flow of strategic German goods through the Iron Curtain—halted 4,000 tons of steel rails headed for Hungary yesterday. Weinberg Is Held For Contempt

University Professor Won't Talk on Accusation About A-Bomb

Washington, May 12 (AP)—The "Scientist X" accused by a House committee of slipping atomic secrets to Communists was arrested here yesterday on charges of contempt of the Federal District Court.

Slim, bespectacled Dr. Joseph W. Weinberg, a professor at the University of Minnesota, was held in $1,000 bail after he turned down a last chance to answer questions put to him by a federal grand jury.

At an open hearing of the District of Columbia Federal Court, Judge Alexander Holtzoff directed Weinberg to answer questions about where he lived in Berkeley, Calif., and some of his acquaintances while he was a physicist at the University of California laboratory in 1943. The questions involved, the judge said, had already been answered before the House committee.

Uses Constitution

Weinberg refused to answer, just as he has refused before the grand jury. Answers, he said, might tend to incriminate him. He claimed the protection of the constitutional guarantee that in criminal proceedings no witness need testify against himself.

The federal judge then ruled Weinberg in contempt. He set a hearing for Monday morning.

Myron Ehrlich, Weinberg's attorney, asked yesterday that Weinberg be released for appearance Monday without bail. To be held in bail, Ehrlich said, would mean loss of Weinberg's job at the University of Minnesota. The judge refused.

Last night a university spokesman said no action had been taken against Weinberg.

Lawyers Oppose Death Penalty

Philadelphia, May 12 (AP)—The Philadelphia Bar Association is opposed to capital punishment in Pennsylvania.

The association voted late yesterday to empower its committee on criminal justice to express its opposition to the death penalty before the state Legislature and before a special British royal commission.

Thomas D. McBride, prominent criminal attorney and chairman of the committee, led the drive for approval of the resolution.

He pointed out that since 1935 there have been 325 persons executed in this state—less than 10 per year.

A supporter rose and said: "With 100,000 persons a year dying in this state, we are wise indeed if we are wise enough to say that any 10 persons are more wicked than the others."

McBride said seven states already have abolished the death penalty: Kansas, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, Rhode Island and Wisconsin.

WPIX Workers Return To TV Posts Today

New York, May 12 (AP)—A federal mediator announced early today that television Station WPIX and striking AFL technicians had agreed to submit their wage differences to arbitration.

The union, Local 1212, AFL Radio and Television Broadcast Engineers, said workers would return to their jobs today.

During the two-day strike, the station had canceled all "live" programs.

The union has sought a five per cent across-the-board wage increase. Present wages range from $73.25 to $147 weekly, a union official said.

WPIX is operated by WPIX, Inc., a corporation owned by the News Syndicate Company, Inc.

Inspectors Tell Police Two Men Try to Get Away in Chase Over Mail

New York, May 12 (AP)—Police today booked for homicide one of two men they said rode a rampaging jeep station wagon through a crowd of pedestrians Monday, killing one.

Arrested late yesterday, John J. Forkin, a 31 year old longshoreman was booked early today after an all-night questioning by Assistant District Attorney James Daley.

The station wagon, pursued by two postal inspectors, who said the occupants tried to pick up some packages at a mail box, raced through late Monday afternoon crowds striking four men and fatally injuring one. It finally crashed into a truck at 18th St., and its two occupants escaped.

Police said Forkin identified the driver of the car as Charles McCue. McCue's father, Frank J., 53, and McCue's common-law wife, Mrs. Grace Fox, 41, were arrested Tuesday and chaged with receiving stolen property.

Police said they recovered a total of $11,500 in stolen goods at the Bronx apartments of the elder McCue and Mrs. Fox and at a Second avenue apartment occupied by McCue.

Check Two Fires

Two fire calls were received within two minutes at fire headquarters here this morning. At 3:24 a. m. Ulster Hose Company was summoned through mutual aid to a house at Glenerie Lake Park, where an oil burner had set fire to itself but was out when firemen arrived. Two minutes later, Cornell station firemen and Engine 2 were dispatched to Chambers street near Stuyvesant street, where a short circuit caused a slight fire in a Central Hudson electric pole. Firemen stood by until a crew from the electric company arrived.

Republicans See Ike's Chances Fade For US Presidency

Say MacArthur Episode Detrimental to General at '52 Convention

Tulsa, Okla., May 12 (AP)—Some Republicans contended today the MacArthur episode has reduced the chances General Eisenhower will get the party's presidential nomination in Chicago next year.

The Windy City won the 1952 convention — on a compromise date of the week of July 7—by an 88 to 11 vote of the GOP national committee.

Senator Millikin of Colorado collapsed last night near the end of a speech broadcast nationally—supplying unscheduled drama to the Republican meeting which winds up today. He was revived quickly after slumping over a microphone.

An attending physician said Senator Millikin suffered a fainting spell brought on by nervous exhaustion, heat and humidity.

National committeemen generally said that the testimony of General MacArthur, Pacific commander fired by President Truman, had boosted general opposition to the administration in Washington.

Hard on Military

Some members said the long range effect of the testimony before Senate committees has been to undermine grass roots confidence in the ability of military leaders to maintain a professional viewpoint untouched by administration political policies.

Walter Hallanan, West Virginia committeeman, said MacArthur's statements have "put Eisenhower in eclipse" because Eisenhower is so closely linked with Defense Secretary Marshall and other military men serving the Truman administration.

Former Senator Harry Darby, now national committeeman from Eisenhower's home state of Kansas, said he thought the MacArthur incident had introduced doubt among the people as to the judgment of military leaders.

Secrecy Surrounds Eniwetok Blast

No Definite Information Given on Test of Bomb May 7th

By LEIF ERICKSON

Honolulu, May 12 (AP)—The United States has exploded another bomb at Eniwetok in the first atomic test emphasizing defense against the A-bomb.

Even the time of the closely-guarded "Operation Greenhouse" explosion was not definitely known. But presumably it took place Monday or Tuesday in the 200-square-mile proving grounds 2,000 miles west of here.

Its force was thrown against structures built at the Eniwetok proving ground to develop information of construction design and materials which best can withstand the A-bomb's destructive power.

Early speculation that the test might involve a hydrogen bomb was discounted. The hydrogen bomb experimentation was believed to be still in the early stages.

The first positive word on the latest test came from Rep. Henry M. Jackson (D.-Wash.). He said here that he had attended "a test" at Eniwetok.

A short time later, in Washington, a member of the Senate-House Atomic Committee, asking to remain anonymous, said "the test has been finished."

Commission Silent

This source said May 7 was the target date for the main and final test at Eniwetok. He said the results had not yet been evaluated and he had no immediate information on the exact nature of the test.

The Atomic Energy Commission said only that a "test program is

Marshall Insists Truman Policy on Far East Best for U.S.

Washington, May 12 (AP)—Secretary Marshall began today his sixth day of testimony at the Senate inquiry into the ouster of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Marshall arrived 10 minutes early, and there was not a senator in sight.

Four senators came in a little later and began the session. They were Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the joint Armed Services-Foreign Relations Committees, which are holding the hearings, and Senators Cain (R.-Wash.), Knowland (R.-Calif.), and George (D.-Ga.).

The committees have asked the administration to outline the Korean war settlement it had in mind last March. If this is given them, President Truman presumably will provide it through the State Department.

At the end of nearly six hours in the witness chair yesterday, Marshall maintained anew that the administration's Far Eastern policy of trying to limit the war to Korea is the only sound one.

Near the end of the session Senator McMahon (D.-Conn.) asked Marshall:

"Are you prepared now to tell the people of the United States that it is the unanimous judgment of the top command of this government that our nation's security is best furthered and best protected by the policy we are pursuing in the Far East?"

Insists Policy Is Best

"Exactly that," Marshall replied tersely.

As the secretary has made clear all week, it was another way of saying he believes Mr. Truman was right in telling MacArthur last Jan 13:

"In reaching a final decision about Korea, I shall have to give constant thought to the main threat from the Soviet Union and to the need for rapid expansion of our armed forces to meet this great danger."

MacArthur, when he was before the joint committee last week, hammered away at his thesis that victory can't be won in Korea unless the allies bomb Red China's supply bases and the wraps are removed from the Chinese Nationalist forces based on Formosa.

MacArthur also called for a naval blockade of the China coast, and an intensified economic blockade—the only part of the heart of his program which has been put into effect.

Counts on Public

MacArthur let it be known, however, that he is encouraged to believe that a "realistic policy" on conduct of the Korean war may emerge under the pressure of public opinion and the Senate inquiry into his dismissal by Mr. Truman. The general's views were relayed to reporters in New York by his spokesman, Maj. Gen. Courtney B. Whitney.

Senator Knowland (R.-Calif.) touched off the call for an outline of the Korean war settlement terms the administration was considering last March.

At the inquiry, Knowland noted that on March 20 the joint chiefs of staff advised MacArthur that Mr. Truman was planning an announcement that the United Nations was prepared to discuss "conditions of settlement in Korea."

Four days later MacArthur made a public statement directed to the enemy commander-in-chief in the field. It said MacArthur was ready to work out a truce. The general added that "the enemy by now must be painfully aware that a decision of the United Nations to depart from its tolerant effort to contain the war to

Washington, May 12 (AP)—President Truman yesterday signed into law a swiftly enacted bill giving veterans of the war in Korea—and others currently in the armed forces—the same medical benefits as veterans of declared wars.

Congress passed the bill Thursday afternoon, after a veterans hospital reported it had been unable to care for a man who had fought in Korea because there is no declaration of war covering hostilities there. The veteran had a non-service-connected illness. The old law provided for such care only to veterans of declared wars.

U. S. Troops Battle Foe Six Hours in Vain Trying to Break Up Big Bridgehead

May Attack Soon

Red Offensive Is Due Within Two Weeks, UN Officers Claim

Tokyo, May 12 (AP)—American troops battled in vain for six hours today to break up a Red bridgehead bulging out of a smoke-screened enemy buildup area in central Korea.

The bridgehead, three miles wide, is south of the Choyang river, east of Chunchon.

An estimated two Red battalions, firing mortars and automatic weapons, held the bridgehead against a stout attack by U. S. infantrymen with heavy air and artillery support.

The Americans broke contact in mid-afternoon.

Aggressive allied patrols traded shots with dug-in Reds elsewhere along the central and western fronts.

Chinese Communists covered their behind-the-front activities with a pall of smoke from fired timber and smudge pots.

United Nations officers said there were indications the Reds were building for a second spring offensive, expected within the next two weeks.

Locations Hint Next Blows

The locations of the Red-built fires hinted that the next enemy blows would come from points 20 miles northwest and 45 miles northeast of Seoul.

One wall of spreading smoke 36 miles long partly hid Communist troop movements in the mountainous country north of Chunchon. That town is 45 miles northeast of Seoul and eight miles south of Parallel 38. The smoke-screen extended from Kumhwa to Inje, north of the parallel.

It was below this buildup area that the Reds forged their Choyang river bridgehead.

United Nations pilots reported Red soldiers moving south toward Chunshon in pairs, 50 yards apart make make air attack more difficult. The troops were strung out for miles along the North Korea roads.

A front line dispatch said Reds also were reported massing in the Yanggu sector at the east end of the Hwachon reservoir.

U.N. artillery poured explosive into a Red buildup region northeast of Chunchon where an estimated Chinese division was reported.

Reds sent up another smoke pall near Hunsan, about 20 miles northwest of Seoul. There the Red concentration was 12 miles south of Parallel 38.

Other Red buildups have been observed between Munsan and Chunshon. They were near Pusyong and Kapyong, 15 to 32 miles northeast of Seoul.

A United Nations officer said air spotters Saturday saw no sign of the large enemy groups seen Friday north of Chunchon.

Same Situation Prevails

He pointed out, however, that

Defense Burden Pictured as Lighter if U. S. Avoids War

New York, May 12 (AP)—A high mobilization official said today the national income "should approach" $310,000,000,000 for this year, $325,000,000,000 for 1952 and $345,000,000,000 for 1953.

On this basis, said A. E. Howse, assistant to Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson, "if we avoid all-out war, we can carry a defense burden and yet have enough resources left over to increase our basic industrial strength, and to provide a very good standard of living for our people."

Howse discussed the mobilization program in a speech prepared for the 25th annual convention here (Statler Hotel) of the New York State Society of Professional Engineers.

He estimated that by the end of 1953, "our total labor force should include 69 million, with two million unemployed, 3.5 million in the armed services, and 64 million in total civilian employment."

"Thus," Howse added, "we have the manpower to accomplish the job ahead, if we make the best use of our skills."

He estimated that "the maximum impact of the defense program will not be felt until the end of this year."

Wallace Denies Discussion With Chiang About Bringing Reds Into Government

South Salem, N. Y., May 12 (AP)—Former Vice President Henry Wallace denied last night he discussed bringing Communists into the Chinese Nationalist government during conversations he had with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek in 1944.

He took sharp issue with the agreement voiced yesterday in Washington by Secretary of Defense Marshall and Senator Knowland (R.-Calif.) that a 1949 United States "White Paper" (official document) on China indicated he had suggested Chinese Communists be taken into the Chiang (Nationalist) government "as early as 1944."

At Senate hearings on the ouster of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Knowland quoted from the "White Paper," released in 1949.

Wallace had been sent to China by President Roosevelt.

Knowland quoted the document as saying Wallace told Chiang that Mr. Roosevelt had indicated if the Nationalists and Communists couldn't get together they might call in a friend—and had indicated that he (Roosevelt) might be that friend.

In his statement issued here last night, Wallace said:

"Roosevelt was not interested in making over the Chinese government. What he was interested in was seeing the Chinese from all types of political faiths doing a good job of fighting the Japanese."

Wallace said no specific agreement of any kind was "indicated" by either the President or Wallace.

"The President was . . . interested in a strong . . . democratic China." Wallace said, "and . . . wanted all differences between China and Russia settled before the war came to an end."

Knowland said yesterday it appeared that "through the voice of Vice President Wallace" Chiang was being pressured to come to some agreement with Russia.

Wallace quoted a letter he said Mr. Roosevelt had written Chiang just after Wallace's four-day talk with the Nationalist chief. In the letter, Roosevelt said he welcomed the indication given him by Wallace of Chiang's desire "for improved relations between the U.S.S.R. and China."

"It occurs to me," the letter continued, "that any such conference (between China and Russia) would be greatly facilitated if a working arrangement had been reached beforehand between the Chinese government and the Chinese Communists."

Wallace said he then recommended to Mr. Roosevelt, at Chiang's suggestion, that "an American officer of the highest caliber" be sent to China as a personal representative between Chiang and the President. He mentioned Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer as a possible candidate.

Subsequently, Wedemeyer did go to China, as commanding general of the China theatre. Then in July, 1947, after having returned to this country, he was sent back by President Truman on a six-weeks' fact-finding study.

The result of that study became the long-secret "Wedemeyer report," portions of which were made public only 10 days ago, in connection with the Senate hearings.

Revised Manuscripts Of Old Bible Received

New York, May 12 (AP)—Publishers have received the first manuscripts of a Protestant Old Testament in 20th Century English.

The manuscripts were delivered yesterday after 14 years of labor by 31 outstanding Biblical scholars. The remaining manuscripts wil be delivered in time for publication of a new Bible in September, 1952.

The National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S.—claiming to represent 32,000,000 persons in 29 Protestant and Eastern Orthodox churches—authorized the work by the Standard Bible Committee.

Dr. Luther A. Weigle, deanemeritus of Yale Divinity School and head of the committee, said his group substituted modern language for old, obsolete expressions.

However, he added, the new Bible is not a revision of the American standard version of 1901 and the King James version of 1611.

The new Bible will contain the reworded Old Testament plus the new version of the New Testament, published in 1946.

Tree With 'Crucifixion' Tale Now in Bloom

The dogwood cornus Florida, official Virginia floral emblem, is one of the most picturesque flowering trees on the continent and is found from Canada to Florida. The old time monks named the dogwood "wood of the cross," and swallowed chips of it in water in which the wood had been steeped. They also wore fragments of it about their necks as a cure for all diseases.

Jesus nailed upon it said:

"Because of your regret and pity for my suffering, I make you this promise: never again shall the dogwood tree grow large enough to be used for a cross. Henceforth it shall be slender, bent and twisted, and its blossoms shall be in the form of a cross, two long and two short petals. In the center of the outer edges there will be a nail print, brown with rust, and stained with blood, and in the center of each flower there will be a crown of thorns so all who see it will remember it was upon a cross I was crucified. This tree shall not be mutilated nor destroyed, but cherished and protected as a reminder of my agony and death upon the cross."

Joyce Kilmer, in his immortal poem, "Trees" gave this lovely stanza:

"A tree that looks at God all day
And lifts her leafy arms to pray."

Probe Teacher's Refusal To Attend Mac's Parade

New York, May 12 (AP)—The Board of Education is investigating the refusal of a Manhattan high school teacher to accompany students to the MacArthur Day parade April 20.

Dr. Elias Lieberman, associate superintendent in charge of the junior high school division, said last night that he was gathering facts in the case. He refused to identify the teacher.

However, the New York Times and the Daily Mirror said today that he was Norman London, of Junior High School 52, in the Inwood section of Manhattan.

Reports say that the teacher, a World War 2 veteran, made a statement to school superintendent William Jansen saying the MacArthur parade was "a political demonstration for an individual whose policies would lead to precipitation of a general war."

The teacher, according to reports, said he had served in the Philippines under MacArthur and that "The G.I.s had no love for MacArthur.

"A teacher should not be coerced into taking part in an activity which violated his conscience and convictions," he was quoted as saying.

"The assignment of teachers to escort children to the parade was a safety precaution directed by the superintendent."

Revised Manuscripts Of Old Bible Received

New York, May 12 (AP)—Publishers have received the first manuscripts of a Protestant Old Testament in 20th Century English.

The manuscripts were delivered yesterday after 14 years of labor by 31 outstanding Biblical scholars. The remaining manuscripts wil be delivered in time for publication of a new Bible in September, 1952.

The National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S.—claiming to represent 32,000,000 persons in 29 Protestant and Eastern Orthodox churches—authorized the work by the Standard Bible Committee.

Dr. Luther A. Weigle, deanemeritus of Yale Divinity School and head of the committee, said his group substituted modern language for old, obsolete expressions.

However, he added, the new Bible is not a revision of the American standard version of 1901 and the King James version of 1611.

Tree With 'Crucifixion' Tale Now in Bloom

The dogwood cornus Florida, official Virginia floral emblem, is one of the most picturesque flowering trees on the continent and is found from Canada to Florida. The old time monks named the dogwood "wood of the cross," and swallowed chips of it in water in which the wood had been steeped. They also wore fragments of it about their necks as a cure for all diseases.

Jesus nailed upon it said:

"Because of your regret and pity for my suffering, I make you this promise: never again shall the dogwood tree grow large enough to be used for a cross. Henceforth it shall be slender, bent and twisted, and its blossoms shall be in the form of a cross, two long and two short petals. In the center of the outer edges there will be a nail print, brown with rust, and stained with blood, and in the center of each flower there will be a crown of thorns so all who see it will remember it was upon a cross I was crucified. This tree shall not be mutilated nor destroyed, but cherished and protected as a reminder of my agony and death upon the cross."

Joyce Kilmer, in his immortal poem, "Trees" gave this lovely stanza:

"A tree that looks at God all day
And lifts her leafy arms to pray."

Probe Teacher's Refusal To Attend Mac's Parade

New York, May 12 (AP)—The Board of Education is investigating the refusal of a Manhattan high school teacher to accompany students to the MacArthur Day parade April 20.

Dr. Elias Lieberman, associate superintendent in charge of the junior high school division, said last night that he was gathering facts in the case. He refused to identify the teacher.

However, the New York Times and the Daily Mirror said today that he was Norman London, of Junior High School 52, in the Inwood section of Manhattan.

Reports say that the teacher, a World War 2 veteran, made a statement to school superintendent William Jansen saying the MacArthur parade was "a political demonstration for an individual whose policies would lead to precipitation of a general war."

The teacher, according to reports, said he had served in the Philippines under MacArthur and that "The G.I.s had no love for MacArthur.

"A teacher should not be coerced into taking part in an activity which violated his conscience and convictions," he was quoted as saying.

"The assignment of teachers to escort children to the parade was a safety precaution directed by the superintendent."

Revised Manuscripts Of Old Bible Received

New York, May 12 (AP)—Publishers have received the first manuscripts of a Protestant Old Testament in 20th Century English.

The manuscripts were delivered yesterday after 14 years of labor by 31 outstanding Biblical scholars. The remaining manuscripts wil be delivered in time for publication of a new Bible in September, 1952.

The National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S.—claiming to represent 32,000,000 persons in 29 Protestant and Eastern Orthodox churches—authorized the work by the Standard Bible Committee.

Dr. Luther A. Weigle, deanemeritus of Yale Divinity School and head of the committee, said his group substituted modern language for old, obsolete expressions.

However, he added, the new Bible is not a revision of the American standard version of 1901 and the King James version of 1611.

The new Bible will contain the reworded Old Testament plus the new version of the New Testament, published in 1946.

Tree With 'Crucifixion' Tale Now in Bloom

The dogwood cornus Florida, official Virginia floral emblem, is one of the most picturesque flowering trees on the continent and is found from Canada to Florida. The old time monks named the dogwood "wood of the cross," and swallowed chips of it in water in which the wood had been steeped. They also wore fragments of it about their necks as a cure for all diseases.

Jesus nailed upon it said:

"Because of your regret and pity for my suffering, I make you this promise; never again shall the dogwood tree grow large enough to be used for a cross. Henceforth it shall be slender, bent and twisted, and its blossoms shall be in the form of a cross, two long and two short petals. In the center of the outer edges there will be a nail print, brown with rust, and stained with blood, and in the center of each flower there will be a crown of thorns so all who see it will remember it was upon a cross I was crucified. This tree shall not be mutilated nor destroyed, but cherished and protected as a reminder of my agony and death upon the cross."

Joyce Kilmer, in his immortal poem, "Trees" gave this lovely stanza:

"A tree that looks at God all day
And lifts her leafy arms to pray."

Sargent, 69 years old, had been pastor of the Sloatsburg and Tuxedo churches since 1944. Mrs. Sargent said her husband went to bed last night soon after he returned to the hotel from a night session of the convention and died almost immediately.

Dr. Edgar F. Powell, Dutchess county medical examiner, pronounced death due to natural causes.

Probe Teacher's Refusal To Attend Mac's Parade

New York, May 12 (AP)—The Board of Education is investigating the refusal of a Manhattan high school teacher to accompany students to the MacArthur Day parade April 20.

Dr. Elias Lieberman, associate superintendent in charge of the junior high school division, said last night that he was gathering facts in the case. He refused to identify the teacher.

However, the New York Times and the Daily Mirror said today that he was Norman London, of Junior High School 52, in the Inwood section of Manhattan.

Reports say that the teacher, a World War 2 veteran, made a statement to school superintendent William Jansen saying the MacArthur parade was "a political demonstration for an individual whose policies would lead to precipitation of a general war."

The teacher, according to reports, said he had served in the Philippines under MacArthur and that "The G.I.s had no love for MacArthur.

"A teacher should not be coerced into taking part in an activity which violated his conscience and convictions," he was quoted as saying.

Stalin Displeased

Taipeh, Foromsa, May 12 (AP)—The China Union Press today said Soviet Premier Stalin was irked by the leakage of military information from Red China, particularly concerning Russian activities on the mainland. The agency, which claims to get most of its news from underground sources, said Stalin asked Mao Tze-tung, Red Chinese leader, to take steps against further leakages for "Cominform security reasons."

He received his ribbon in a special ceremony April 27 at the Boston Naval Shipyard.

Lt. Read entered the naval service April 28, 1936. Before entering service, he was graduated from Kingston High School and Cornell University. He received subsequent post-graduate instruction at the U. S. Naval General Line School at Monterey, Calif.

Jacoby on Canasta

HERE'S PROPER WAY TO SCORE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

I have recently had several questions on the same point from readers in different parts of the country. Here is the most typical of these questions, from a reader in Wichita, Kansas:

"Our opponents had a mixed canasta made up of four queens and three deuces. They also had all four red threes. We went out, catching them with unmelded cards that totalled 150 points.

"First they wanted to offset their unmelded cards by throwing away their canasta. However, the cards in the canasta counted to only 100 points. Therefore they had to use a red three. They then decided to keep the canasta and use two of the red threes.

"Were they entitled to do this? What should their score be for the hand?"

It is the custom for players to use their melded cards to balance the loss of their unmelded cards. This is not legally necessary; it is just done to make the counting easier.

When you do use the cards in a canasta for this purpose, you do not lose the canasta bonus. If you break up four red threes, you still get the full bonus of 800 points for the red threes.

Let us count up the hand in question and see what the correct score is.

The opponents of my correspondent were entitled to 800 points for the red threes and to 300 points for their canasta. They should have written 1100 points down on their scorepad as the first part of their score on that hand.

Only after writing down that bonus score should they count melded or unmelded cards. Remember that if this point puzzles you: Count your base score first before even looking at the points for melded cards or for the cards still in your hand.

Those opponents should next total their unmelded cards (150 points) and compare it with the 100 points for the unmelded four queens and three deuces. The net total is minus 50 points. Hence they write down minus 50 points as the second part of their score on that hand.

Their full score for the hand would be 1050 points. That is the net value of plus 1100 and minus 50 points.

In any card game it's wise to know just what you can get away with. Plenty of Canasta games have been lost because players didn't know their rules. You'll know all the angles if you pick up a copy of the new 1951 INTERNATIONAL LAWS OF CANASTA by Jacoby. Send 15 cents in coin to Oswald Jacoby, Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Built for His Job

Yard Fireplace Easy to Construct

A backyard fireplace to add enjoyment to summer living is easy and inexpensive to build. Fire brick laid in clay mortar is best. Other materials needed to build a 36-inch cubical fireplace are 10 inches of ½-inch pipe 36 inches long, one length of 8-inch x 8-inch flue lining tile, a metal grill two feet square and a 32-inch length of heavy angle iron.

Make the foundation 36 inches square, extend it below the frost line and slope the top slightly toward the front for drainage. On this erect rear and side walls 8 inches thick. This leaves an open-front 20-inch x 28-inch firebox.

Build the three walls up to 14 inches, then place the pipe lengths across the top course of brick three inches apart to serve as a grate. Space below provides draft and an ash-pit. Mount the pipe ends solidly in thick mortar, then continue the walls up another 22 inches, leaving a space slightly less than 8 inches x 8 inches at the rear center of the firebox for the flue. Set the grill in mortar for the cooking surface which will be at the comfortable height of 36 inches above ground.

Lay one more course of brick on the three walls and place the angle iron across the rear of the firebox where it joins the chimney opening. The iron is to support the front edge of the flue, the other three sides resting on the brickwork. Lay up brick around the tile to within 2 inches of its top and complete the fireplace with a sloping mortar joint from the top of the tile to the outer edges of the chimney bricks.

Baseboard Heating Winning Acceptance

A study of the effects of radiator shape and size on heat distribution in rooms made at the University of Illinois 23 years ago is responsible for the development of modern baseboard heating units, according to an article "Baseboard Heating Hits Its Stride," in a recent issue of the National Real Estate and Building Journal. Author of the article is Norman J. Radder, secretary of the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

Mr. Radder points out that the research work at the University of Illinois many years ago had two effects.

The immediate effect was to swing radiator production away from high radiators and into low models which would fit under windows. This was due to the fact that the study disclosed the advantages of a source of heat at the floor level.

The long-range effect was the stimulation of the development of baseboard heating. Today several manufacturers are producing baseboard heating units in quantity. They have found consumer acceptance of this clean, effective, and space-saving method of heating at the floor level.

New Glass Paneling Enters the Home

An opaque structural glass paneling, long a favorite for modern store, theatre and building fronts, is making its entry into the home.

This glass paneling is becoming increasingly popular for walls and wainscoting in kitchens and bathrooms. Besides being ultra-modern in appearance, the material is said to have unusual resistance to wear. Available in a rich variety of plain and agate colors, it has a higher luster.

Among the advantages this type of wall material claims are that it will not warp, swell or craze. It is non-absorbent and resistant to staining and to cigarette burns. Applications of soap and water are said to keep it clean.

Painting in Hot Sun Should Be Avoided

Painting in the direct rays of the hot sun should be avoided for the good of the paint job as well as the comfort of the painter. Work on the outside of the house can be laid out so that the painter follows the movement of the sun.

If the house faces east the painter should start as early in the morning as possible on the west side, doing the east at a later hour. Early afternoon is the best time for working on the north side while the south side should be done late in the afternoon.

Paint, of course, should never be applied to surfaces where night air has condensed and left a temporary film of moisture.

Freezers Improved

For those who prefer them, there will be home freezers that can be reached into, states Practical Builder, Chicago. New stand-up models have several divided sections with individual doors that drop down so they can be used as shelves while open.

Fire Resistant Fabrics

Fabrics can be made resistant by dipping them in a solution made with one pound of borax and 13 ounces of boric acid dissolved in two gallons of lukewarm water. The treatment will have to be repeated each time the fabric is washed.

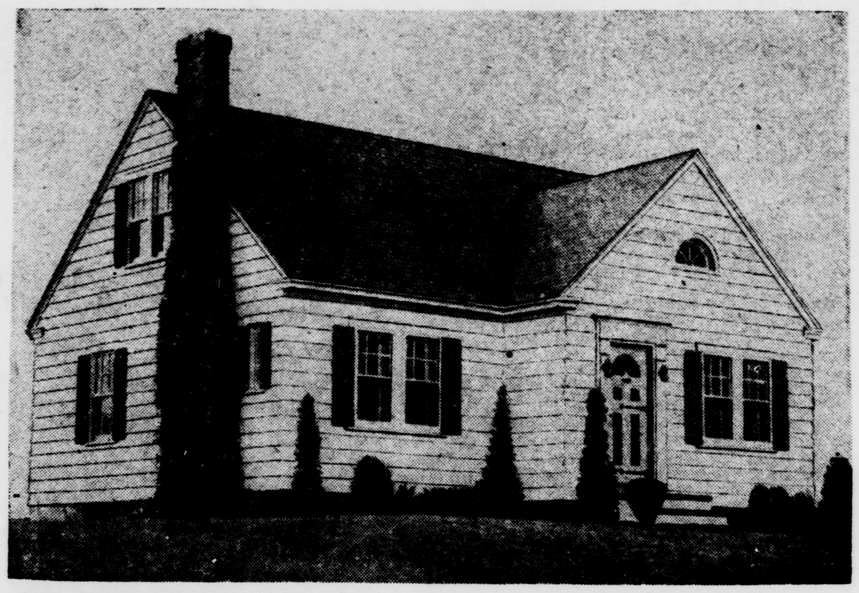
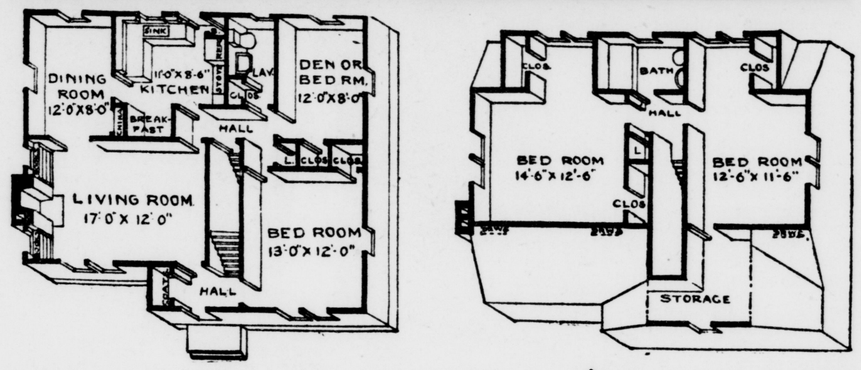
THE RHINEBECK





A Well-Planned, Seven Room House With Ample Closet Space

Rooms	Seven
Bedrooms	Four
Closets	Ten
Cubage	18,500
Dimensions	33' x 24'

In addition to a spacious living room, with a large fireplace and built-in book shelves, "The Rhinebeck" contains a dining room with a built-in china closet, a combination kitchen and breakfast nook, two first floor bedrooms and two upstairs bedrooms, complete with built-in drawers.

Shed Dormer

A shed dormer across the back of the house makes "The Rhinebeck" seem larger than it actually is; it also makes possible the double windows in the rear walls of the upstairs bedrooms and a full window in the bathroom.

Entering through the front door, you find yourself in a good sized entrance hall with stairs to the second floor in the opposite wall. The door to the living room is placed just to the left of the stairway. There is a large coat closet in the left wall of the entry hall, while directly across the hall from this closet is the doorway to the front bedroom.

Measuring 17' x 12', the living room is well lighted by double windows in the front wall and the small casement windows flanking the fireplace in the side wall. A door in the right corner of the back living room wall opens into the central hallway connecting with the kitchen, lavette, cellar stairs and two bedrooms. There is ample wall space in the living room for the attractive arrangement of large furniture pieces.

There is a large china closet built into a corner of the 12' x 8' dining room. Two windows provide ample light and good cross ventilation in this room. A swinging door connects the dining room with the kitchen.

The compact dining alcove and kitchen measures 11' x 8'6" and is located on the right, between the swinging door and the door to the hall.

Shaped Work Counter

An L-shaped counter, complete with overhead cupboards, extends from the swinging door to the back door. Beneath the window in the back wall is an excellent location for the sink.

There is a small work counter, with drawers underneath it, in the right front corner of the kitchen. Next to this counter would make an excellent place to connect the stove, while the refrigerator should be placed beside the refrigerator to save the housewive's steps when she's preparing meals. A broom closet is conveniently located in this side wall, next to the back door.

The other door in the kitchen opens into the hall, directly opposite the living room door. Continuing further down the L-shaped hall, you find the cellar stairs on the right and the lavette on the left. At the end of the hall is the back bedroom which can be converted into a den if you so desire. Containing two windows, the room measures 12' x 8' and has a closet in the center of the front wall.

At the turn of the hall is the linen closet which is located conveniently near to both bedrooms and the lavette.

With double windows on the front wall and a single window on the side the front bedroom receives good light and cross ventilation. A closet is placed in the corner of the back wall of this room which is 13' x 12'. The room has ample wall space for the arrangement of large furniture pieces.

On the second floor is a small hall leading to a bedroom at either end. The bathroom is placed opposite the stairs, a linen closet in between the stairs and the door to the master bedroom at the left.

The large master bedroom, 14'6" x 12'6", boasts two huge closets, one on the back outside wall and the other on the front inside wall. This room has two sets of built-in drawers while double windows in the back and side wall provide ample light and ventilation.

Measuring 12'6" x 11'6" the second bedroom has a single closet on the back outside wall, a set of built-in drawers on the front wall and, like the master bedroom, double windows on the back and side walls.

Measuring only 33' x 24', the house has a cubic footage of 18,500 feet. A 50' minimum lot would be required.

Because complete living facilities are provided on the first floor of "The Rhinebeck," it won't be necessary to finish the second floor until you want this extra space. If you plan to use only the first floor, at first you can have the closet in the lavette converted into a shower stall.

Plans Available

Complete plans and specifications for "The Rhinebeck," or any other home in this series, can be obtained at moderate cost. To ascertain the exact price of these documents, write to the Home Building Editor, The Kingston Daily Freeman, and enclose a self-addressed envelope bearing a three cent stamp. At least one week should be allowed for a reply.

Safeguard Your Home Against Cold Floors

Cold floors are an especially serious problem in homes with young children who constantly make the floors their indoor playground. Some of the new heating devices have largely overcome this problem. In convector heating, for example, cold floor-line air is drawn into the convector, heated and then delivered into the room in a huge arc that heats the entire room gently instead of by sharp, uncomfortable heat waves.

Especially important in homes with babies or young children is that temperatures at the convector and in the most distant corner of the room are practically the same. Children can play comfortably on the floor, yet the balance of the room will not be overheated.

Older Person's Room Needs Bright Colors

Bright, cheerful rooms for older members of the family do wonders to build morale, as for other age brackets. When redecorating a room for an elderly person, follow the modern trend of plenty of color in draperies, walls and floor, preferably using warm tones. Consult the occupant as to his or her color tastes and preferences.

Admit maximum light into the room by hanging draperies against the wall beside the window casings instead of over the glass itself. Modern glare-free brilliant lighting will ease the eye strain.

Equip the room with a portable electric heater for those days when the heating plant is not operating or when additional warmth is wanted.

Clean Furnace Blower in Spring

Owners of forced warm air heating systems should make certain that the furnace blower is inspected and cleaned each spring, advises experts. Like every operating machanism, the blower requires attention annually in order to help retard wear and maintain peak performance.

The following blower maintenance suggestions are given: Clean and oil the blower and its motor. Examine the condition of the belt drive of the blower and if it shows signs of excessive wear, replace it. Make certain that the belt tension is properly adjusted to eliminate slippage. Check and set collars on the blower shaft to see that there is no end play in this shaft. Clean the blower cabinet thoroughly, preferably with a vacuum cleaner.

Filters should not be overlooked when the blower cabinet is cleaned. Dust-clogged filters should be replaced with clean new filters. When replacing the filters make certain that they fit snugly so that there will be no appreciable air leakage around the filter edges.

Invisible Balances Made for Windows

Home ownes who dislike visible sash-balance mechanism in their windows may install spring sash balances which are invisible in that the entire unit fits into a grooved side stile and moves with the sash.

The only exposed part of the spring-balance device is approximately one inch of the brass bearing arm when the window is closed. Mechanism of balance is an oil-tempered spring completely enclosed in a spiraled tube operating with a brass bearing arm on the worm gear principle.

Gardner Can Build His Own Greenhouse

Home gardening enthusiasts who fidget all winter for lack of things to grow are being offered free plans for a plastic greenhouse they can build themselves.

Cost of the materials for the lean-to greenhouse, which is nine feet wide, seven feet high and five feet deep, is estimated to be $50 to $60. This does not include the foundation, which may be made of cinder block or concrete. A dirt floor is fine, but you can add a fancy concrete floor if you like.

By way of comparison, a glass greenhouse of the same size would cost several hundred dollars.

There will be no charge for the plans, which are soon to be distributed by hardware stores.

The greenhouse is built of a simple wood frame covered with plastic sheeting that has been reinforced with wire mesh. The plastic is tacked to the frame and the joints made waterproof with ordinary mastic. The roof is in two sections which can be raised or closed, and doors may be built in either end.

Dry-Built Construction Cuts Building Period

Elimination of interior decoration problems, including plastering and papering is assured if your home is finished with an all-wood interior.

Constructing the home entirely of lumber does away with delays due to plaster drying (as well as the mess that goes with any plastering operations) and avoids the introduction of a considerable quantity of water involved in the plastering of any wall. It also expedites completion of the structure and reduces wall cracks.

Maintenance thereafter is no problem, either, with wood paneled walls. Traditional knotty pine or clear pine finished in a light modern treatment is easy to keep clean and doesn't require reducing every year or two.

Deep Dipping Into Paint

Brushes shoud not be dipped too deeply into paint—just far enough so that, after tapping or "wiping" lightly against the inner side of the container, they will carry the paint to the job without dripping. Dipping too deep not only wastes paint, but soon makes a brush "lousy" by causing a collection of hardened paint to accumulate at the "heel" of the brush. The "heel" is the part nearest the ferrule.

Written for NEA Service

I have recently had several questions on the same point from readers in different parts of the country. Here is the most typical of these questions, from a reader in Wichita, Kansas:

"Our opponents had a mixed canasta made up of four queens and three deuces. They also had all four red threes. We went out, catching them with unmelded cards that totalled 150 points.

"First they wanted to offset their unmelded cards by throwing away their canasta. However, the cards in the canasta counted to only 100 points. Therefore they had to use a red three. They then decided to keep the canasta and use two of the red threes.

"Were they entitled to do this? What should their score be for the hand?"

It is the custom for players to use their melded cards to balance the loss of their unmelded cards. This is not legally necessary; it is just done to make the counting easier.

When you do use the cards in a canasta for this purpose, you do not lose the canasta bonus. If you break up four red threes, you still get the full bonus of 800 points for the red threes.

Let us count up the hand in question and see what the correct score is.

The opponents of my correspondent were entitled to 800 points for the red threes and to 300 points for their canasta. They should have written 1100 points down on their scorepad as the first part of their score on that hand.

Only after writing down that bonus score should they count melded or unmelded cards. Remember that if this point puzzles you: Count your base score first before even looking at the points for melded cards or for the cards still in your hand.

Those opponents should next total their unmelded cards (150 points) and compare it with the 100 points for the unmelded four queens and three deuces. The net total is minus 50 points. Hence they write down minus 50 points as the second part of their score on that hand.

Their full score for the hand would be 1050 points. That is the net value of plus 1100 and minus 50 points.

In any card game it's wise to know just what you can get away with. Plenty of Canasta games have been lost because players didn't know their rules. You'll know all the angles if you pick up a copy of the new 1951 INTERNATIONAL LAWS OF CANASTA by Jacoby. Send 15 cents in coin to Oswald Jacoby, Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Yard Fireplace Easy to Construct

A backyard fireplace to add enjoyment to summer living is easy and inexpensive to build. Fire brick laid in clay mortar is best. Other materials needed to build a 36-inch cubical fireplace are 10 inches of ½-inch pipe 36 inches long, one length of 8-inch x 8-inch flue lining tile, a metal grill two feet square and a 32-inch length of heavy angle iron.

Make the foundation 36 inches square, extend it below the frost line and slope the top slightly toward the front for drainage. On this erect rear and side walls 8 inches thick. This leaves an open-front 20-inch x 28-inch firebox.

Build the three walls up to 14 inches, then place the pipe lengths across the top course of brick three inches apart to serve as a grate. Space below provides draft and an ash-pit. Mount the pipe ends solidly in thick mortar, then continue the walls up another 22 inches, leaving a space slightly less than 8 inches x 8 inches at the rear center of the firebox for the flue. Set the grill in mortar for the cooking surface which will be at the comfortable height of 36 inches above ground.

Lay one more course of brick on the three walls and place the angle iron across the rear of the firebox where it joins the chimney opening. The iron is to support the front edge of the flue, the other three sides resting on the brickwork. Lay up brick around the tile to within 2 inches of its top and complete the fireplace with a sloping mortar joint from the top of the tile to the outer edges of the chimney bricks.

Baseboard Heating Winning Acceptance

A study of the effects of radiator shape and size on heat distribution in rooms made at the University of Illinois 23 years ago is responsible for the development of modern baseboard heating units, according to an article "Baseboard Heating Hits Its Stride," in a recent issue of the National Real Estate and Building Journal. Author of the article is Norman J. Radder, secretary of the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

Mr. Radder points out that the research work at the University of Illinois many years ago had two effects.

The immediate effect was to swing radiator production away from high radiators and into low models which would fit under windows. This was due to the fact that the study disclosed the advantages of a source of heat at the floor level.

The long-range effect was the stimulation of the development of baseboard heating. Today several manufacturers are producing baseboard heating units in quantity. They have found consumer acceptance of this clean, effective, and space-saving method of heating at the floor level.

New Glass Paneling Enters the Home

An opaque structural glass paneling, long a favorite for modern store, theatre and building fronts, is making its entry into the home.

This glass paneling is becoming increasingly popular for walls and wainscoting in kitchens and bathrooms. Besides being ultra-modern in appearance, the material is said to have unusual resistance to wear. Available in a rich variety of plain and agate colors, it has a higher luster.

Among the advantages this type of wall material claims are that it will not warp, swell or craze. It is non-absorbent and resistant to staining and to cigarette burns. Applications of soap and water are said to keep it clean.

Painting in Hot Sun Should Be Avoided

Painting in the direct rays of the hot sun should be avoided for the good of the paint job as well as the comfort of the painter. Work on the outside of the house can be laid out so that the painter follows the movement of the sun.

If the house faces east the painter should start as early in the morning as possible on the west side, doing the east at a later hour. Early afternoon is the best time for working on the north side while the south side should be done late in the afternoon.

Paint, of course, should never be applied to surfaces where night air has condensed and left a temporary film of moisture.

Freezers Improved

For those who prefer them, there will be home freezers that can be reached into, states Practical Builder, Chicago. New stand-up models have several divided sections with individual doors that drop down so they can be used as shelves while open.

Fire Resistant Fabrics

Fabrics can be made resistant by dipping them in a solution made with one pound of borax and 13 ounces of boric acid dissolved in two gallons of lukewarm water. The treatment will have to be repeated each time the fabric is washed.

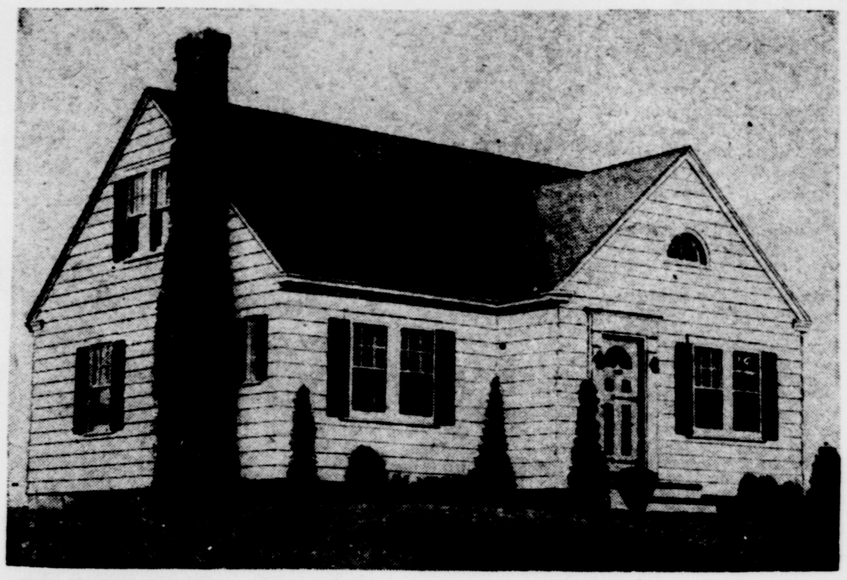
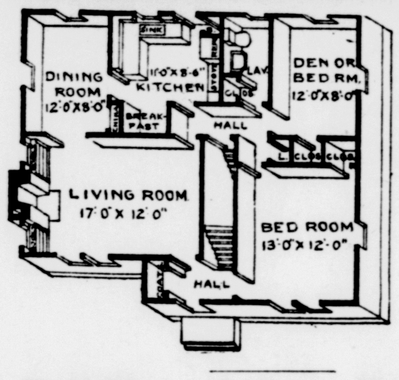
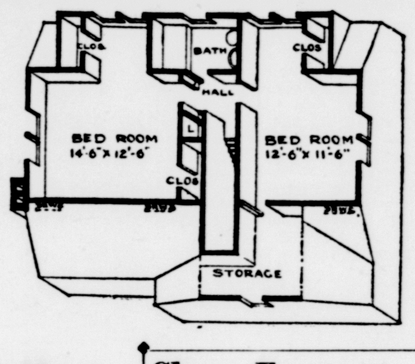
THE RHINEBECK







A Well-Planned, Seven Room House With Ample Closet Space

Bedrooms	Four
Closets	Ten
Cubage	18,500
Dimensions	33' x 24'

In addition to a spacious living room, with a large fireplace and built-in book shelves, "The Rhinebeck" contains a dining room with a built-in china closet, a combination kitchen and breakfast nook, two first floor bedrooms and two upstairs bedrooms, complete with built-in drawers.

Shed Dormer

A shed dormer across the back of the house makes "The Rhinebeck" seem larger than it actually is; it also makes possible the double windows in the rear walls of the upstairs bedrooms and a full window in the bathroom.

Entering through the front door, you find yourself in a good sized entrance hall with stairs to the second floor in the opposite wall. The door to the living room is placed just to the left of the stairway. There is a large coat closet in the left wall of the entry hall, while directly across the hall from this closet is the doorway to the front bedroom.

Measuring 17' x 12', the living room is well lighted by double windows in the front wall and the small casement windows flanking the fireplace in the side wall. A door in the right corner of the back living room wall opens into the central hallway connecting with the kitchen, lavette, cellar stairs and two bedrooms. There is ample wall space in the living room for the attractive arrangement of large furniture pieces.

There is a large china closet built into a corner of the 12' x 8' dining room. Two windows provide ample light and good cross ventilation in this room. A swinging door connects the dining room with the kitchen.

The compact dining alcove and kitchen measures 11' x 8'6" and is located on the right, between the swinging door and the door to the hall.

Shaped Work Counter

An L-shaped counter, complete with overhead cupboards, extends from the swinging door to the back door. Beneath the window in the back wall is an excellent location for the sink.

There is a small work counter, with drawers underneath it, in the right front corner of the kitchen. Next to this counter would make an excellent place to connect the stove, while the refrigerator should be placed beside the refrigerator to save the housewive's steps when she's preparing meals. A broom closet is conveniently located in this side wall, next to the back door.

The other door in the kitchen opens into the hall, directly opposite the living room door. Continuing further down the L-shaped hall, you find the cellar stairs on the right and the lavette on the left. At the end of the hall is the back bedroom which can be converted into a den if you so desire. Containing two windows, the room measures 12' x 8' and has a closet in the center of the front wall.

At the turn of the hall is the linen closet which is located conveniently near to both bedrooms and the lavette.

With double windows on the front wall and a single window on the side the front bedroom receives good light and cross ventilation. A closet is placed in the corner of the back wall of this room which is 13' x 12'. The room has ample wall space for the arrangement of large furniture pieces.

On the second floor is a small hall leading to a bedroom at either end. The bathroom is placed opposite the stairs, a linen closet in between the stairs and the door to the master bedroom at the left.

The large master bedroom, 14'6" x 12'6", boasts two huge closets, one on the back outside wall and the other on the front inside wall. This room has two sets of built-in drawers while double windows in the back and side wall provide ample light and ventilation.

Measuring 12'6" x 11'6" the second bedroom has a single closet on the back outside wall, a set of built-in drawers on the front wall and, like the master bedroom, double windows on the back and side walls.

Measuring only 33' x 24', the house has a cubic footage of 18,500 feet. A 50' minimum lot would be required.

Because complete living facilities are provided on the first floor of "The Rhinebeck," it won't be necessary to finish the second floor until you want this extra space. If you plan to use only the first floor, at first you can have the closet in the lavette converted into a shower stall.

Plans Available

Complete plans and specifications for "The Rhinebeck," or any other home in this series, can be obtained at moderate cost. To ascertain the exact price of these documents, write to the Home Building Editor, The Kingston Daily Freeman, and enclose a self-addressed envelope bearing a three cent stamp. At least one week should be allowed for a reply.

Safeguard Your Home Against Cold Floors

Cold floors are an especially serious problem in homes with young children who constantly make the floors their indoor playground. Some of the new heating devices have largely overcome this problem. In convector heating, for example, cold floor-line air is drawn into the convector, heated and then delivered into the room in a huge arc that heats the entire room gently instead of by sharp, uncomfortable heat waves.

Especially important in homes with babies or young children is that temperatures at the convector and in the most distant corner of the room are practically the same. Children can play comfortably on the floor, yet the balance of the room will not be overheated.

Older Person's Room Needs Bright Colors

Bright, cheerful rooms for older members of the family do wonders to build morale, as for other age brackets. When redecorating a room for an elderly person, follow the modern trend of plenty of color in draperies, walls and floor, preferably using warm tones. Consult the occupant as to his or her color tastes and preferences.

Admit maximum light into the room by hanging draperies against the wall beside the window casings instead of over the glass itself. Modern glare-free brilliant lighting will ease the eye strain.

Equip the room with a portable electric heater for those days when the heating plant is not operating or when additional warmth is wanted.

A new era in machine-made lace fabrics was marked by the invention of the Jacquard loom in 1801.

Clean Furnace Blower in Spring

Owners of forced warm air heating systems should make certain that the furnace blower is inspected and cleaned each spring, advises experts. Like every operating machanism, the blower requires attention annually in order to help retard wear and maintain peak performance.

The following blower maintenance suggestions are given: Clean and oil the blower and its motor. Examine the condition of the belt drive of the blower and if it shows signs of excessive wear, replace it. Make certain that the belt tension is properly adjusted to eliminate slippage. Check and set collars on the blower shaft to see that there is no end play in this shaft. Clean the blower cabinet thoroughly, preferably with a vacuum cleaner.

Filters should not be overlooked when the blower cabinet is cleaned. Dust-clogged filters should be replaced with clean new filters. When replacing the filters make certain that they fit snugly so that there will be no appreciable air leakage around the filter edges.

Invisible Balances Made for Windows

Home owners who dislike visible sash-balance mechanism in their windows may install spring sash balances which are invisible in that the entire unit fits into a grooved side stile and moves with the sash.

The only exposed part of the spring-balance device is approximately one inch of the brass bearing arm when the window is closed. Mechanism of balance is an oil-tempered spring completely enclosed in a spiraled tube operating with a brass bearing arm on the worm gear principle.

Gardner Can Build His Own Greenhouse

Home gardening enthusiasts who fidget all winter for lack of things to grow are being offered free plans for a plastic greenhouse they can build themselves.

Cost of the materials for the lean-to greenhouse, which is nine feet wide, seven feet high and five feet deep, is estimated to be $50 to $60. This does not include the foundation, which may be made of cinder block or concrete. A dirt floor is fine, but you can add a fancy concrete floor if you like.

By way of comparison, a glass greenhouse of the same size would cost several hundred dollars.

There will be no charge for the plans, which are soon to be distributed by hardware stores.

The greenhouse is built of a simple wood frame covered with plastic sheeting that has been reinforced with wire mesh. The plastic is tacked to the frame and the joints made waterproof with ordinary mastic. The roof is in two sections which can be raised or closed, and doors may be built in either end.

Dry-Built Construction Cuts Building Period

Elimination of interior decoration problems, including plastering and papering is assured if your home is finished with an all-wood interior.

Constructing the home entirely of lumber does away with delays due to plaster drying (as well as the mess that goes with any plastering operations) and avoids the introduction of a considerable quantity of water involved in the plastering of any wall. It also expedites completion of the structure and reduces wall cracks.

Maintenance thereafter is no problem, either, with wood paneled walls. Traditional knotty pine or clear pine finished in a light modern treatment is easy to keep clean and doesn't require reducing every year or two.

Deep Dipping Into Paint

Brushes shoud not be dipped too deeply into paint—just far enough so that, after tapping or "wiping" lightly against the inner side of the container, they will carry the paint to the job without dripping. Dipping too deep not only wastes paint, but soon makes a brush "lousy" by causing a collection of hardened paint to accumulate at the "heel" of the brush. The "heel" is the part nearest the ferrule.

Hurley Man Decorated

Lt. Robert G. Read, USN, right, of Hurley, is decorated with the commendation ribbon for meritorious service by Rear Admiral Frank G. Fahrion, commander of Destroyer Force, U. S. Atlantic Fleet. The ceremony, which took place aboard the escort destroyer USS Fred T. Berry at the Naval Shipyard in Boston, Mass., was for Lt. Read's action against the enemy in the Korean war. The naval officer is the son of Samuel T. Read of Hurley. (Official U. S. Navy Photograph)

Is Awarded Ribbon For Action During Korean Campaign

Lt. Robert G. Read, USN, son of Samuel T. Read of Hurley, was recently awarded a letter of commendation with ribbon for meritorious service in action against the enemy in the Korean Theatre while serving with the staff of Commander Escort Destroyer Squadron Six on board the escort destroyer USS Fred T. Berry.

He received his ribbon in a special ceremony April 27 at the Boston Naval Shipyard.

Lt. Read entered the naval service April 28, 1936. Before entering service, he was graduated from Kingston High School and Cornell University. He received subsequent post-graduate instruction at the U. S. Naval General Line School at Monterey, Calif.

He now resides with his wife and three children at 38 Almy street, Newport, R. I.

His ship and other vessels of the fleet participated in shore bombardment of the Korean coast, the evacuation of Hungnam and the rescue of downed pilots from the waters of the Sea of Japan.

The destroyer Berry, and other ships of the division, returned to the United States after an eight month tour of service.

Jacoby on Canasta

HERE'S PROPER WAY TO SCORE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

I have recently had several questions on the same point from readers in different parts of the country. Here is the most typical of these questions, from a reader in Wichita, Kansas:

"Our opponents had a mixed canasta made up of four queens and three deuces. They also had all four red threes. We went out, catching them with unmelded cards that totalled 150 points.

"First they wanted to offset their unmelded cards by throwing away their canasta. However, the cards in the canasta counted to only 100 points. Therefore they had to use a red three. They then decided to keep the canasta and use two of the red threes.

"Were they entitled to do this? What should their score be for the hand?"

It is the custom for players to use their melded cards to balance the loss of their unmelded cards. This is not legally necessary; it is just done to make the counting easier.

When you do use the cards in a canasta for this purpose, you do not lose the canasta bonus. If you break up four red threes, you still get the full bonus of 800 points for the red threes.

Let us count up the hand in question and see what the correct score is.

The opponents of my correspondent were entitled to 800 points for the red threes and to 300 points for their canasta. They should have written 1100 points down on their scorepad as the first part of their score on that hand.

Only after writing down that bonus score should they count melded or unmelded cards. Remember that if this point puzzles you: Count your base score first before even looking at the points for melded cards or for the cards still in your hand.

Those opponents should next total their unmelded cards (150 points) and compare it with the 100 points for the unmelded four queens and three deuces. The net total is minus 50 points. Hence they write down minus 50 points as the second part of their score on that hand.

Their full score for the hand would be 1050 points. That is the net value of plus 1100 and minus 50 points.

In any card game it's wise to know just what you can get away with. Plenty of Canasta games have been lost because players didn't know their rules. You'll know all the angles if you pick up a copy of the new 1951 INTERNATIONAL LAWS OF CANASTA by Jacoby. Send 15 cents in coin to Oswald Jacoby, Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Yard Fireplace Easy to Construct

A backyard fireplace to add enjoyment to summer living is easy and inexpensive to build. Fire brick laid in clay mortar is best. Other materials needed to build a 36-inch cubical fireplace are 10 inches of ½-inch pipe 36 inches long, one length of 8-inch x 8-inch flue lining tile, a metal grill two feet square and a 32-inch length of heavy angle iron.

Build the three walls up to 14 inches, then place the pipe lengths across the top course of brick three inches apart to serve as a grate. Space below provides draft and an ash-pit. Mount the pipe ends solidly in thick mortar, then continue the walls up another 22 inches, leaving a space slightly less than 8 inches x 8 inches at the rear center of the firebox for the flue. Set the grill in mortar for the cooking surface which will be at the comfortable height of 36 inches above ground.

Lay one more course of brick on the three walls and place the angle iron across the rear of the firebox where it joins the chimney opening. The iron is to support the front edge of the flue, the other three sides resting on the brickwork. Lay up brick around the tile to within 2 inches of its top and complete the fireplace with a sloping mortar joint from the top of the tile to the outer edges of the chimney bricks.

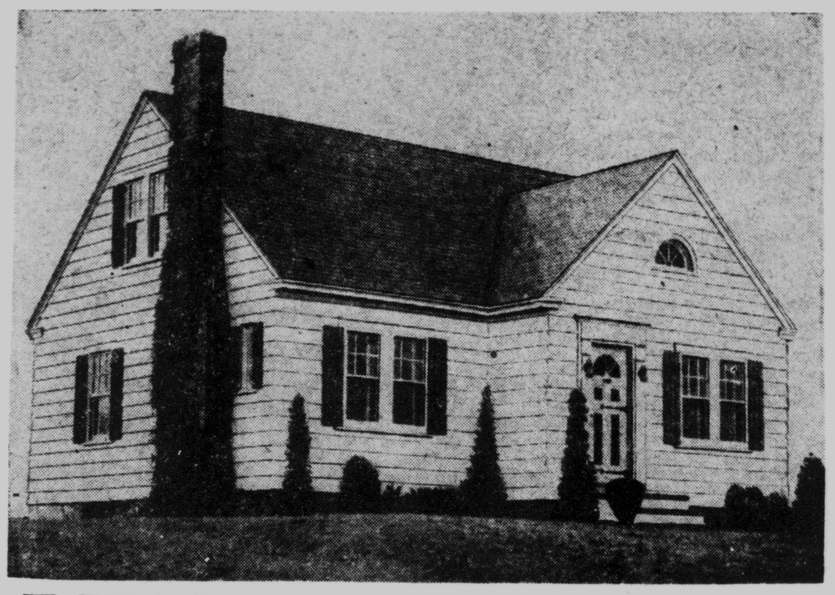
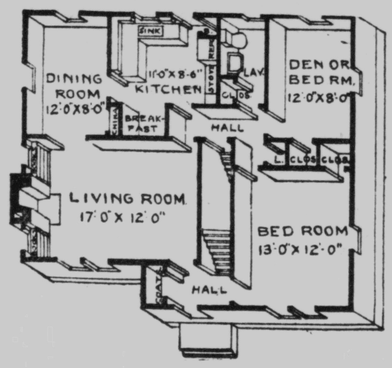
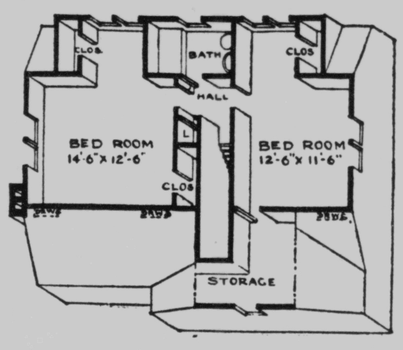
THE RHINEBECK







A Well-Planned, Seven Room House With Ample Closet Space

Bedrooms	Four
Closets	Ten
Cubage	18,500
Dimensions	33' x 24'

In addition to a spacious living room, with a large fireplace and built-in book shelves, "The Rhinebeck" contains a dining room with a built-in china closet, a combination kitchen and breakfast nook, two first floor bedrooms and two upstairs bedrooms, complete with built-in drawers.

Shed Dormer

A shed dormer across the back of the house makes "The Rhinebeck" seem larger than it actually is; it also makes possible the double windows in the rear walls of the upstairs bedrooms and a full window in the bathroom.

Entering through the front door, you find yourself in a good sized entrance hall with stairs to the second floor in the opposite wall. The door to the living room is placed just to the left of the stairway. There is a large coat closet in the left wall of the entry hall, while directly across the hall from this closet is the doorway to the front bedroom.

Measuring 17' x 12', the living room is well lighted by double windows in the front wall and the small casement windows flanking the fireplace in the side wall. A door in the right corner of the back living room wall opens into the central hallway connecting with the kitchen, lavette, cellar stairs and two bedrooms. There is ample wall space in the living room for the attractive arrangement of large furniture pieces.

There is a large china closet built into a corner of the 12' x 8' dining room. Two windows provide ample light and good cross ventilation in this room. A swinging door connects the dining room with the kitchen.

The compact dining alcove and kitchen measures 11' x 8'6" and is located on the right, between the swinging door and the door to the hall.

Shaped Work Counter

An L-shaped counter, complete with overhead cupboards, extends from the swinging door to the back door. Beneath the window in the back wall is an excellent location for the sink.

There is a small work counter, with drawers underneath it, in the right front corner of the kitchen. Next to this counter would make an excellent place to connect the stove, while the refrigerator should be placed beside the refrigerator to save the housewive's steps when she's preparing meals. A broom closet is conveniently located in this side wall, next to the back door.

The other door in the kitchen opens into the hall, directly opposite the living room door. Continuing further down the L-shaped hall, you find the cellar stairs on the right and the lavette on the left. At the end of the hall is the back bedroom which can be converted into a den if you so desire. Containing two windows, the room measures 12' x 8' and has a closet in the center of the front wall.

At the turn of the hall is the linen closet which is located conveniently near to both bedrooms and the lavette.

With double windows on the front wall and a single window on the side the front bedroom receives good light and cross ventilation. A closet is placed in the corner of the back wall of this room which is 13' x 12'. The room has ample wall space for the arrangement of large furniture pieces.

On the second floor is a small hall leading to a bedroom at either end. The bathroom is placed opposite the stairs, a linen closet in between the stairs and the door to the master bedroom at the left.

The large master bedroom, 14'6" x 12'6", boasts two huge closets, one on the back outside wall and the other on the front inside wall. This room has two sets of built-in drawers while double windows in the back and side wall provide ample light and ventilation.

Measuring 12'6" x 11'6" the second bedroom has a single closet on the back outside wall, a set of built-in drawers on the front wall and, like the master bedroom, double windows on the back and side walls.

Measuring only 33' x 24', the house has a cubic footage of 18,500 feet. A 50' minimum lot would be required.

Because complete living facilities are provided on the first floor of "The Rhinebeck," it won't be necessary to finish the second floor until you want this extra space. If you plan to use only the first floor, at first you can have the closet in the lavette converted into a shower stall.

Plans Available

Complete plans and specifications for "The Rhinebeck," or any other home in this series, can be obtained at moderate cost. To ascertain the exact price of these documents, write to the Home Building Editor, The Kingston Daily Freeman, and enclose a self-addressed envelope bearing a three cent stamp. The following blower maintenance suggestions are given: Clean and oil the blower and its motor. Examine the condition of the belt drive of the blower and if it shows signs of excessive wear, replace it. Make certain that the belt tension is properly adjusted to eliminate slippage. Check and set collars on the blower shaft to see that there is no end play in this shaft. Clean the blower cabinet thoroughly, preferably with a vacuum cleaner.

Filters should not be overlooked when the blower cabinet is cleaned. Dust-clogged filters should be replaced with clean new filters. When replacing the filters make certain that they fit snugly so that there will be no appreciable air leakage around the filter edges.

Invisible Balances Made for Windows

Home ownes who dislike visible sash-balance mechanism in their windows may install spring sash balances which are invisible in that the entire unit fits into a grooved side stile and moves with the sash.

The only exposed part of the spring-balance device is approximately one inch of the brass bearing arm when the window is closed. Mechanism of balance is an oil-tempered spring completely enclosed in a spiraled tube operating with a brass bearing arm on the worm gear principle.

Gardner Can Build His Own Greenhouse

Home gardening enthusiasts who fidget all winter for lack of things to grow are being offered free plans for a plastic greenhouse they can build themselves.

Cost of the materials for the lean-to greenhouse, which is nine feet wide, seven feet high and five feet deep, is estimated to be $50 to $60. This does not include the foundation, which may be made of cinder block or concrete. A dirt floor is fine, but you can add a fancy concrete floor if you like.

By way of comparison, a glass greenhouse of the same size would cost several hundred dollars.

There will be no charge for the plans, which are soon to be distributed by hardware stores.

The greenhouse is built of a simple wood frame covered with plastic sheeting that has been reinforced with wire mesh. The plastic is tacked to the frame and the joints made waterproof with ordinary mastic. The roof is in two sections which can be raised or closed, and doors may be built in either end.

Dry-Built Construction Cuts Building Period

Elimination of interior decoration problems, including plastering and papering is assured if your home is finished with an all-wood interior.

Constructing the home entirely of lumber does away with delays due to plaster drying (as well as the mess that goes with any plastering operations) and avoids the introduction of a considerable quantity of water involved in the plastering of any wall. It also expedites completion of the structure and reduces wall cracks.

Maintenance thereafter is no problem, either, with wood paneled walls. Traditional knotty pine or clear pine finished in a light modern treatment is easy to keep clean and doesn't require redecing every year or two.

Deep Dipping Into Paint

Brushes shoud not be dipped too deeply into paint—just far enough so that, after tapping or "wiping" lightly against the inner side of the container, they will carry the paint to the job without dripping. Dipping too deep not only wastes paint, but soon makes a brush "lousy" by causing a collection of hardened paint to accumulate at the "heel" of the brush. The "heel" is the part nearest the ferrule.

REFUSING TO ANSWER

In the last few years so many witnesses have refused to answer questions put by investigating committees that the constitutional protection against self-incrimination has become a kind of standing joke. These refusals, aside from publicity, irritation and levity, sometimes seriously interfere with the ability of an investigating committee to do its job. Although it usually does not come to public notice as in the case of congressional investigations, the refusal to answer also often hampers the work of grand juries.

The Kefauver Committee suggests a partial remedy. It proposes that the attorney-general be given authority to grant immunity to witnesses before congressional committees or grand juries when it is deemed that their testimony is essential. This would permit them to answer all questions without fear of making themselves liable to criminal prosecution. This might be a worth-while reform if it would work. It would be a relief to find committee witnesses talking more freely.

The proposed immunity might be fine for an essential witness who has committed some small wrong and fears punishment for it. But would a criminal who bared his soul before an investigating body be thereafter safe from prosecution for any wrongdoing he had mentioned? This might provide a new and interesting device by which underworld characters could assure security against punishment for their misdeeds. To escape this pitfall, an extremely high degree of discretion would be needed in applying immunity. Carefully employed, it could be useful, but it has perils.

It should be remembered also that when a witness is afraid his straight answer to a question might incriminate him, it certainly looks as if he believes he is guilty of something or other related to the question.

EDUCATION FOR SURVIVAL

Millard Caldwell, federal civil defense administrator, in a plea to members of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, asked that newspapers help to educate readers on personal survival in the event of an atomic attack.

Caldwell said that such an attack is possible because Russia has the atom bomb and the planes capable of bringing it to our major cities. He said that even a rudimentary public education might save countless lives in the event of an attack.

Shutting our eyes to the possibility of having our cities bombed would be foolish. The legendary ostrich is no safer for all his burying his head in the sand than if he looked his problem over calmly. Panic and fear must not be allowed to creep into our national thinking to the extent that they will prevent clear, logical thinking about the problems that beset us.

We are Americans with a long tradition of courage. Whatever we are called on to do, whatever danger we are asked to meet, we must remember that men have faced similar dangers before and have come out safely. The greatest weapon any enemy can ever wield is fear. A frightened and panic-stricken civilian population makes the job of its defenders all but impossibe.

Preparation for an air attack emergency, such as first aid training, training in volunteer fire fighting, and other civil defense planning, will assure us of efficient people who can lead the way in any situation.

If the postman rings twice these days, don't get unduly excited. He probably has a double handful of bills.

NOISE AND MUSIC

Why does one sound seem to pierce the ears like a stabbing knife, while another which hardly differs falls on the ears like music? Sound engineers say that often it is a matter of the shape of the sound wave. If a sound wave is converted into a pattern of light on the screen of an oscilloscope, the shape of the pattern will disclose with amazing accuracy whether it is an agreeable sound or an irritating one.

Armed with such knowledge about the difference between noise and music, isn't it time we made a more earnest effort to separate them?

OUR CHINA POLICY

General Douglas MacArthur's testimony on China bears out completely what has been said in this column regularly since 1943, namely, that the errors in our handling of China have been a renunciation of our traditional policy.

General MacArthur said:

"It is my own personal opinion that the greatest political mistake we made in a hundred years in the Pacific, was in allowing the Communists to grow in power in China.

"I think, at one stroke, we undid everything, starting from John Hay through Taft, Leonard Wood, Woodrow Wilson, Henry Stimson, and all those great architects of our Pacific policy.

"I believe it was fundamental, and I believe we will pay for it, for a century."

I think that we can go further than that. We have had a continuous policy of upholding the territorial and administrative integrity of China. This policy saved China from becoming a colony; it limited British, Russian and Japanese aggression in China up to 1931. Then it failed to be effective.

The most important document in connection with this policy is a circular letter sent to the powers by John Hay, secretary of state, in 1899. This is generally referred to as "The Open Door Policy" and has had the weight in Asia of the Monroe Doctine for the Americas.

The essence of this document is in these paragraphs:

"The President (of the United States) . . . understands it to be the settled policy and purpose of Great Britain not to use any privileges which may be granted to it in China as a means of excluding any commercial rivals, and that freedom of trade for it in that empire means freedom of trade for all the world alike. Her (Britannic) Majesty's government, while conceding by formal agreements with Germany and Russia the possession of 'spheres of influence or interest' in China, in which they are to enjoy special rights and privileges, particularly in respect to railroads and mining enterprises, has at the same time sought to maintain what is commonly called the 'Open Door' policy. . . .

"While the government of the United States will in no way commit itself to any recognition of the exclusive rights of any power within or control over any portion of the Chinese empire . . . it cannot conceal its apprehensions that there is danger of complications arising between the treaty powers which may imperil the rights insured to the United States by its treaties with China."

Further, John Hay wrote:

"It is the sincere desire of my government that the interests of its citizens may not be prejudiced through exclusive treatment by any of the controlling powers within their respective 'spheres of interest' in China, and it hopes to retain there an open market for all the world's commerce, remove dangerous sources of international irritation, and thereby hasten united action of the powers at Peking to promote administrative reforms so greatly needed for strengthening the imperial government and maintaining the integrity of China, in which it believes the whole western world is alike concerned. . . ."

The open door policy was aimed at Russia, which was then engaged in the conquest of Manchuria. This issue came to a head during the Boxer Rebellion and John Hay on July 3, 1900, sent another note which read:

". . . We adhere to the policy initiated by us in 1857, of peace with the Chinese nation, of furtherance of lawful commerce, and of protection of lives and property of our citizens by all means guaranteed under extraterritorial treaty rights and by the law of nations . . . the policy of the government of the United States is to . . . bring about permanent safety and peace to China, preserve Chinese territorial and administrative entity, protect all rights guaranteed to friendly powers by treaty and international law, and safeguard for the world the principle of equal and impartial trade with all parts of the Chinese empire."

It is not possible here to go into all the details of the attempts of Russia to steal Manchuria—all of which were thwarted by the United States. Mention need only be made of the Washington conference (1921) presided over by Charles Evans Hughes, then secretary of state, at which China's integrity was guaranteed by the then nine principal powers, the United States, Belgium, Great Britain, China, France, Italy, Japan, Netherlands, and Portugal. Russia was not invited to the conference.

This policy the United States reiterated at Cairo (1943) but renounced at Teheran (1943) and Yalta (1945). Instead, the United States facilitated the conquest of China by Soviet Russia.

OUTLOOK FOR TUBERCULOSIS

"The death rate from tuberculosis continues to decline without interruption. It will undoubtedly establish a new low this year. How marked the recent improvement has been is reflected by the fact that the annual number of deaths from tuberculosis declined by more than 10,000 in the past ten years in the United States while the population has increased by 19,000,000."

I am quoting from the Statistical Bulletin of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. As we read the above gratifying report of the great decline in the death rate in this, the disease that formerly stood first as a cause of death, we can understand why physicians feel that tuberculosis can be reduced to minor importance in the next few decades. These figures are particularly encouraging when we realize the number of new cases discovered by the mass X-ray surveys throughout the United States and also Canada.

Now what we must not forget as we read the above encouraging reports of the fight against tuberculosis is that these results were not obtained without effort by various organizations banded together with the one aim, the complete conquest of tuberculosis, the white plague of previous years.

Some of us may remember when tuberculosis was called consumption and practically every case died. Today we know that, like many other diseases, once the real nature of tuberculosis is discovered and proper treatment given early, most cases survive.

Further information in the Bulletin is worthy of the consideration of every one of us if we are to help in the good work of our tuberculosis organizations. Thus we read, "The ultimate conquest of tuberculosis in our country will be expedited by concentrating on those measures which have been most productive in the past decades. These are, basically, early case finding, prompt and adequate treatment and medical follow-up of arrested or quiet cases. Vigorous efforts along these lines are vital, not only for the welfare of those with the disease, but also for the protection of those who might become infected." Finding and isolating infectious cases is the most effective method to prevent the spread of tuberculosis.

The thought, then, is that while wonderful strides have been made in reducing the death rate in tuberculosis, continued effort must be made to make the conquest complete.

A Break in the Clouds

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — Most important diplomatic debate of the Korean war has been going on backstage at the United Nations—namely, an arms boycott of Red China.

So far our U.N. allies haven't got around to voting to ban arms, let alone an economic embargo. However, it remains a fact that this is one of the most important steps to be taken against any aggressor.

Furthermore there is a long history of diplomatic pussyfooting regarding this by our supposedly good friends — pussyfooting that eventually has landed them in war. Here is some case history:

Pussyfoot No. 1—Was when the British undercut us in 1931 when Japan first invaded Manchuria. Issues almost identical to the Korean aggression were involved in Manchuria, and the late Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson saw them clearly. He saw that Japan was sowing the first wild oats of aggression, just as Russia is today, and that if she got away with one aggressive bite there would be more.

Pussyfoot No. 2—Was when President Roosevelt tried to organize an economic blockade of Japan in 1936 in order to stop further aggression against China. By this time the British realized their 1931 mistake and went along with us. But Roosevelt could not get the support of other European powers, Hitler and Mussolini were too strong by that time, and he also faced the private opposition of Cordell Hull.

Pussyfoot No. 3—Came when Mussolini invaded helpless Ethiopia. This was one of the crudest cases of aggression the modern world has seen, and the tottering League of Nations conscientiously tried to act. But although an economic blocake was voted for the first time in history, two things made it unsuccessful.

One was the exclusion of oil. The big American and British oil companies pulled backstage wires, managed to scare British and American diplomats into permitting the continued shipment of oil to Mussolini. Without oil, his fleet would have been paralyzed and his trucks could not have moved. But we pussyfooted.

Furthermore, the big powers, after voting the embargo, refused to use their navies to back it up. It became a pitiful, pathetic joke.

Pussyfoot No. 4—This is taking place right now in regard to Red China, an obvious, wanton aggressor in Korea. While the British are the worst pussyfooters, we in the U.S.A., including General MacArthur himself, have pulled our punches.

MacArthur, for instance, has permitted a steady driblet of strategic materials to flow into Red China from Japan. From July to October, 1950, he permitted $8,106,000 in metals, machinery and textiles to leave Japan for China. From October to January, Jap exports to the Communists increased to $11,100,000. Since MacArthur controlled all Jap exports, this could have been stopped.

However, the flow of British goods entering China through Hong Kong is the most shocking scandal of the entire Korean war. While American lives are being snuffed out, British millionaires are being made overnight.

Yet the State Department has taken no tough steps, such as a threat to cut off U. S. economic aid to Britain, as a means of stopping this trade. The British have blocked the actual flow of arms to China, but in these days of modern warfare, it's strategic materials that really count.

Merry-Go-Round

Robert Mack, a Senate elevator operator, literally stepped into Senator Kefauver's shoes the other day. The Tennessee crime-buster worked so late that he had to dress for dinner in his office, bolted out the door wearing dinner dress, but brown shoes. In the elevator he noticed his mistake, traded shoes with Mack, who had on black shoes, and got to dinner on time . . . Congratulations to Ira Hirschmann and his radio station WABF in New York for winning the Peabody award for good music. First time an FM station was ever so recognized . . . Something peculiar has happened regarding Senator Gillette's probe of ex-Lt. Gov. Joe Hanley of New York and the money he raised to pay off alleged debts in Iowa. Gillette's investigators could find no trace of the debts, but now the Iowa senator seems inclined to drop the entire probe . . . Worth-while reading: Jake Spolansky's new book: "The Communist Trail in America," written by a man who knows what he's talking about . . . Senator Butler, the new GOP solon from Maryland by courtesy of the Chicago Tribune's local mouthpiece, is timidly trying to be independent of those who elected him. He's replacing Frank Smith, the Washington Times-Herald editorial writer whom the Tribune crowd appointed as Butler's administrative assistant . . . Prediction: Jim Carey's anti-Red electrical union will win a big victory at the Emerson Radio Corporation in Jersey City next week.

Mailbag

Corporal Sam Hahn, Los Angeles—While the vote on Gen. Billy Mitchell's court-martial was secret, Mitchell himself was convinced that General MacArthur voted for his conviction. Best account of the court-martial was in Mitchell's memoirs, written by Emile Gauvreau, as follows: "I remember MacArthur lowering his eyes and turning his face away. Others on the trial board who had been my friends, bowed their heads as they sat, not in judgment, but as marionettes . . . MacArthur surely could not be part of this! But there he was, his features as cold as carved stone . . . Perhaps by this time, MacArthur can see it all with an open mind." Mitchell was court-martialed for the same general charge for which MacArthur was relieved.

L. T., Tulsa, Okla. — Sen. Bob Kerr's rugged defense of the firing of MacArthur had nothing to do with ambition. He has a great and abiding devotion to Secretary of Defense Marshall. President Truman, incidentally, is so grateful to Kerr that he's talking about pushing him for the vice presidency.

Mrs. Anna Atkinson Chamberlayne, Buckingham County, Va.—I appreciate your sending me a copy of the will of Titus Gibbs, of April, 1841, showing that he held property in Prince Edward County, Va. Burton Boice
16 John Street
Kingston, N. Y.

Editor, The Freeman:

I was greatly saddened to read in your paper last evening of the death of Burton Boice of Hurley.

I am wondering just how many of your readers know of his fame among the thoroughbred horse people all over the country? Despite physical and often financial difficulties he bred, and raised, and sold such good thoroughbred horses that he really put Ulster county on the map.

In my travels to horse shows, horse meetings and races—as a judge, exhibitor, horse owner or just plain standerby—I have only had to mention that I came from Kingston and the answer always came, "Isn't that near Hurley, where the ex-trooper raises such fine horses?" And I always felt honored to be able to say, "Yes."

We, the horse people and horse lovers of the county, are going to find him irreplaceable, for he was always helpful with good advice when asked, and often drove great distances at all hours, in answer to a plea for help from the owner of a nervous mare who was having difficulty with her foaling.

I found that these nervous animals trusted him to such an extent that he had only to enter the stall and work quietly with the mare for a while, and usually all was going well. I have witnessed this scene many times, but it has always impressed each time to see the confidence placed in him by these animals.

He always gave of the best in him at all times, was an easy-going and slow-to-anger person, expecting the best of others and finding it perhaps more than most of us.

Such a person was Burton Boice and while many of us know it, I felt this might be of great interest to many of your readers who did not know him.

Sincerely yours,
JEAN WHITE CUTLER

SHOKAN

Shokan, May 11—The usual services in the three churches of the Ashokan Methodist charge will be omitted on conference Sunday, May 13. The program at the Washington Street Church in Poughkeepsie will be as follows: 9:30 a. m., communion service; 11 a. m., divine worship with Bishop A. P. Shaw as preacher, and at 2:30 p. m. the ordination service, ministerial procession, ordination of elders and deacons, and the reading of appointments for 1951-52.

A well is being driven at the former Emily Hansen residence in the village center. Arthur Christiana, well-known to Shokan folks, is one of the crew working on this job.

Mr. and Mrs. James Fairbairn have returned to their home on the trail after a long vacation trip.

The building boom continues apace in neighboring West Hurley where a third new house has been erected at the big rock cut west of the village.

Burton Boice who died Thursday morning at his home in Old Hurley, was born and brought up in the old village of West Shokan. The expert horseman's boyhood home on the west side flats was next door to the barn where his uncle Zadoc P. Boice, kept his large stable of logging teams which were used in connection with the Boice steam sawmill.

Onteora central school district pupils in the town of Olive will take Regents examinations at the Ashokan schoolhouse, beginning Tuesday, June 19, at 9:15 a. m., and continuing through the following Wednesday morning. Transportation will be furnished to the examining centers.

The Old Timer reports that he caught a 10-inch brook trout of the old fashioned variety early Tuesday morning. Says he'd thrown back a dozen or more small fry before this speckled beauty latched onto his hook, and was he surprised. O. T., who "snuck" his fish out of a foot of swift water in a place only two feet wide, says he gets as much kick out of landing an old fashioned as from pulling in a brown or a rainbow twice as big.

Thord Fredenholm, local writer, is building an addition onto the rear of his smaller house, formerly occupied by George Kelder.

The flowering plants and bushes in the front yard of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Rast are a pleasing sight along the Trail these days.

A—Sebastiano del Piombo in his portrait of Cardinal Bandinello Sauli, painted an ordinary house fly on the knee of the Cardinal. Why the creator of this masterpiece "mocked" his subject in this manner is unknown.

Q—Is whalebone really bone?

A—It is not really bone, it is baleen, a horny substance similar to fingernails. Whalebone grows out of the upper jaw of certain toothless whales.

REFUSING TO ANSWER

In the last few years so many witnesses have refused to answer questions put by investigating committees that the constitutional protection against self-incrimination has become a kind of standing joke. These refusals, aside from publicity, irritation and levity, sometimes seriously interfere with the ability of an investigating committee to do its job. Although it usually does not come to public notice as in the case of congressional investigations, the refusal to answer also often hampers the work of grand juries.

The Kefauver Committee suggests a partial remedy. It proposes that the attorney-general be given authority to grant immunity to witnesses before congressional committees or grand juries when it is deemed that their testimony is essential. This would permit them to answer all questions without fear of making themselves liable to criminal prosecution. This might be a worth-while reform if it would work. It would be a relief to find committee witnesses talking more freely.

The proposed immunity might be fine for an essential witness who has committed some small wrong and fears punishment for it. But would a criminal who bared his soul before an investigating body be thereafter safe from prosecution for any wrongdoing he had mentioned? This might provide a new and interesting device by which underworld characters could assure security against punishment for their misdeeds. To escape this pitfall, an extremely high degree of discretion would be needed in applying immunity. Carefully employed, it could be useful, but it has perils.

It should be remembered also that when a witness is afraid his straight answer to a question might incriminate him, it certainly looks as if he believes he is guilty of something or other related to the question.

EDUCATION FOR SURVIVAL

Millard Caldwell, federal civil defense administrator, in a plea to members of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, asked that newspapers help to educate readers on personal survival in the event of an atomic attack.

Caldwell said that such an attack is possible because Russia has the atom bomb and the planes capable of bringing it to our major cities. He said that even a rudimentary public education might save countless lives in the event of an attack.

Shutting our eyes to the possibility of having our cities bombed would be foolish. The legendary ostrich is no safer for all his burying his head in the sand than if he looked his problem over calmly. Panic and fear must not be allowed to creep into our national thinking to the extent that they will prevent clear, logical thinking about the problems that beset us.

We are Americans with a long tradition of courage. Whatever we are called on to do, whatever danger we are asked to meet, we must remember that men have faced similar dangers before and have come out safely. The greatest weapon any enemy can ever wield is fear. A frightened and panic-stricken civilian population makes the job of its defenders all but impossibe.

Preparation for an air attack emergency, such as first aid training, training in volunteer fire fighting, and other civil defense planning, will assure us of efficient people who can lead the way in any situation.

If the postman rings twice these days, don't get unduly excited. He probably has a double handful of bills.

NOISE AND MUSIC

Why does one sound seem to pierce the ears like a stabbing knife, while another which hardly differs falls on the ears like music? Sound engineers say that often it is a matter of the shape of the sound wave. If a sound wave is converted into a pattern of light on the screen of an oscilloscope, the shape of the pattern will disclose with amazing accuracy whether it is an agreeable sound or an irritating one.

Armed with such knowledge about the difference between noise and music, isn't it time we made a more earnest effort to separate them?

OUR CHINA POLICY

General Douglas MacArthur's testimony on China bears out completely what has been said in this column regularly since 1943, namely, that the errors in our handling of China have been a renunciation of our traditional policy.

General MacArthur said:

"It is my own personal opinion that the greatest political mistake we made in a hundred years in the Pacific, was in allowing the Communists to grow in power in China.

"I think, at one stroke, we undid everything, starting from John Hay through Taft, Leonard Wood, Woodrow Wilson, Henry Stimson, and all those great architects of our Pacific policy.

"I believe it was fundamental, and I believe we will pay for it, for a century."

I think that we can go further than that. We have had a continuous policy of upholding the territorial and administrative integrity of China. This policy saved China from becoming a colony; it limited British, Russian and Japanese aggression in China up to 1931. Then it failed to be effective.

The most important document in connection with this policy is a circular letter sent to the powers by John Hay, secretary of state, in 1899. This is generally referred to as "The Open Door Policy" and has had the weight in Asia of the Monroe Doctine for the Americas.

The essence of this document is in these paragraphs:

"The President (of the United States) . . . understands it to be the settled policy and purpose of Great Britain not to use any privileges which may be granted to it in China as a means of excluding any commercial rivals, and that freedom of trade for it in that empire means freedom of trade for all the world alike. Her (Britannic) Majesty's government, while conceding by formal agreements with Germany and Russia the possession of 'spheres of influence or interest' in China, in which they are to enjoy special rights and privileges, particularly in respect to railroads and mining enterprises, has at the same time sought to maintain what is commonly called the 'Open Door' policy. . . .

"While the government of the United States will in no way commit itself to any recognition of the exclusive rights of any power within or control over any portion of the Chinese empire . . . it cannot conceal its apprehensions that there is danger of complications arising between the treaty powers which may imperil the rights insured to the United States by its treaties with China."

Further, John Hay wrote:

"It is the sincere desire of my government that the interests of its citizens may not be prejudiced through exclusive treatment by any of the controlling powers within their respective 'spheres of interest' in China, and it hopes to retain there an open market for all the world's commerce, remove dangerous sources of international irritation, and thereby hasten united action of the powers at Peking to promote administrative reforms so greatly needed for strengthening the imperial government and maintaining the integrity of China, in which it believes the whole western world is alike concerned. . . "

The open door policy was aimed at Russia, which was then engaged in the conquest of Manchuria. This issue came to a head during the Boxer Rebellion and John Hay on July 3, 1900, sent another note which read:

". . . We adhere to the policy initiated by us in 1857, of peace with the Chinese nation, of furtherance of lawful commerce, and of protection of lives and property of our citizens by all means guaranteed under extraterritorial treaty rights and by the law of nations . . . the policy of the government of the United States is to . . . bring about permanent safety and peace to China, preserve Chinese territorial and administrative entity, protect all rights guaranteed to friendly powers by treaty and international law, and safeguard for the world the principle of equal and impartial trade with all parts of the Chinese empire."

It is not possible here to go into all the details of the attempts of Russia to steal Manchuria—all of which were thwarted by the United States. Mention need only be made of the Washington conference (1921) presided over by Charles Evans Hughes, then secretary of state, at which China's integrity was guaranteed by the then nine principal powers, the United States, Belgium, Great Britain, China, France, Italy, Japan, Netherlands, and Portugal. Russia was not invited to the conference.

This policy the United States reiterated at Cairo (1943) but renounced at Teheran (1943) and Yalta (1945). Instead, the United States facilitated the conquest of China by Soviet Russia.

OUTLOOK FOR TUBERCULOSIS

"The death rate from tuberculosis continues to decline without interruption. It will undoubtedly establish a new low this year. How marked the recent improvement has been is reflected by the fact that the annual number of deaths from tuberculosis declined by more than 10,000 in the past ten years in the United States while the population has increased by 19,000,000."

I am quoting from the Statistical Bulletin of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. As we read the above gratifying report of the great decline in the death rate in this, the disease that formerly stood first as a cause of death, we can understand why physicians feel that tuberculosis can be reduced to minor importance in the next few decades. These figures are particularly encouraging when we realize the number of new cases discovered by the mass X-ray surveys throughout the United States and also Canada.

Now what we must not forget as we read the above encouraging reports of the fight against tuberculosis is that these results were not obtained without effort by various organizations banded together with the one aim, the complete conquest of tuberculosis, the white plague of previous years.

Some of us may remember when tuberculosis was called consumption and practically every case died. Today we know that, like many other diseases, once the real nature of tuberculosis is discovered and proper treatment given early, most cases survive.

Further information in the Bulletin is worthy of the consideration of every one of us if we are to help in the good work of our tuberculosis organizations. Thus we read, "The ultimate conquest of tuberculosis in our country will be expedited by concentrating on those measures which have been most productive in the past decades. These are, basically, early case finding, prompt and adequate treatment and medical follow-up of arrested or quiet cases. Vigorous efforts along these lines are vital, not only for the welfare of those with the disease, but also for the protection of those who might become infected." Finding and isolating infectious cases is the most effective method to prevent the spread of tuberculosis.

The thought, then, is that while wonderful strides have been made in reducing the death rate in tuberculosis, continued effort must be made to make the conquest complete.

A Break in the Clouds

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — Most important diplomatic debate of the Korean war has been going on backstage at the United Nations—namely, an arms boycott of Red China.

So far our U.N. allies haven't got around to voting to ban arms, let alone an economic embargo. However, it remains a fact that this is one of the most important steps to be taken against any aggressor.

Furthermore there is a long history of diplomatic pussyfooting regarding this by our supposedly good friends — pussyfooting that eventually has landed them in war. Here is some case history:

Pussyfoot No. 1—Was when the British undercut us in 1931 when Japan first invaded Manchuria. Issues almost identical to the Korean aggression were involved in Manchuria, and the late Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson saw them clearly. He saw that Japan was sowing the first wild oats of aggression, just as Russia is today, and that if she got away with one aggressive bite there would be more.

Pussyfoot No. 2—Was when President Roosevelt tried to organize an economic blockade of Japan in 1936 in order to stop further aggression against China. By this time the British realized their 1931 mistake and went along with us. But Roosevelt could not get the support of other European powers. Hitler and Mussolini were too strong by that time, and he also faced the private opposition of Cordell Hull.

Pussyfoot No. 3—Came when Mussolini invaded helpless Ethiopia. This was one of the crudest cases of aggression the modern world has seen, and the tottering League of Nations conscientiously tried to act. But although an economic blocake was voted for the first time in history, two things made it unsuccessful.

One was the exclusion of oil. The big American and British oil companies pulled backstage wires, managed to scare British and American diplomats into permitting the continued shipment of oil to Mussolini. Without oil, his fleet would have been paralyzed and his trucks could not have moved. But we pussyfooted.

Furthermore, the big powers, after voting the embargo, refused to use their navies to back it up. It became a pitiful, pathetic joke.

Pussyfoot No. 4—This is taking place right now in regard to Red China, an obvious, wanton aggressor in Korea. While the British are the worst pussyfooters, we in the U.S.A., including General MacArthur himself, have pulled our punches.

MacArthur, for instance, has permitted a steady driblet of strategic materials to flow into Red China from Japan. From July to October, 1950, he permitted $8,106,000 in metals, machinery and textiles to leave Japan for China. From October to January, Jap exports to the Communists increased to $11,100,000. Since MacArthur controlled all Jap exports, this could have been stopped.

However, the flow of British goods entering China through Hong Kong is the most shocking scandal of the entire Korean war. While American lives are being snuffed out, British millionaires are being made overnight.

Yet the State Department has taken no tough steps, such as a threat to cut off U. S. economic aid to Britain, as a means of stopping this trade. The British have blocked the actual flow of arms to China, but in these days of modern warfare, it's strategic materials that really count.

Merry-Go-Round

Robert Mack, a Senate elevator operator, literally stepped into Senator Kefauver's shoes the other day. The Tennessee crime-buster worked so late that he had to dress for dinner in his office, bolted out the door wearing dinner dress, but brown shoes. In the elevator he noticed his mistake, traded shoes with Mack, who had on black shoes, and got to dinner on time . . . Congratulations to Ira Hirschmann and his radio station WABF in New York for winning the Peabody award for good music. First time an FM station was ever so recognized . . . Something peculiar has happened regarding Senator Gillette's probe of ex-Lt. Gov. Joe Hanley of New York and the money he raised to pay off alleged debts in Iowa. Gillette's investigators could find no trace of the debts, but now the Iowa senator seems inclined to drop the entire probe . . . Worth-while reading: Jake Spolansky's new book: "The Communist Trail in America," written by a man who knows what he's talking about . . . Senator Butler, the new GOP solon from Maryland by courtesy of the Chicago Tribune's local mouthpiece, is timidly trying to be independent of those who elected him. He's replacing Frank Smith, the Washington Times-Herald editorial writer whom the Tribune crowd appointed as Butler's administrative assistant . . . Prediction: Jim Carey's anti-Red electrical union will win a big victory at the Emerson Radio Corporation in Jersey City next week.

Mailbag

Corporal Sam Hahn, Los Angeles—While the vote on Gen. Billy Mitchell's court-martial was secret, Mitchell himself was convinced that General MacArthur voted for his conviction. Best account of the court-martial was in Mitchell's memoirs, written by Emile Gauvreau, as follows: "I remember MacArthur lowering his eyes and turning his face away. Others on the trial board who had been my friends, bowed their heads as they sat, not in judgment, but as marionettes . . . MacArthur surely could not be part of this! But there he was, his features as cold as carved stone . . . Perhaps by this time, MacArthur can see it all with an open mind." Mitchell was court-martialed for the same general charge for which MacArthur was relieved.

L. T., Tulsa, Okla. — Sen. Bob Kerr's rugged defense of the firing of MacArthur had nothing to do with ambition. He has a great and abiding devotion to Secretary of Defense Marshall. President Truman, incidentally, is so grateful to Kerr that he's talking about pushing him for the vice presidency.

Burton Boice
16 John Street
Kingston, N. Y.

Editor, The Freeman:

I was greatly saddened to read in your paper last evening of the death of Burton Boice of Hurley.

I am wondering just how many of your readers know of his fame among the thoroughbred horse people all over the country? Despite physical and often financial difficulties he bred, and raised, and sold such good thoroughbred horses that he really put Ulster county on the map.

In my travels to horse shows, horse meetings and races—as a judge, exhibitor, horse owner or just plain standerby—I have only had to mention that I came from Kingston and the answer always came, "Isn't that near Hurley, where the ex-trooper raises such fine horses?" And I always felt honored to be able to say, "Yes."

We, the horse people and horse lovers of the county, are going to find him irreplaceable, for he was always helpful with good advice when asked, and often drove great distances at all hours, in answer to a plea for help from the owner of a nervous mare who was having difficulty with her foaling.

I found that these nervous animals trusted him to such an extent that he had only to enter the stall and work quietly with the mare for a while, and usually all was going well. I have witnessed this scene many times, but it has always impressed each time to see the confidence placed in him by these animals.

He always gave of the best in him at all times, was an easy-going and slow-to-anger person, expecting the best of others and finding it perhaps more than most of us.

Such a person was Burton Boice and while many of us know it, I felt this might be of great interest to many of your readers who did not know him.

Sincerely yours,
JEAN WHITE CUTLER

SHOKAN

Shokan, May 11—The usual services in the three churches of the Ashokan Methodist charge will be omitted on conference Sunday, May 13. The program at the Washington Street Church in Poughkeepsie will be as follows: 9:30 a. m., communion service; 11 a. m., divine worship with Bishop A. P. Shaw as preacher, and at 2:30 p. m. the ordination service, ministerial procession, ordination of elders and deacons, and the reading of appointments for 1951-52.

A well is being driven at the former Emily Hansen residence in the village center. Arthur Christiana, well-known to Shokan folks, is one of the crew working on this job.

Mr. and Mrs. James Fairbairn have returned to their home on the trail after a long vacation trip.

The building boom continues apace in neighboring West Hurley where a third new house has been erected at the big rock cut west of the village.

Burton Boice who died Thursday morning at his home in Old Hurley, was born and brought up in the old village of West Shokan. The expert horseman's boyhood home on the west side flats was next door to the barn where his uncle Zadoc P. Boice, kept his large stable of logging teams which were used in connection with the Boice steam sawmill.

Onteora central school district pupils in the town of Olive will take Regents examinations at the Ashokan schoolhouse, beginning Tuesday, June 19, at 9:15 a. m., and continuing through the following Wednesday morning. Transportation will be furnished to the examining centers.

The Old Timer reports that he caught a 10-inch brook trout of the old fashioned variety early Tuesday morning. Says he'd thrown back a dozen or more small fry before this speckled beauty latched onto his hook, and was he surprised. O. T., who "snuck" his fish out of a foot of swift water in a place only two feet wide, says he gets as much kick out of landing an old fashioned as from pulling in a brown or a rainbow twice as big.

Thord Fredenholm, local writer, is building an addition onto the rear of his smaller house, formerly occupied by George Kelder.

The flowering plants and bushes in the front yard of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Rast are a pleasing sight along the Trail these days.

NOISE AND MUSIC

Why does one sound seem to pierce the ears like a stabbing knife, while another which hardly differs falls on the ears like music? Sound engineers say that often it is a matter of the shape of the sound wave. If a sound wave is converted into a pattern of light on the screen of an oscilloscope, the shape of the pattern will disclose with amazing accuracy whether it is an agreeable sound or an irritating one.

Armed with such knowledge about the difference between noise and music, isn't it time we made a more earnest effort to separate them?

OUR CHINA POLICY

General Douglas MacArthur's testimony on China bears out completely what has been said in this column regularly since 1943, namely, that the errors in our handling of China have been a renunciation of our traditional policy.

General MacArthur said:

"It is my own personal opinion that the greatest political mistake we made in a hundred years in the Pacific, was in allowing the Communists to grow in power in China.

"I think, at one stroke, we undid everything, starting from John Hay through Taft, Leonard Wood, Woodrow Wilson, Henry Stimson, and all those great architects of our Pacific policy.

"I believe it was fundamental, and I believe we will pay for it, for a century."

I think that we can go further than that. We have had a continuous policy of upholding the territorial and administrative integrity of China. This policy saved China from becoming a colony; it limited British, Russian and Japanese aggression in China up to 1931. Then it failed to be effective.

The most important document in connection with this policy is a circular letter sent to the powers by John Hay, secretary of state, in 1899. This is generally referred to as "The Open Door Policy" and has had the weight in Asia of the Monroe Doctine for the Americas.

The essence of this document is in these paragraphs:

"The President (of the United States) . . . understands it to be the settled policy and purpose of Great Britain not to use any privileges which may be granted to it in China as a means of excluding any commercial rivals, and that freedom of trade for it in that empire means freedom of trade for all the world alike. Her (Britannic) Majesty's government, while conceding by formal agreements with Germany and Russia the possession of 'spheres of influence or interest' in China, in which they are to enjoy special rights and privileges, particularly in respect to railroads and mining enterprises, has at the same time sought to maintain what is commonly called the 'Open Door' policy. . . .

"While the government of the United States will in no way commit itself to any recognition of the exclusive rights of any power within or control over any portion of the Chinese empire . . . it cannot conceal its apprehensions that there is danger of complications arising between the treaty powers which may imperil the rights insured to the United States by its treaties with China."

Further, John Hay wrote:

"It is the sincere desire of my government that the interests of its citizens may not be prejudiced through exclusive treatment by any of the controlling powers within their respective 'spheres of interest' in China, and it hopes to retain there an open market for all the world's commerce, remove dangerous sources of international irritation, and thereby hasten united action of the powers at Peking to promote administrative reforms so greatly needed for strengthening the imperial government and maintaining the integrity of China, in which it believes the whole western world is alike concerned. . . ."

The open door policy was aimed at Russia, which was then engaged in the conquest of Manchuria. This issue came to a head during the Boxer Rebellion and John Hay on July 3, 1900, sent another note which read:

". . . We adhere to the policy initiated by us in 1857, of peace with the Chinese nation, of furtherance of lawful commerce, and of protection of lives and property of our citizens by all means guaranteed under extraterritorial treaty rights and by the law of nations . . . the policy of the government of the United States is to . . . bring about permanent safety and peace to China, preserve Chinese territorial and administrative entity, protect all rights guaranteed to friendly powers by treaty and international law, and safeguard for the world the principle of equal and impartial trade with all parts of the Chinese empire."

It is not possible here to go into all the details of the attempts of Russia to steal Manchuria—all of which were thwarted by the United States. Mention need only be made of the Washington conference (1921) presided over by Charles Evans Hughes, then secretary of state, at which China's integrity was guaranteed by the then nine principal powers, the United States, Belgium, Great Britain, China, France, Italy, Japan, Netherlands, and Portugal. Russia was not invited to the conference.

This policy the United States reiterated at Cairo (1943) but renounced at Teheran (1943) and Yalta (1945). Instead, the United States facilitated the conquest of China by Soviet Russia.

OUTLOOK FOR TUBERCULOSIS

"The death rate from tuberculosis continues to decline without interruption. It will undoubtedly establish a new low this year. How marked the recent improvement has been is reflected by the fact that the annual number of deaths from tuberculosis declined by more than 10,000 in the past ten years in the United States while the population has increased by 19,000,000."

I am quoting from the Statistical Bulletin of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. As we read the above gratifying report of the great decline in the death rate in this, the disease that formerly stood first as a cause of death, we can understand why physicians feel that tuberculosis can be reduced to minor importance in the next few decades. These figures are particularly encouraging when we realize the number of new cases discovered by the mass X-ray surveys throughout the United States and also Canada.

Now what we must not forget as we read the above encouraging reports of the fight against tuberculosis is that these results were not obtained without effort by various organizations banded together with the one aim, the complete conquest of tuberculosis, the white plague of previous years.

Some of us may remember when tuberculosis was called consumption and practically every case died. Today we know that, like many other diseases, once the real nature of tuberculosis is discovered and proper treatment given early, most cases survive.

Further information in the Bulletin is worthy of the consideration of every one of us if we are to help in the good work of our tuberculosis organizations. Thus we read, "The ultimate conquest of tuberculosis in our country will be expedited by concentrating on those measures which have been most productive in the past decades. These are, basically, early case finding, prompt and adequate treatment and medical follow-up of arrested or quiet cases. Vigorous efforts along these lines are vital, not only for the welfare of those with the disease, but also for the protection of those who might become infected." Finding and isolating infectious cases is the most effective method to prevent the spread of tuberculosis.

The thought, then, is that while wonderful strides have been made in reducing the death rate in tuberculosis, continued effort must be made to make the conquest complete.

A Break in the Clouds

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — Most important diplomatic debate of the Korean war has been going on backstage at the United Nations—namely, an arms boycott of Red China.

So far our U.N. allies haven't got around to voting to ban arms, let alone an economic embargo. However, it remains a fact that this is one of the most important steps to be taken against any aggressor.

Furthermore there is a long history of diplomatic pussyfooting regarding this by our supposedly good friends — pussyfooting that eventually has landed them in war. Here is some case history:

Pussyfoot No. 1—Was when the British undercut us in 1931 when Japan first invaded Manchuria. Issues almost identical to the Korean aggression were involved in Manchuria, and the late Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson saw them clearly. He saw that Japan was sowing the first wild oats of aggression, just as Russia is today, and that if she got away with one aggressive bite there would be more.

Pussyfoot No. 2—Was when President Roosevelt tried to organize an economic blockade of Japan in 1936 in order to stop further aggression against China. By this time the British realized their 1931 mistake and went along with us. But Roosevelt could not get the support of other European powers. Hitler and Mussolini were too strong by that time, and he also faced the private opposition of Cordell Hull.

Pussyfoot No. 3—Came when Mussolini invaded helpless Ethiopia. This was one of the crudest cases of aggression the modern world has seen, and the tottering League of Nations conscientiously tried to act. But although an economic blocake was voted for the first time in history, two things made it unsuccessful.

One was the exclusion of oil. The big American and British oil companies pulled backstage wires, managed to scare British and American diplomats into permitting the continued shipment of oil to Mussolini. Without oil, his fleet would have been paralyzed and his trucks could not have moved. But we pussyfooted.

Furthermore, the big powers, after voting the embargo, refused to use their navies to back it up. It became a pitiful, pathetic joke.

Pussyfoot No. 4—This is taking place right now in regard to Red China, an obvious, wanton aggressor in Korea. While the British are the worst pussyfooters, we in the U.S.A., including General MacArthur himself, have pulled our punches.

MacArthur, for instance, has permitted a steady driblet of strategic materials to flow into Red China from Japan. From July to October, 1950, he permitted $8,106,000 in metals, machinery and textiles to leave Japan for China. From October to January, Jap exports to the Communists increased to $11,100,000. Since MacArthur controlled all Jap exports, this could have been stopped.

However, the flow of British goods entering China through Hong Kong is the most shocking scandal of the entire Korean war. While American lives are being snuffed out, British millionaires are being made overnight.

Yet the State Department has taken no tough steps, such as a threat to cut off U. S. economic aid to Britain, as a means of stopping this trade. The British have blocked the actual flow of arms to China, but in these days of modern warfare, it's strategic materials that really count.

Merry-Go-Round

Robert Mack, a Senate elevator operator, literally stepped into Senator Kefauver's shoes the other day. The Tennessee crime-buster worked so late that he had to dress for dinner in his office, bolted out the door wearing dinner dress, but brown shoes. In the elevator he noticed his mistake, traded shoes with Mack, who had on black shoes, and got to dinner on time . . . Congratulations to Ira Hirschmann and his radio station WABF in New York for winning the Peabody award for good music. First time an FM station was ever so recognized . . . Something peculiar has happened regarding Senator Gillette's probe of ex-Lt. Gov. Joe Hanley of New York and the money he raised to pay off alleged debts in Iowa. Gillette's investigators could find no trace of the debts, but now the Iowa senator seems inclined to drop the entire probe . . . Worth-while reading: Jake Spolansky's new book: "The Communist Trail in America," written by a man who knows what he's talking about . . . Senator Butler, the new GOP solon from Maryland by courtesy of the Chicago Tribune's local mouthpiece, is timidly trying to be independent of those who elected him. He's replacing Frank Smith, the Washington Times-Herald editorial writer whom the Tribune crowd appointed as Butler's administrative assistant . . . Prediction: Jim Carey's anti-Red electrical union will win a big victory at the Emerson Radio Corporation in Jersey City next week.

Mailbag

Corporal Sam Hahn, Los Angeles—While the vote on Gen. Billy Mitchell's court-martial was secret, Mitchell himself was convinced that General MacArthur voted for his conviction. Best account of the court-martial was in Mitchell's memoirs, written by Emile Gauvreau, as follows: "I remember MacArthur lowering his eyes and turning his face away. Others on the trial board who had been my friends, bowed their heads as they sat, not in judgment, but as marionettes . . . MacArthur surely could not be part of this! But there he was, his features as cold as carved stone . . . Perhaps by this time, MacArthur can see it all with an open mind." Mitchell was court-martialed for the same general charge for which MacArthur was relieved.

L. T., Tulsa, Okla. — Sen. Bob Kerr's rugged defense of the firing of MacArthur had nothing to do with ambition. He has a great and abiding devotion to Secretary of Defense Marshall. President Truman, incidentally, is so grateful to Kerr that he's talking about pushing him for the vice presidency.

Mrs. Anna Atkinson Chamberlayne, Buckingham County, Va.—I appreciate your sending me a copy of the will of Titus Gibbs, of April, 1841, showing that he held property in Prince Edward County, Va. Burton Boice
Kingston, N. Y.

Editor, The Freeman:

I was greatly saddened to read in your paper last evening of the death of Burton Boice of Hurley.

I am wondering just how many of your readers know of his fame among the thoroughbred horse people all over the country? Despite physical and often financial difficulties he bred, and raised, and sold such good thoroughbred horses that he really put Ulster county on the map.

In my travels to horse shows, horse meetings and races—as a judge, exhibitor, horse owner or just plain standerby—I have only had to mention that I came from Kingston and the answer always came, "Isn't that near Hurley, where the ex-trooper raises such fine horses?" And I always felt honored to be able to say, "Yes."

We, the horse people and horse lovers of the county, are going to find him irreplaceable, for he was always helpful with good advice when asked, and often drove great distances at all hours, in answer to a plea for help from the owner of a nervous mare who was having difficulty with her foaling.

I found that these nervous animals trusted him to such an extent that he had only to enter the stall and work quietly with the mare for a while, and usually all was going well. I have witnessed this scene many times, but it has always impressed each time to see the confidence placed in him by these animals.

He always gave of the best in him at all times, was an easy-going and slow-to-anger person, expecting the best of others and finding it perhaps more than most of us.

Such a person was Burton Boice and while many of us know it, I felt this might be of great interest to many of your readers who did not know him.

Sincerely yours,
JEAN WHITE CUTLER

SHOKAN

Shokan, May 11—The usual services in the three churches of the Ashokan Methodist charge will be omitted on conference Sunday, May 13. The program at the Washington Street Church in Poughkeepsie will be as follows: 9:30 a. m., communion service; 11 a. m., divine worship with Bishop A. P. Shaw as preacher, and at 2:30 p. m. the ordination service, ministerial procession, ordination of elders and deacons, and the reading of appointments for 1951-52.

A well is being driven at the former Emily Hansen residence in the village center. Arthur Christiana, well-known to Shokan folks, is one of the crew working on this job.

Mr. and Mrs. James Fairbairn have returned to their home on the trail after a long vacation trip.

The building boom continues apace in neighboring West Hurley where a third new house has been erected at the big rock cut west of the village.

Burton Boice who died Thursday morning at his home in Old Hurley, was born and brought up in the old village of West Shokan. The expert horseman's boyhood home on the west side flats was next door to the barn where his uncle Zadoc P. Boice, kept his large stable of logging teams which were used in connection with the Boice steam sawmill.

Onteora central school district pupils in the town of Olive will take Regents examinations at the Ashokan schoolhouse, beginning Tuesday, June 19, at 9:15 a. m., and continuing through the following Wednesday morning. Transportation will be furnished to the examining centers.

The Old Timer reports that he caught a 10-inch brook trout of the old fashioned variety early Tuesday morning. Says he'd thrown back a dozen or more small fry before this speckled beauty latched onto his hook, and was he surprised. O. T., who "snuck" his fish out of a foot of swift water in a place only two feet wide, says he gets as much kick out of landing an old fashioned as from pulling in a brown or a rainbow twice as big.

Thord Fredenholm, local writer, is building an addition onto the rear of his smaller house, formerly occupied by George Kelder.

Gasoline Blues

A man with a speed demon's flair,
Drove his car with a nonchalant air;
He passed the red light
In his too-hurried flight
So he rides in an invalid's chair.

The Santa Fe railway was named for Santa Fe, N. M., but never ran through it. Instead, a spur line of that railroad serves the city.

One way to start a bank account is to live on less than you can afford.

Friend—How are you getting along in your driving?

Woman—Oh, fine; yesterday I went 50 miles an hour, and tomorrow I'm going to try opening my eyes when I pass another car.

The really appalling thing about efforts to maintain traffic safety is that so many persons who become involved in accidents knew they were doing something they shouldn't. They're in a hurry, they become irked at the other fellow, they take a chance—they pay for it. Unhappily, too often others, innocent of disobeying the rules, are also forced to pay, with life or limb.

He—What do you mean that I should take a memory training course?

She—That will help you to remember that I'm a lady.

The whole heart of the argument is in this statement by some one who sees the problem clearly: "A second-best army, navy, and air force are just as good as a second-best poker hand."

Spring fever is okay—in the right place, at the right time. But it's definitely not okay when walking across a street, or driving a car, or riding a bike. Sheer self-preservation demands that you stay alert, watchful and careful in today's traffic.

There's such a thing in human nature as character. It's not quite the same thing as personality. Generally personality is something you can't help. It comes from good health, good looks and a particular kind of nervous system. Character, on the other hand, is something acquired painstakingly. Personality attracts a lot of curious interest. Character commands respect and admiration.

Gasoline Blues

A man with a speed demon's flair,
Drove his car with a nonchalant air;
He passed the red light
In his too-hurried flight
So he rides in an invalid's chair.

The Santa Fe railway was named for Santa Fe, N. M., but never ran through it. Instead, a spur line of that railroad serves the city.

One way to start a bank account is to live on less than you can afford.

Friend—How are you getting along in your driving?

Woman—Oh, fine; yesterday I went 50 miles an hour, and tomorrow I'm going to try opening my eyes when I pass another car.

The really appalling thing about efforts to maintain traffic safety is that so many persons who become involved in accidents knew they were doing something they shouldn't. They're in a hurry, they become irked at the other fellow, they take a chance—they pay for it. Unhappily, too often others, innocent of disobeying the rules, are also forced to pay, with life or limb.

He—What do you mean that I should take a memory training course?

She—That will help you to remember that I'm a lady.

The whole heart of the argument is in this statement by some one who sees the problem clearly: "A second-best army, navy, and air force are just as good as a second-best poker hand."

Spring fever is okay—in the right place, at the right time. But it's definitely not okay when walking across a street, or driving a car, or riding a bike. Sheer self-preservation demands that you stay alert, watchful and careful in today's traffic.

There's such a thing in human nature as character. It's not quite the same thing as personality. Generally personality is something you can't help. It comes from good health, good looks and a particular kind of nervous system. Character, on the other hand, is something acquired painstakingly. Personality attracts a lot of curious interest. Character commands respect and admiration.

Fashion-Wise Separates End Slapdash

This streamlined gray broadcloth sheath dress by Greta Plattry provides the basis for wardrobe changes that take the wearer through an entire day. It's worn (left) with white pique jib jacket for weekend travel. For informal evening (center) the dress is converted to glamor by yellow organdy double-apron overskirt. For afternoon, there's a gray voile tunic (right) with natural straw belt.

Custom Look For Week-end Wardrobes

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

New York—(NEA)—Separates that are meant for each other are the specialty of designer Greta Plattry, who believes that a wardrobe, though moderately priced, should have an impressive, custom-created look.

The day of slapdash separates, in which a woman put together a white broadcloth skirt, a blue denim skirt and a green sweater, are gone. Denim is strawberry pink or sunflower yellow now and separates are carefully planned to go together.

Week-end wardrobes for summer are favorites with this designer. She has evolved a number of convertibles, each group planned around a basic color and a basic design. In one, she begins with a sleeveless Norfolk jacket of crisp oyster white line and adds brief shorts in seashell brown linen. As an alternate, there's a slim skirt in the same brown linen camisole and yellow organdy overskirt for summer evenings.

Some of these convertible wardrobes are done in black-and-white, others in purple-and-lime, still others in peacock-and-beige.

One wardrobe that begins with a simple sheath dress is in gray, white and yellow. The gray sheath dress, for business or street wear, is topped by a brief white pique jib jacket. As an alternative to this jacket, there's a duster in the white pique that's eye-catching.

For afternoon wear, a gray voile tunic slips over the head and is belted in neatly by a natural straw belt. For informal evenings, the sheath is transformed by a yellow organdy double-apron overskirt.

Colorful Play Is Worth Study

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When pressure of business forced Walter Malowan to withdraw from tournament play a few years ago, the sport lost one of its most colorful competitors. In his heyday Walter was famous for the tight spots that he would get himself into—and for the way he would manage to wriggle out of them.

Malowan held the West cards and had to defend against the diamond slam that had been bid by Waldemar von Zedtwitz and the late great P. Hal Sims. Look it over and see what you think of your chance to beat six diamonds.

Sims, who was playing the hand as declarer, ruffed the opening heart lead in dummy. There were tricks to burn, he saw, if he could only draw trumps and keep the hearts from winning tricks.

He led the ten of diamonds from dummy and let it ride for a finesse. Malowan dropped the seven of diamonds without the flicker of an eyelash.

Sims studied the hand intently and wondered if East had the rest of the diamonds. It looked that way from Malowan's play and from his earlier heart overcall.

So Sims led dummy's remaining trump and finessed the jack from his hand. Thereupon Malowan produced the queen of diamonds and two heart tricks.

Fashion-Wise Separates End Slapdash

This streamlined gray broadcloth sheath dress by Greta Plattry provides the basis for wardrobe changes that take the wearer through an entire day. It's worn (left) with white pique jib jacket for weekend travel. For informal evening (center) the dress is converted to glamor by yellow organdy double-apron overskirt. For afternoon, there's a gray voile tunic (right) with natural straw belt.

Custom Look For Week-end Wardrobes

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

New York—(NEA)—Separates that are meant for each other are the specialty of designer Greta Plattry, who believes that a wardrobe, though moderately priced, should have an impressive, custom-created look.

The day of slapdash separates, in which a woman put together a white broadcloth skirt, a blue denim skirt and a green sweater, are gone. Denim is strawberry pink or sunflower yellow now and separates are carefully planned to go together.

Week-end wardrobes for summer are favorites with this designer. She has evolved a number of convertibles, each group planned around a basic color and a basic design. In one, she begins with a sleeveless Norfolk jacket of crisp oyster white line and adds brief shorts in seashell brown linen. As an alternate, there's a slim skirt in the same brown linen camisole and yellow organdy overskirt for summer evenings.

Some of these convertible wardrobes are done in black-and-white, others in purple-and-lime, still others in peacock-and-beige.

One wardrobe that begins with a simple sheath dress is in gray, white and yellow. The gray sheath dress, for business or street wear, is topped by a brief white pique jib jacket. As an alternative to this jacket, there's a duster in the white pique that's eye-catching.

For afternoon wear, a gray voile tunic slips over the head and is belted in neatly by a natural straw belt. For informal evenings, the sheath is transformed by a yellow organdy double-apron overskirt.

Colorful Play Is Worth Study

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When pressure of business forced Walter Malowan to withdraw from tournament play a few years ago, the sport lost one of its most colorful competitors. In his heyday Walter was famous for the tight spots that he would get himself into—and for the way he would manage to wriggle out of them.

Malowan held the West cards and had to defend against the diamond slam that had been bid by Waldemar von Zedtwitz and the late great P. Hal Sims. Look it over and see what you think of your chance to beat six diamonds.

Sims, who was playing the hand as declarer, ruffed the opening heart lead in dummy. There were tricks to burn, he saw, if he could only draw trumps and keep the hearts from winning tricks.

He led the ten of diamonds from dummy and let it ride for a finesse. Malowan dropped the seven of diamonds without the flicker of an eyelash.

Sims studied the hand intently and wondered if East had the rest of the diamonds. It looked that way from Malowan's play and from his earlier heart overcall.

So Sims led dummy's remaining trump and finessed the jack from his hand. Thereupon Malowan produced the queen of diamonds and two heart tricks.

He led the ten of diamonds from dummy and let it ride for a finesse. Malowan dropped the seven of diamonds without the flicker of an eyelash.

Sims studied the hand intently and wondered if East had the rest of the diamonds. It looked that way from Malowan's play and from his earlier heart overcall.

So Sims led dummy's remaining trump and finessed the jack from his hand. Thereupon Malowan produced the queen of diamonds and two heart tricks.

Colonials Sign Three New Players for Tonight's Game With Oneonta

Outfielder, Pitcher Third Baseman Here

Moving swiftly to check the abysmal slump of the Colonials, Manager Hank Camelli today announced the signing of three new players and the release of two others.

Two of the newcomers—outfielder Anton Gomez and third baseman Robert Oliner—will be in the starting lineup against the Oneonta Red Sox tonight at municipal stadium.

Ismael "Chico" Alvarado, the classy Puerto Rican southpaw who has been pitching in tough luck, will be on the firing line against the Little Red Sox of the Otsego hills.

Oneonta shares the Can-Am lead with the Amsterdam Rugmakers with seven wins and three defeats. The Red Sox have a big, hard-hitting club and a couple of standout batsmen in Johnny Minarchin and "Yogi" Sizza, stocky outfielder who collected eight hits in a two-game set against Kingston at Oneonta.

Gobeo Quits

Charlie Gobeo, of Middletown, a capable outfielder, was given his unconditional release upon request, Manager Camelli said. Charlie injured his back a few days ago and decided to call it quits in organized ball.

The other player to draw the pink slip was pitcher George Sweeney, who just wasn't ready for Class C ball. In 4 1/3 innings, Sweeney had been pounded for 14 hits, he yielded 10 walks and fanned only one batter. Used mainly in relief roles, he was charged with one defeat.

The newcomers:

Robert A. Oliner, 19-year-old Brighton, Mass. high school product; who was recommended by the Boston Braves farm system, Oliner has a chance to nail down a steady berth at the hot corner, since Joel Kirn is being shifted to second base for tonight's contest while Joe Stelmach sits out the game.

Vincent Canapa, 26-year-old right handed pitcher, signed as a free agent. Was with Gloversville briefly at the start of the season. Canapa has had no previous OB experience having pitched independent ball.

Anton Gomez, 23-year-old, right handed hitting and throwing outfielder, purchased from Three Rivers of the Canadian Provincial League. Gomez played 10 games in the Colonial League last season.

Camelli Optimistic

"I think we'll start moving after tonight," Camelli said. "We're not as bad as that 1 and 9 record would indicate. I think our pitching will be adequate with Alvarado, Walter Sullivan, Jack Ormiston, Al Thomas, Charlie Ayers, Vince Canapa and Bob Wenning.

"Ormiston will be a pitcher exclusively from here on out. The outfield experiment didn't pan out so well. (Ormiston compiled an .083 batting mark with only three hits in 24 times at bat).

The transfer of Joel Kern to second base may be a significant move and indicates that the Colonial skipper is about to do something about his overcrowded infield setup. At the moment there are two third basemen—Kern and Oliner—and a couple of shortstops Tom Luce and Carl Harris—on the roster.

"Oliner has third base to himself if he can hold the job," the skipper pointed out. "For the time being, Luce and Harris will fight it out for the shortstop position. Luce, who was sidelined by injuries, is about ready to make a bid to reclaim his old job at the midway."

Kern in Leadoff

The revised batting order will spot Joel Kern in the leadoff position. A good glove man, Kern is hitting only .250 but has a knack of getting on base as his 16 runs scored attest. Carl Harris will bat second, followed by Joe Niro, who is making a steady climb toward the .300 mark. The latest figures show Niro clubbing the agate at a .283 clip, with 13 hits, a double, triple, homer and seven RBIs.

Batting at a .393 pace in his last seven games, Lou Kramberg is the "heavy" man on the club and rightfully deserves the No. 4 slot in the batting order.

Kramberg is up to .286 and shares the RBI lead at 11 with Al Greene. The first sacker will carry a seven-game hitting streak into tonight's game. He is the top power man with a pair of doubles, two triples and two homers to his credit.

Al Greene, who will bat fifth, has made every hit count, driving 11 runners across the plate on 11 blows. He has a pair of doubles, two triples and a homer.

Camelli plans to use Gomez in the sixth spot, followed by Oliner, Allen and the pitcher.

The Colonials will play single games in Gloversville on Sunday and Monday. The Sabbath affair is a daylight contest.

LOU KRAMBERG

Colonial first sacker, who carries a seven-game batting streak into tonight's contest with the Oneonta Red Sox at municipal stadium. A Smart Cookie This Richards

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

"I don't pick anybody to beat the White Sox." That's how Paul Richards, manager of the Chicago White Sox, sized up the American League race opening day.

So far he's right.

Chicago's freshman manager is proving he can win the majors as well as in the minors. Richards served a brilliant minor league apprenticeship that included stops at Atlanta, Buffalo and Seattle.

A manager of the John McGraw school, the driving leader has his White Sox in the thick of the American League pennant race.

Hailed as a developer of pitchers, especially in the case of Detroit's Hal Newhouser, Richards also is gaining recognition as a smart hombre when it comes to trading.

Richards was firmly behind last winter's trade that sent starting pitchers Ray Scarborough and Bill Wight to the Boston Red Sox for outfielder Al Zarilla and pitchers Joe Dobson and Dick Littlefield.

"There goes the pennant," groaned the rival American League clubs. So far, Richards has come out on top in that deal.

Zarilla Clicks

Zarilla plugged a gap in rightfield and today is tied for the league lead with 18 runs batted in.

Dobson failed to impress until last night when he missed turning in the second no-hit no-run game of the season. Scarborough has only one victory to show and Wight has failed to crash the winner's circle, losing three decisions.

Dobson, 34-year-old righthander, pitched the Sox into a third-place tie with Cleveland by beating the Indians, 12-1, before 17,138 fans at Commiskey Park.

Dobson had a no-hitter until the eighth inning when pinch-hitter Bob Avila broke the spell with a two-out double. The Indians scored in the ninth on two walks and an error on a potential double play ball.

The Sox hammered Early Wynn, Steve Gromek and George Zuverink for 14 hits, wrapping up the decision with a seven-run spree in the seventh off Gromek. Ed Robinson, former Indian, featured the explosion with a two-run homer. Orestes Minoso drove in two runs on three hits.

Dizzy Trout turned in his first victory of the season as the Detroit Tigers humbled the Browns, 7-1, under the lights at St. Louis.

Trout scattered four St. Louis hits, fanned seven and walked three. Vic Wertz led the Tiger attack, driving in four runs, three on a home run in the seventh inning.

The Chicago Cubs treated Cliff Chambers like a semi-pro pitcher as they pounded the Pittsburgh Pirates, 10-4, in the only game played in the National League.

Chambers, making his first start since his no hitter, yielded three runs on four hits in two innings. The Cubs continued their assault against four relief pitchers, piling up 14 hits.

Andy Pafko paced the Chicago drive, banging out his seventh and eighth home runs. Pafko also upped his runs batted in to 22, tops in the majors.

SEASON'S ONLY "200" BOWLER

Richard "Dick" Howard, above, was the only bowler in the Kingston Bowling Association to compile a "200" average during the 1950-51 season. Dashin' Dick achieved that coveted honor in the Ferraro Major League, going over the mark by 15 pins with a 200.15 figure for 81 games. The "200" average, with the exception of Johnny Ferraro, is a rare accomplishment in local bowling. The closest competitors were at least seven points off the pace. Howard's top marks were 268 and 689. (Freeman Photo)

ABC Hikes Dues; Has "300" Game

St. Paul, Minn., May 12 (AP)—Several changes were made in the American Bowling Congress constitution and by-laws at the annual convention of delegates here yesterday.

Chief among them was the raising of membership fees from 30 cents to 50 cents per bowler. The ABC had requested the increase to care for its expanded service program. The ABC embraces 1,500,000 members.

City associations were also given the option of using an individual or team membership plan. Another amendment provides for ABC sanction for singles and doubles tournaments upon application.

Chicago was officially awarded the 1953 tournament. It will mark the golden anniversary of the ABC, the first tourney having taken place in Chicago in 1903. The 1954 tourney city will be formally announced at the 1952 convention in Milwaukee.

John J. Canelli of Toledo, O., was named president of the ABC, succeeding John L. Sullivan of Louisville, Ky. Frank Baker of Milwaukee, who has been serving the organization as assistant secretary, was named to the office of secretary-treasurer.

Baker succeeds Elmer Baumgarten of Milwaukee, who had held the position of secretary since 1932, and Treasurer James A. Wilson of New York City. Baumgarten was named secretary emeritus and Wilson was named treasurer emeritus.

Meanwhile on the actual bowling front, the first perfect 300 game in six years was recorded when Vince Lucci of Trenton, N. J., performed the feat in the second game of his doubles competition. It was the 11th in the 48-year history of the tourney. Lucci wound up with a 734 count, the second high individual series of the tourney.

Colonel Clicks

Pelham Manor, N. Y., May 12—Colonel John B. Grier, Rockland, Del., won the National Doubles Trapshooting championship yesterday. He broke 95 of 100 clay targets as the three-day amateur trapshooting championships got under way at the New York Athletic Club's Travers Island range.

The weekly Saturday night Rhinebeck Speedway races will offer stock cars tonight in the second event of the season. Bob Disbrow of midget racing fame will make his debut in the stock car field. Ferrier Half Way Leader at Greenbrier

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., May 12 (AP)—"This $1,500 won't be credited to Jim Ferrier in the PGA list of leading money winners, will it?" asked a spectator at the Greenbrier Open.

"No, but he can spend it just the same," replied a friend.

The 72-hole tourney is only half over, but the gallery already is spending the first prize money for Ferrier—the deft golfer from San Francisco.

The winner of three winter tournaments with second place links earnings of $11,254 enjoys a lead of three strokes going into the third round today.

He shot the best score for the second straight time yesterday, a 67 which Sam Snead matched to pull into second place on his home course.

Hollywood—Lonnie Malone, 176, Los Angeles, knocked out Dean Hubbard, 177, Reno, 8.

Event Scheduled May 26 at Stadium

The Ulster county office of the Catholic Youth Organization today announced plans for a track meet on Saturday, May 26, as a memorial to the late Father Henry E. Herdegen of St. Peter's Church.

The meet will be open to all CYO athletes in Ulster county.

Bill Mahoney has been named chairman of the committee in charge.

Father Herdegen was responsible for bringing CYO programs to Ulster county.

The seven events on the program are open to boys in three weight classes. Class A—boys under 80 pounds; Class B—80 to 100 pounds; and Class C—over 100 pounds.

Class A events will include a 50-yard dash; 200-yard dash; 60-yard low hurdles; 220-yard relay; broad jump, high jump and the 8-pound shotput. Class B and C events are listed as 75-yard dash; 200 and 300-yard dashes; 60-yard low hurdles; 440-yard relays; broad jump, high jump and the eight-pound shotput.

Trophy By Hospital

Invitations have been extended to all grammar school boys of every parish in the county. Entry blanks are available at all rectories and from CYO moderators; also at the county director's office at 23 West Pierpont street.

The Father Herdegen Memorial Trophy has been set up as a tribute to the memory of Father Herdegen by the patients of the Ulster County Hospital. Father Herdegen at one time was a director and chaplain of the hospital. The trophy will be awarded to the parish having the greatest number of points for all events. It is a permanent trophy and must be won three times to be retired.

Entries for the track meet close on Tuesday, May 22, at the Ulster county CYO office.

Cartier Upsets Silent Hairston

New York, May 12 (AP)—"No guts, eh? So I can't take it? I showed 'em, I showed 'em. I had to do it. I knew I could. I had to win this one if it was the last thing I ever did."

Walter Cartier was talking, stretched on a table in his dressing room. He had just beaten Eugene (Silent) Hairston on a split 10-round decision after being knocked down twice for nine in the first two rounds.

At the end of the brawl, Hairston was down for an eight-count He was just trying to get up when the last bell rang. That knockdown and three rounds taken away from Hairston on fouls gave Cartier the nod in the first Madison Square Garden fight since the circus left.

When Cartier withdrew from a December date with Hairston they said he was running out, questioned his courage. But he wound up in the hospital with pneumonia. This was his first comeback start. He had beaten Hairston back in 1940 but the Silent One had improved vastly since.

Wants Robinson

"Now I want Ray Robinson for the title," he spouted.

"Take it easy, Walt," said brother Vincent, a lawyer. "Everybody but Robinson."

"No anybody but," said Cartier. "I want Robinson."

Although Cartier was sliced over the right eye and cut on the left ear, Cohen says he'll be ready by June 8. Irving hopes to land a Garden date with Rocky Castellani, who knocked out Cartier in 1948.

The Hairston camp was upset by the decision. Referee Mark Conn voted for the Negro deaf mute from the Bronx, 5-4-1. Judge Harold Barnes found for Cartier 5-4-1 and Judge Bill Healy 6-4 the same way. The AP agreed with Barnes. Conn took three rounds away from Hairston for low blows.

"He only hit him low twice," said Mike Miele, Hairston's manager. "How about Cartier hitting him low twice and once on the back of the neck. He didn't say a thing. We can't get a break in our home town. I give Cartier only two rounds."

Colonials Sign Three New Players for Tonight's Game With Oneonta

Outfielder, Pitcher Third Baseman Here

Moving swiftly to check the abysmal slump of the Colonials, Manager Hank Camelli today announced the signing of three new players and the release of two others.

Two of the newcomers—outfielder Anton Gomez and third baseman Robert Oliner—will be in the starting lineup against the Oneonta Red Sox tonight at municipal stadium.

Ismael "Chico" Alvarado, the classy Puerto Rican southpaw who has been pitching in tough luck, will be on the firing line against the Little Red Sox of the Otsego hills.

Oneonta shares the Can-Am lead with the Amsterdam Rugmakers with seven wins and three defeats. The Red Sox have a big, hard-hitting club and a couple of standout batsmen in Johnny Minarchin and "Yogi" Sizza, stocky outfielder who collected eight hits in a two-game set against Kingston at Oneonta.

Probable Lineups For Tonight

COLONIALS	ONEONTA
Kern, 2b	Guttilla, ss
Harris, ss	Karl, 2b
Niro, rf	Getgen, 3b
Kramberg, 1b	Spence, rf
Greene, cf	Minarchin, cf
Gomez, lf	Zizza, lf
Oliner, 3b	Atwood, c
Allen, c	Shuck, 1b
Alvarado, p	Lipka, p

Gobeo Quits

Charlie Gobeo, of Middletown, a capable outfielder, was given his unconditional release upon request, Manager Camelli said. Charlie injured his back a few days ago and decided to call it quits in organized ball.

The other player to draw the pink slip was pitcher George Sweeney, who just wasn't ready for Class C ball. In 4 1/3 innings, Sweeney had been pounded for 14 hits, he yielded 10 walks and fanned only one batter. Used mainly in relief roles, he was charged with one defeat.

The newcomers:

Robert A. Oliner, 19-year-old Brighton, Mass. high school product; who was recommended by the Boston Braves farm system, Oliner has a chance to nail down a steady berth at the hot corner, since Joel Kirn is being shifted to second base for tonight's contest while Joe Stelmach sits out the game.

Vincent Canapa, 26-year-old right handed pitcher, signed as a free agent. Was with Gloversville briefly at the start of the season. Canapa has had no previous OB experience having pitched independent ball.

Anton Gomez, 23-year-old, right handed hitting and throwing outfielder, purchased from Three Rivers of the Canadian Provincial League. Gomez played 10 games in the Colonial League last season.

Camelli Optimistic

"I think we'll start moving after tonight," Camelli said. "We're not as bad as that 1 and 9 record would indicate. I think our pitching will be adequate with Alvarado, Walter Sullivan, Jack Ormiston, Al Thomas, Charlie Ayers, Vince Canapa and Bob Wenning.

"Ormiston will be a pitcher exclusively from here on out. The outfield experiment didn't pan out so well. (Ormiston compiled an .083 batting mark with only three hits in 24 times at bat).

The transfer of Joel Kern to second base may be a significant move and indicates that the Colonial skipper is about to do something about his overcrowded infield setup. At the moment there are two third basemen—Kern and Oliner—and a couple of shortstops Tom Luce and Carl Harris—on the roster.

"Oliner has third base to himself if he can hold the job," the skipper pointed out. "For the time being, Luce and Harris will fight it out for the shortstop position. Luce, who was sidelined by injuries, is about ready to make a bid to reclaim his old job at the midway."

Kern in Leadoff

The revised batting order will spot Joel Kern in the leadoff position. A good glove man, Kern is hitting only .250 but has a knack of getting on base as his 16 runs scored attest. Carl Harris will bat second, followed by Joe Niro, who is making a steady climb toward the .300 mark. The latest figures show Niro clubbing the agate at a .283 clip, with 13 hits, a double, triple, homer and seven RBIs.

Batting at a .393 pace in his last seven games, Lou Kramberg is the "heavy" man on the club and rightfully deserves the No. 4 slot in the batting order.

Kramberg is up to .286 and shares the RBI lead at 11 with Al Greene. The first sacker will carry a seven-game hitting streak into tonight's game. He is the top power man with a pair of doubles, two triples and two homers to his credit.

Al Greene, who will bat fifth, has made every hit count, driving 11 runners across the plate on 11 blows. He has a pair of doubles, two triples and a homer.

Camelli plans to use Gomez in the sixth spot, followed by Oliner, Allen and the pitcher.

TOP SLUGGER

LOU KRAMBERG

Colonial first sacker, who carries a seven-game batting streak into tonight's contest with the Oneonta Red Sox at municipal stadium. Kramberg is hitting .286 with two doubles, two triples, two homers and 11 RBIs. A right handed hitter and thrower, he is also flashing improved glove work at the initial sack.

RUN FOR EVERY HIT

A Smart Cookie This Richards

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

"I don't pick anybody to beat the White Sox." That's how Paul Richards, manager of the Chicago White Sox, sized up the American League race opening day.

So far he's right.

Chicago's freshman manager is proving he can win the majors as well as in the minors. Richards served a brilliant minor league apprenticeship that included stops at Atlanta, Buffalo and Seattle.

A manager of the John McGraw school, the driving leader has his White Sox in the thick of the American League pennant race.

Hailed as a developer of pitchers, especially in the case of Detroit's Hal Newhouser, Richards also is gaining recognition as a smart hombre when it comes to trading.

Richards was firmly behind last winter's trade that sent starting pitchers Ray Scarborough and Bill Wight to the Boston Red Sox for outfielder Al Zarilla and pitchers Joe Dobson and Dick Littlefield.

"There goes the pennant," groaned the rival American League clubs. So far, Richards has come out on top in that deal.

Zarilla Clicks

Zarilla plugged a gap in rightfield and today is tied for the league lead with 18 runs batted in.

Dobson failed to impress until last night when he missed turning in the second no-hit no-run game of the season. Scarborough has only one victory to show and Wight has failed to crash the winner's circle, losing three decisions.

Dobson, 34-year-old righthander, pitched the Sox into a third-place tie with Cleveland by beating the Indians, 12-1, before 17,-138 fans at Commiskey Park.

Dobson had a no-hitter until the eighth inning when pinch-hitter Bob Avila broke the spell with a two-out double. The Indians scored in the ninth on two walks and an error on a potential double play ball.

The Sox hammered Early Wynn, Steve Gromek and George Zuverink for 14 hits, wrapping up the decision with a seven-run spree in the seventh off Gromek. Ed Robinson, former Indian, featured the explosion with a two-run homer. Orestes Minoso drove in two runs on three hits.

Dizzy Trout turned in his first victory of the season as the Detroit Tigers humbled the Browns, 7-1, under the lights at St. Louis.

Trout scattered four St. Louis hits, fanned seven and walked three. Vic Wertz led the Tiger attack, driving in four runs, three on a home run in the seventh inning.

The Chicago Cubs treated Cliff Chambers like a semi-pro pitcher as they pounded the Pittsburgh Pirates, 10-4, in the only game played in the National League.

Chambers, making his first start since his no hitter, yielded three runs on four hits in two innings. The Cubs continued their assault against four relief pitchers, piling up 14 hits.

Andy Pafko paced the Chicago drive, banging out his seventh and eighth home runs. Pafko also upped his runs batted in to 22, tops in the majors.

SEASON'S ONLY "200" BOWLER

Richard "Dick" Howard, above, was the only bowler in the Kingston Bowling Association to compile a "200" average during the 1950-51 season. Dashin' Dick achieved that coveted honor in the Ferraro Major League, going over the mark by 15 pins with a 200.15 figure for 81 games. The "200" average, with the exception of Johnny Ferraro, is a rare accomplishment in local bowling. The closest competitors were at least seven points off the pace. Howard's top marks were 268 and 689. (Freeman Photo)

ABC Hikes Dues; Has "300" Game

St. Paul, Minn., May 12 (AP)—Several changes were made in the American Bowling Congress constitution and by-laws at the annual convention of delegates here yesterday.

Chief among them was the raising of membership fees from 30 cents to 50 cents per bowler. The ABC had requested the increase to care for its expanded service program. The ABC embraces 1,500,000 members.

City associations were also given the option of using an individual or team membership plan. Another amendment provides for ABC sanction for singles and doubles tournaments upon application.

Chicago was officially awarded the 1953 tournament. It will mark the golden anniversary of the ABC, the first tourney having taken place in Chicago in 1903. The 1954 tourney city will be formally announced at the 1952 convention in Milwaukee.

John J. Canelli of Toledo, O., was named president of the ABC, succeeding John L. Sullivan of Louisville, Ky. Frank Baker of Milwaukee, who has been serving the organization as assistant secretary, was named to the office of secretary-treasurer.

Baker succeeds Elmer Baumgarten of Milwaukee, who had held the position of secretary since 1932, and Treasurer James A. Wilson of New York City. Baumgarten was named secretary emeritus and Wilson was named treasurer emeritus.

Meanwhile on the actual bowling front, the first perfect 300 game in six years was recorded when Vince Lucci of Trenton, N. J., performed the feat in the second game of his doubles competition. It was the 11th in the 48-year history of the tourney. Lucci wound up with a 734 count, the second high individual series of the tourney.

Pelham Manor, N. Y., May 12—Colonel John B. Grier, Rockland, Del., won the National Doubles Trapshooting championship yesterday. He broke 95 of 100 clay targets as the three-day amateur trapshooting championships got under way at the New York Athletic Club's Travers Island range.

Ferrier Half Way Leader at Greenbrier

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., May 12 (AP)—"This $1,500 won't be credited to Jim Ferrier in the PGA list of leading money winners, will it?" asked a spectator at the Greenbrier Open.

"No, but he can spend it just the same," replied a friend.

The 72-hole tourney is only half over, but the gallery already is spending the first prize money for Ferrier—the deft golfer from San Francisco.

The winner of three winter tournaments with second place links earnings of $11,254 enjoys a lead of three strokes going into the third round today.

He shot the best score for the second straight time yesterday, a 67 which Sam Snead matched to pull into second place on his home course.

Hollywood—Lonnie Malone, 176, Los Angeles, knocked out Dean Hubbard, 177, Reno, 8.

Father Herdegen was responsible for bringing CYO programs to Ulster county.

The seven events on the program are open to boys in three weight classes. Class A—boys under 80 pounds; Class B—80 to 100 pounds; and Class C—over 100 pounds.

Class A events will include a 50-yard dash; 200-yard dash; 60-yard low hurdles; 220-yard relay; broad jump, high jump and the 8-pound shotput. Class B and C events are listed as 75-yard dash; 200 and 300-yard dashes; 60-yard low hurdles; 440-yard relays; broad jump, high jump and the eight-pound shotput.

The Father Herdegen Memorial Trophy has been set up as a tribute to the memory of Father Herdegen by the patients of the Ulster County Hospital. Father Herdegen at one time was a director and chaplain of the hospital. The trophy will be awarded to the parish having the greatest number of points for all events. It is a permanent trophy and must be won three times to be retired.

Entries for the track meet close on Tuesday, May 22, at the Ulster county CYO office.

Cartier Upsets Silent Hairston

New York, May 12 (AP)—"No guts, eh? So I can't take it? I showed 'em. I showed 'em. I had to do it. I knew I could. I had to win this one if it was the last thing I ever did."

Walter Cartier was talking, stretched on a table in his dressing room. He had just beaten Eugene (Silent) Hairston on a split 10-round decision after being knocked down twice for nine in the first two rounds.

At the end of the brawl, Hairston was down for an eight-count He was just trying to get up when the last bell rang. That knockdown and three rounds taken away from Hairston on fouls gave Cartier the nod in the first Madison Square Garden fight since the circus left.

When Cartier withdrew from a December date with Hairston they said he was running out, questioned his courage. But he wound up in the hospital with pneumonia. This was his first comeback start. He had beaten Hairston back in 1940 but the Silent One had improved vastly since.

"Now I want Ray Robinson for the title," he spouted.

"Take it easy, Walt," said brother Vincent, a lawyer. "Nobody but Robinson."

"No anybody but," said Cartier. "I want Robinson."

Although Cartier was sliced over the right eye and cut on the left ear, Cohen says he'll be ready by June 8. Irving hopes to land a Garden date with Rocky Castellani, who knocked out Cartier in 1948.

The Hairston camp was upset by the decision. Referee Mark Conn voted for the Negro deaf mute from the Bronx, 5-4-1. Judge Harold Barnes found for Cartier 5-4-1 and Judge Bill Healy 6-4 the same way. The AP agreed with Barnes. Conn took three rounds away from Hairston for low blows.

"He only hit him low twice," said Mike Miele, Hairston's manager. "How about Cartier hitting him low twice and once on the back of the neck. He didn't say a thing. We can't get a break in our home town. I give Cartier only two rounds."

Colonials Sign Three New Players for Tonight's Game With Oneonta

Outfielder, Pitcher Third Baseman Here

Moving swiftly to check the abysmal slump of the Colonials, Manager Hank Camelli today announced the signing of three new players and the release of two others.

Two of the newcomers—outfielder Anton Gomez and third baseman Robert Oliner—will be in the starting lineup against the Oneonta Red Sox tonight at municipal stadium.

Ismael "Chico" Alvarado, the classy Puerto Rican southpaw who has been pitching in tough luck, will be on the firing line against the Little Red Sox of the Otsego hills.

Oneonta shares the Can-Am lead with the Amsterdam Rugmakers with seven wins and three defeats. The Red Sox have a big, hard-hitting club and a couple of standout batsmen in Johnny Minarchin and "Yogi" Sizza, stocky outfielder who collected eight hits in a two-game set against Kingston at Oneonta.

Probable Lineups For Tonight

COLONIALS	ONEONTA
Kern, 2b	Guttilla, ss
Harris, ss	Karl, 2b
Niro, rf	Getgen, 3b
Kramberg, 1b	Spence, rf
Greene, cf	Minarchin, cf
Gomez, lf	Zizza, lf
Oliner, 3b	Atwood, c
Allen, c	Shuck, 1b
Alvarado, p	Lipka, p

Gobeo Quits

Charlie Gobeo, of Middletown, a capable outfielder, was given his unconditional release upon request, Manager Camelli said. Charlie injured his back a few days ago and decided to call it quits in organized ball.

The other player to draw the pink slip was pitcher George Sweeney, who just wasn't ready for Class C ball. In 4 1/3 innings, Sweeney had been pounded for 14 hits, he yielded 10 walks and fanned only one batter. Used mainly in relief roles, he was charged with one defeat.

The newcomers:

Robert A. Oliner, 19-year-old Brighton, Mass. high school product; who was recommended by the Boston Braves farm system, Oliner has a chance to nail down a steady berth at the hot corner, since Joel Kirn is being shifted to second base for tonight's contest while Joe Stelmach sits out the game.

Vincent Canapa, 26-year-old right handed pitcher, signed as a free agent. Was with Gloversville briefly at the start of the season. Canapa has had no previous OB experience having pitched independent ball.

Anton Gomez, 23-year-old, right handed hitting and throwing outfielder, purchased from Three Rivers of the Canadian Provincial League. Gomez played 10 games in the Colonial League last season.

Camelli Optimistic

"I think we'll start moving after tonight," Camelli said. "We're not as bad as that 1 and 9 record would indicate. I think our pitching will be adequate with Alvarado, Walter Sullivan, Jack Ormiston, Al Thomas, Charlie Ayers, Vince Canapa and Bob Wenning.

"Ormiston will be a pitcher exclusively from here on out. The outfield experiment didn't pan out so well. (Ormiston compiled an .083 batting mark with only three hits in 24 times at bat).

The transfer of Joel Kern to second base may be a significant move and indicates that the Colonial skipper is about to do something about his overcrowded infield setup. At the moment there are two third basemen—Kern and Oliner—and a couple of shortstops Tom Luce and Carl Harris—on the roster.

"Oliner has third base to himself if he can hold the job," the skipper pointed out. "For the time being, Luce and Harris will fight it out for the shortstop position. Luce, who was sidelined by injuries, is about ready to make a bid to reclaim his old job at the midway."

Kern in Leadoff

The revised batting order will spot Joel Kern in the leadoff position. A good glove man, Kern is hitting only .250 but has a knack of getting on base as his 16 runs scored attest. Carl Harris will bat second, followed by Joe Niro, who is making a steady climb toward the .300 mark. The latest figures show Niro clubbing the agate at a .283 clip, with 13 hits, a double, triple, homer and seven RBIs.

Batting at a .393 pace in his last seven games, Lou Kramberg is the "heavy" man on the club and rightfully deserves the No. 4 slot in the batting order.

Kramberg is up to .286 and shares the RBI lead at 11 with Al Greene. The first sacker will carry a seven-game hitting streak into tonight's game. He is the top power man with a pair of doubles, two triples and two homers to his credit.

Al Greene, who will bat fifth, has made every hit count, driving 11 runners across the plate on 11 blows. He has a pair of doubles, two triples and a homer.

Camelli plans to use Gomez in the sixth spot, followed by Oliner, Allen and the pitcher.

Indian Honored

Hanover, N. H., May 12 (AP)—Paul Staley of Scarsdale, N. Y., captain of last season's varsity football team, last night was awarded the Dartmouth Cup, the college's highest athletic honor. It is voted annually to "the senior athlete who on and off the field reflects the greatest credit to Dartmouth College."

Wyn Moves In

Yonkers, N. Y., May 12 (AP)—Direct Wyn moved up fast on the outside in the stretch last night to win the feature $5,000 Rye Pace before 13,378 rain-drenched Yonkers Raceway fans. The winner, driven by Jimmy Jordan, beat Tokyo Express by three quarters of a length and was timed in 2:08 over the sloppy track. Direct Wyn paid $9.90, $4.40 and $3.60.

Modjeska Posts 78 In U. S. Trapshoot

Ed Modjeska, veteran Tillson trapshoot expert, failed to place among the leaders in the 42nd United States Amateur Trapshoot championships, yesterday at Travers Island. He posted a 78. The winner was Col. John B. Grier of Rockland, Del., who posted a perfect score of 100. Ben Higginson, the Newburgh expert, had a score of 90.

TOP SLUGGER

LOU KRAMBERG

Colonial first sacker, who carries a seven-game batting streak into tonight's contest with the Oneonta Red Sox at municipal stadium. Kramberg is hitting .286 with two doubles, two triples, two homers and 11 RBIs. A right handed hitter and thrower, he is also flashing improved glove work at the initial sack.

RUN FOR EVERY HIT

AL GREENE

Although he is batting only .250 at the moment, centerfielder Al Greene of the Colonials, shows an RBI for every hit he has made to date—11 of them. Twice in the last four outings, Greene has collected three hits in a single game.

A Smart Cookie This Richards

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

"I don't pick anybody to beat the White Sox." That's how Paul Richards, manager of the Chicago White Sox, sized up the American League race opening day.

So far he's right.

Chicago's freshman manager is proving he can win the majors as well as in the minors. Richards served a brilliant minor league apprenticeship that included stops at Atlanta, Buffalo and Seattle.

A manager of the John McGraw school, the driving leader has his White Sox in the thick of the American League pennant race.

Hailed as a developer of pitchers, especially in the case of Detroit's Hal Newhouser, Richards also is gaining recognition as a smart hombre when it comes to trading.

Richards was firmly behind last winter's trade that sent starting pitchers Ray Scarborough and Bill Wight to the Boston Red Sox for outfielder Al Zarilla and pitchers Joe Dobson and Dick Littlefield.

"There goes the pennant," groaned the rival American League clubs. So far, Richards has come out on top in that deal.

Zarilla Clicks

Zarilla plugged a gap in right-field and today is tied for the league lead with 18 runs batted in.

Dobson failed to impress until last night when he missed turning in the second no-hit no-run game of the season. Scarborough has only one victory to show and Wight has failed to crash the winner's circle, losing three decisions.

Dobson, 34-year-old righthander, pitched the Sox into a third-place tie with Cleveland by beating the Indians, 12-1, before 17,138 fans at Commiskey Park.

Dobson had a no-hitter until the eighth inning when pinch-hitter Bob Avila broke the spell with a two-out double. The Indians scored in the ninth on two walks and an error on a potential double play ball.

The Sox hammered Early Wynn, Steve Gromek and George Zuverink for 14 hits, wrapping up the decision with a seven-run spree in the seventh off Gromek. Ed Robinson, former Indian, featured the explosion with a two-run homer. Orestes Minoso drove in two runs on three hits.

Dizzy Trout turned in his first victory of the season as the Detroit Tigers humbled the Browns, 7-1, under the lights at St. Louis.

Trout scattered four St. Louis hits, fanned seven and walked three. Vic Wertz led the Tiger attack, driving in four runs, three on a home run in the seventh inning.

The Chicago Cubs treated Cliff Chambers like a semi-pro pitcher as they pounded the Pittsburgh Pirates, 10-4, in the only game played in the National League.

Chambers, making his first start since his no hitter, yielded three runs on four hits in two innings. The Cubs continued their assault against four relief pitchers, piling up 14 hits.

Andy Pafko paced the Chicago drive, banging out his seventh and eighth home runs. Pafko also upped his runs batted in to 22, tops in the majors.

SEASON'S ONLY "200" BOWLER

City Keglerettes In State Tourney

Kingston's delegation of 32 teams will compete in the New York State Women's bowling championships tonight in Binghamton. This is the largest group of bowlers ever to represent the city in an outside tournament. Included in the group are three defending champions: Elizabeth Schoonmaker in Class C singles; and Evelyn Dolson and Mathilde Bruck in the B doubles. The singles and doubles are scheduled Sunday.

ABC Hikes Dues; Has "300" Game

St. Paul, Minn., May 12 (AP)—Several changes were made in the American Bowling Congress constitution and by-laws at the annual convention of delegates here yesterday.

Chief among them was the raising of membership fees from 30 cents to 50 cents per bowler. The ABC had requested the increase to care for its expanded service program. The ABC embraces 1,500,000 members.

City associations were also given the option of using an individual or team membership plan. Another amendment provides for ABC sanction for singles and doubles tournaments upon application.

Chicago was officially awarded the 1953 tournament. It will mark the golden anniversary of the ABC, the first tourney having taken place in Chicago in 1903. The 1954 tourney city will be formally announced at the 1952 convention in Milwaukee.

John J. Canelli of Toledo, O., was named president of the ABC, succeeding John L. Sullivan of Louisville, Ky. Frank Baker of Milwaukee, who has been serving the organization as assistant secretary, was named to the office of secretary-treasurer.

Baker succeeds Elmer Baumgarten of Milwaukee, who had held the position of secretary since 1932, and Treasurer James A. Wilson of New York City. Baumgarten was named secretary emeritus and Wilson was named treasurer emeritus.

Meanwhile on the actual bowling front, the first perfect 300 game in six years was recorded when Vince Lucci of Trenton, N. J., performed the feat in the second game of his doubles competition. It was the 11th in the 48-year history of the tourney. Lucci wound up with a 734 count, the second high individual series of the tourney.

Cartier Upsets Silent Hairston

New York, May 12 (AP)—"No guts, eh? So I can't take it? I showed 'em, I showed 'em, I had to do it. I knew I could. I had to win this one if it was the last thing I ever did."

Walter Cartier was talking, stretched on a table in his dressing room. He had just beaten Eugene (Silent) Hairston on a split 10-round decision after being knocked down twice for nine in the first two rounds.

At the end of the brawl, Hairston was down for an eight-count He was just trying to get up when the last bell rang. That knockdown and three rounds taken away from Hairston on fouls gave Cartier the nod in the first Madison Square Garden fight since the circus left.

When Cartier withdrew from a December date with Hairston they said he was running out, questioned his courage. But he wound up in the hospital with pneumonia. This was his first comeback start. He had beaten Hairston back in 1940 but the Silent One had improved vastly since.

Wants Robinson

"Now I want Ray Robinson for the title," he spouted

"Take it easy, Walt," said brother Vincent, a lawyer, "nobody but Robinson."

"No anybody but," said Cartier, "I want Robinson."

Although Cartier was sliced over the right eye and cut on the left ear, Cohen says he'll be ready by June 8. Irving hopes to land a Garden date with Rocky Castellani, who knocked out Cartier in 1948.

The Hairston camp was upset by the decision. Referee Mark Conn voted for the Negro deaf mute from the Bronx, 5-4-1, Judge Harold Barnes found for Cartier 5-4-1 and Judge Bill Healy 6-4 the same way. The AP agreed with Barnes. Conn took three rounds away from Hairston for low blows.

"He only hit him low twice," said Mike Miele, Hairston's manager. "How about Cartier hitting him low twice and once on the back of the neck. He didn't say a thing. We can't get a break in our home town. I give Cartier only two rounds."

Ferrier Half Way Leader at Greenbrier

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., May 12 (AP)—"This $1,500 won't be credited to Jim Ferrier in the PGA list of leading money winners, will it?" asked a spectator at the Greenbrier Open.

"No, but he can spend it just the same," replied a friend.

The 72-hole tourney is only half over, but the gallery already is spending the first prize money for Ferrier—the deft golfer from San Francisco.

The winner of three winter tournaments with second place links earnings of $11,254 enjoys a lead of three strokes going into the third round today.

He shot the best score for the second straight time yesterday, a 67 which Sam Snead matched to pull into second place on his home course.

Ferrier had an open 64 for a 36-hole total of 131, and it was Snead's second 67 for 134. Ben Hogan was another three strokes behind Snead with 68-69—137. Bunched next at 138 are Bob Hamilton of Evansville, Ind., Jim Turnesa of Briarcliff, N. Y., and Al Brosch of Garden City, N. Y.

the same situation prevailed before the Reds launched their first spring offensive April 22.

"Two days before they hit us we saw quite a few of them," the officer said. "The day before they struck we couldn't find any. Then the attack came."

Even the same tell-tale fires preceded the first Red assault.

That drive came to a halt 10 days after it began. The Reds suffered 75,000 casualties.

United Nations pilots reported they killed nearly 400 Reds in a fire-bomb attack on a Red build-up area near Kapyong.

U. S. B-29 Superforts hit Red airfields in North Korea Saturday for the eighth consecutive day.

Twelve American F-86 Sabre jets clashed with 16 Russian-type MIG-15 jets over northwest Korea Saturday, damaged one and drove the rest back across the border into their Manchurian sanctuary.

All the American jets returned safely to their base.

Allied fliers attacked at least 300 Red vehicles moving toward the front Friday night. More than two-thirds were headed for the central front buildup area. Pilots said they destroyed more than 80 vehicles.

be consulted in the treaty negotiations as Britain proposed last month.

3. Britain is willing now to postpone indefinitely the question whether Formosa should go to Red China. Morrison told the House of Commons that before there is a decision the Korean conflict must end, and the Formosan people themselves and the UN consulted.

The British still feel bound by the 1943 Cairo Conference to return Formosa to China. To London, this logically means Red China. The British recognize the Peiping regime, not the Nationalist government of Chiang Kai-shek.

Won't Give Island to Reds

American policy, on the other hand, is dead set against giving the island to the Communists. Some officials believe a UN trusteeship might be the eventual way out.

Morrison made plain Britain now is willing to leave the question open indefinitely and will not press the original proposal to insert a pledge in the peace treaty to turn the island over to China.

Want to Know . . .

the area of Korea through expansion of our military operations to his coastal areas and interior bases would doom Red China to the risk of imminent military collapse."

Blames Statement

Marshall has testified that the 13 other United Nations members which have troops in Korea "instantly" broke off discussion of settlement terms as a result of that MacArthur statement. He said it wiped out any chance for a settlement at that time.

Knowland produced a memorandum which he described as not official but based on "some of the (settlement) terms and conditions I had been given to understand were the subject of discussion."

He asked Marshall whether the information was correct, and the secretary replied that "none of them awakened any memory of mine."

Included among the purported proposals Knowland read was a suggestion that the United States would be "enabled without any prejudices" to accept a majority vote of the U. N. Security Council to seat Red China in the U.N.

Another point in the memorandum was that "preliminary soundings apparently make Nehru (prime minister of India) hopeful" that Communist China would not insist "on the immediate liquidation of Chiang Kai-shek if secretly assured it will follow in the course of time."

Won't Give Up Formosa

Marshall has declared that this country should "never yield" to any pressure to give Red China a UN seat, and that the Island of Formosa — Chiang's Nationalist headquarters — never should be handed over to the Reds.

Knowland and Senator Morse (R.-Ore.) said Marshall's hazy memory about the settlement terms the administration actually had in mind in March make it imperative that an outline of them be supplied to the joint committee.

Senator Russell (D.-Ga.), the committee chairman, said he would ask that such an outline be provided Marshall said it was available at the State Department and probably could be "made a matter of at least confidential evidence" with Mr. Truman's approval.

If the President approves, the material may not be supplied until Secretary of State Acheson testifies—and that may be some time from now at the rate the inquiry has been moving.

Republicans See

asserted repeatedly that he is not a candidate for the presidential nomination.

He has many boosters for the presidency, including Governor Dewey of New York, who was the Republican candidate for president in 1944 and 1948.

Early in his talk Senator Millikin brought the Republicans to a standing ovation with the mention of MacArthur's name at a "senatorial dinner."

The Colorado senator cracked down vigorously on the Truman administration, which he accused of "alarming and dividing our people when the need for unity is greatest." He said MacArthur's ouster and return to report to Congress showed the "gross and shabby materials which have been passing as honest goods" on the administration's counters.

Voice of People Heard

"The broad bases of decency and righteous anger of the people, muted all these years by the blare of lying propaganda, have asserted themselves — again are heard beyond the power of opposition jamming," Millikin declared.

Like most of his colleagues, the Colorado senator, who heads the conference of all GOP senators, did not pass on MacArthur's program for accelerating the war against Red China in Korea.

Charge 'Neglect'

Washington, May 12 (AP)—The United States Court of Appeals has charged O. John Rogge, one-time chief of the Justice Department's criminal division, with "inexcusable neglect" of a client's defense against perjury charges. Rogge denied it and called the court action "wrong." The client was Harold Christoffel, who is under a two to six year sentence on charges of a false swearing to the House Labor Committee that he had never been a Communist. Christoffel was formerly head of the CIO-United Auto Workers Local at Milwaukee. He was sentenced in 1950. The Appeals Court yesterday cited Rogge for disciplinary action by the bar committee here. The committee handles disbarment and lesser cases. The court held that Rogge neglected to take legal steps in time to assure that Christoffel's appeal from his sentence would be heard. Chief Judge Stephens ruled that Christoffel may appeal nevertheless.

Try to recruit crews for the growing merchant marine from men not subject to the draft, particularly through enticing back to sea experienced men who have gone ashore.

Communists Hide

the same situation prevailed before the Reds launched their first spring offensive April 22.

"Two days before they hit us we saw quite a few of them," the officer said. "The day before they struck we couldn't find any. Then the attack came."

Even the same tell-tale fires preceded the first Red assault.

That drive came to a halt 10 days after it began. The Reds suffered 75,000 casualties.

United Nations pilots reported they killed nearly 400 Reds in a fire-bomb attack on a Red build-up area near Kapyong.

U. S. B-29 Superforts hit Red airfields in North Korea Saturday for the eighth consecutive day.

Twelve American F-86 Sabre jets clashed with 16 Russian-type MIG-15 jets over northwest Korea Saturday, damaged one and drove the rest back across the border into their Manchurian sanctuary.

All the American jets returned safely to their base.

Allied fliers attacked at least 300 Red vehicles moving toward the front Friday night. More than two-thirds were headed for the central front buildup area. Pilots said they destroyed more than 80 vehicles.

be consulted in the treaty negotiations as Britain proposed last month.

3. Britain is willing now to postpone indefinitely the question whether Formosa should go to Red China. Morrison told the House of Commons that before there is a decision the Korean conflict must end, and the Formosan people themselves and the UN consulted.

The British still feel bound by the 1943 Cairo Conference to return Formosa to China. To London, this logically means Red China. The British recognize the Peiping regime, not the Nationalist government of Chiang Kai-shek.

Won't Give Island to Reds

American policy, on the other hand, is dead set against giving the island to the Communists. Some officials believe a UN trusteeship might be the eventual way out.

Morrison made plain Britain now is willing to leave the question open indefinitely and will not press the original proposal to insert a pledge in the peace treaty to turn the island over to China.

The purpose of these clinics is for the examination of teeth and the application of sodium fluoride to aid in the prevention of tooth decay. Sodium fluoride if applied early in life is estimated to prevent about 40 per cent of tooth decay. Series of applications of sodium fluoride should be made at the ages of approximately three, seven 10 and 13 years, it is pointed out.

Parents of pre-school children who are interested in availing themselves of this service may secure an appointment by calling Mrs. John Leonard at 632-W May 16 and 17 between the hours of 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. Appointments also may be secured by calling the public health nurses at 802 from 4 to 5 p. m. during the week.

Want to Know . . .

the area of Korea through expansion of our military operations to his coastal areas and interior bases would doom Red China to the risk of imminent military collapse."

Blames Statement

Marshall has testified that the 13 other United Nations members which have troops in Korea "instantly" broke off discussion of settlement terms as a result of that MacArthur statement. He said it wiped out any chance for a settlement at that time.

Knowland produced a memorandum which he described as not official but based on "some of the (settlement) terms and conditions I had been given to understand were the subject of discussion."

He asked Marshall whether the information was correct, and the secretary replied that "none of them awakened any memory of mine."

Included among the purported proposals Knowland read was a suggestion that the United States would be "enabled without any prejudices" to accept a majority vote of the U. N. Security Council to seat Red China in the U.N.

Another point in the memorandum was that "preliminary soundings apparently make Nehru (prime minister of India) hopeful" that Communist China would not insist "on the immediate liquidation of Chiang Kai-shek if secretly assured it will follow in the course of time."

Won't Give Up Formosa

Marshall has declared that this country should "never yield" to any pressure to give Red China a UN seat, and that the Island of Formosa — Chiang's Nationalist headquarters — never should be handed over to the Reds.

Knowland and Senator Morse (R.-Ore.) said Marshall's hazy memory about the settlement terms the administration actually had in mind in March make it imperative that an outline of them be supplied to the joint committee.

Senator Russell (D.-Ga.), the committee chairman, said he would ask that such an outline be provided. Marshall said it was available at the State Department and probably could be "made a matter of at least confidential evidence" with Mr. Truman's approval.

If the President approves, the material may not be supplied until Secretary of State Acheson testifies—and that may be some time from now at the rate the inquiry has been moving.

Republicans See

asserted repeatedly that he is not a candidate for the presidential nomination.

He has many boosters for the presidency, including Governor Dewey of New York, who was the Republican candidate for president in 1944 and 1948.

Early in his talk Senator Millikin brought the Republicans to a standing ovation with the mention of MacArthur's name at a "senatorial dinner."

The Colorado senator cracked down vigorously on the Truman administration, which he accused of "alarming and dividing our people when the need for unity is greatest." He said MacArthur's ouster and return to report to Congress showed the "gross and shabby materials which have been passing as honest goods" on the administration's counters.

Voice of People Heard

"The broad bases of decency and righteous anger of the people, muted all these years by the blare of lying propaganda, have asserted themselves — again are heard beyond the power of opposition jamming," Millikin declared.

Like most of his colleagues, the Colorado senator, who heads the conference of all GOP senators, did not pass on MacArthur's program for accelerating the war against Red China in Korea.

Charge 'Neglect'

Washington, May 12 (AP)—The United States Court of Appeals has charged O. John Rogge, one-time chief of the Justice Department's criminal division, with "inexcusable neglect" of a client's defense against perjury charges. Rogge denied it and called the court action "wrong." The client was Harold Christoffel, who is under a two to six year sentence on charges of a false swearing to the House Labor Committee that he had never been a Communist. Christoffel was formerly head of the CIO-United Auto Workers Local at Milwaukee. He was sentenced in 1950. The Appeals Court yesterday cited Rogge for disciplinary action by the bar committee here. The committee handles disbarment and lesser cases. The court held that Rogge neglected to take legal steps in time to assure that Christoffel's appeal from his sentence would be heard. Chief Judge Stephens ruled that Christoffel may appeal nevertheless.

the same situation prevailed before the Reds launched their first spring offensive April 22.

"Two days before they hit us we saw quite a few of them," the officer said. "The day before they struck we couldn't find any. Then the attack came."

Even the same tell-tale fires preceded the first Red assault.

That drive came to a halt 10 days after it began. The Reds suffered 75,000 casualties.

United Nations pilots reported they killed nearly 400 Reds in a fire-bomb attack on a Red build-up area near Kapyong.

U. S. B-29 Superforts hit Red airfields in North Korea Saturday for the eighth consecutive day.

Twelve American F-86 Sabre jets clashed with 16 Russian-type MIG-15 jets over northwest Korea Saturday, damaged one and drove the rest back across the border into their Manchurian sanctuary.

All the American jets returned safely to their base.

Allied fliers attacked at least 300 Red vehicles moving toward the front Friday night. More than two-thirds were headed for the central front buildup area. Pilots said they destroyed more than 80 vehicles.

3. Britain is willing now to postpone indefinitely the question whether Formosa should go to Red China. Morrison told the House of Commons that before there is a decision the Korean conflict must end, and the Formosan people themselves and the UN consulted.

The British still feel bound by the 1943 Cairo Conference to return Formosa to China. To London, this logically means Red China. The British recognize the Peiping regime, not the Nationalist government of Chiang Kai-shek.

Won't Give Island to Reds

American policy, on the other hand, is dead set against giving the island to the Communists. Some officials believe a UN trusteeship might be the eventual way out.

Morrison made plain Britain now is willing to leave the question open indefinitely and will not press the original proposal to insert a pledge in the peace treaty to turn the island over to China.

DR. ALLEN STOCKDALE

The regular monthly dinner meeting of the Industrial Management Club of Kingston will be held Thursday, May 17, at 6:30 p. m. at the YMCA.

Dr. Allen a Stockdale, who will be the guest speaker, has been for the past 12 years staff speaker for the National Association of Manufacturers. Dr. Stockdale is considered one of the best informed spokesmen for industry in the United States today.

During World War 1 he served in France as a Red Cross field director. He also is widely known as a college and amateur baseball player and among his friends are many present and former major league baseball players.

Guests interested in attending the meeting are requested to make reservations through any club member.

Want to Know . . .

the area of Korea through expansion of our military operations to his coastal areas and interior bases would doom Red China to the risk of imminent military collapse."

Blames Statement

Marshall has testified that the 13 other United Nations members which have troops in Korea "instantly" broke off discussion of settlement terms as a result of that MacArthur statement. He said it wiped out any chance for a settlement at that time.

Knowland produced a memorandum which he described as not official but based on "some of the (settlement) terms and conditions I had been given to understand were the subject of discussion."

He asked Marshall whether the information was correct, and the secretary replied that "none of them awakened any memory of mine."

Included among the purported proposals Knowland read was a suggestion that the United States would be "enabled without any prejudices" to accept a majority vote of the U. N. Security Council to seat Red China in the U.N.

Another point in the memorandum was that "preliminary soundings apparently make Nehru (prime minister of India) hopeful" that Communist China would not insist "on the immediate liquidation of Chiang Kai-shek if secretly assured it will follow in the course of time."

Won't Give Up Formosa

Marshall has declared that this country should "never yield" to any pressure to give Red China a UN seat, and that the Island of Formosa — Chiang's Nationalist headquarters — never should be handed over to the Reds.

Knowland and Senator Morse (R.-Ore.) said Marshall's hazy memory about the settlement terms the administration actually had in mind in March make it imperative that an outline of them be supplied to the joint committee.

Senator Russell (D.-Ga.), the committee chairman, said he would ask that such an outline be provided Marshall said it was available at the State Department and probably could be "made a matter of at least confidential evidence" with Mr. Truman's approval.

If the President approves, the material may not be supplied until Secretary of State Acheson testifies—and that may be some time from now at the rate the inquiry has been moving.

Republicans See

asserted repeatedly that he is not a candidate for the presidential nomination.

He has many boosters for the presidency, including Governor Dewey of New York, who was the Republican candidate for president in 1944 and 1948.

Early in his talk Senator Millikin brought the Republicans to a standing ovation with the mention of MacArthur's name at a "senatorial dinner."

The Colorado senator cracked down vigorously on the Truman administration, which he accused of "alarming and dividing our people when the need for unity is greatest." He said MacArthur's ouster and return to report to Congress showed the "gross and shabby materials which have been passing as honest goods" on the administration's counters.

Voice of People Heard

"The broad bases of decency and righteous anger of the people, muted all these years by the blare of lying propaganda, have asserted themselves — again are heard beyond the power of opposition jamming," Millikin declared.

Like most of his colleagues, the Colorado senator, who heads the conference of all GOP senators, did not pass on MacArthur's program for accelerating the war against Red China in Korea.

general session and luncheon featuring a talk by Rep, Halleck (R.-Ind.) concludes the meeting here.

Charge 'Neglect'

Washington, May 12 (AP)—The United States Court of Appeals has charged O. John Rogge, one-time chief of the Justice Department's criminal division, with "inexcusable neglect" of a client's defense against perjury charges. Rogge denied it and called the court action "wrong." The client was Harold Christoffel, who is under a two to six year sentence on charges of a false swearing to the House Labor Committee that he had never been a Communist. Christoffel was formerly head of the CIO-United Auto Workers Local at Milwaukee. He was sentenced in 1950. The Appeals Court yesterday cited Rogge for disciplinary action by the bar committee here. The committee handles disbarment and lesser cases. The court held that Rogge neglected to take legal steps in time to assure that Christoffel's appeal from his sentence would be heard. Chief Judge Stephens ruled that Christoffel may appeal nevertheless.

Plan to Aid Seamen

Washington, May 12 (AP)—Selective Service and the maritime industry are combining efforts to keep wandering seamen out of trouble with draft boards, especially inland boards without much knowledge of the ways of the sea. Draft director Lewis B. Hershey announced there will be a combined effort to: 1. Make sure seamen provide draft boards with full information on whereabouts sea experience and ratings. 2. Try to recruit crews for the growing merchant marine from men not subject to the draft, particularly through enticing back to sea experienced men who have gone ashore.

13 Die in Train Mishaps

The spokesman said nine persons were killed and 11 injured at Darshanga when a passenger train collided with a switch engine. Four others were killed and 10 injured near Magpur when fire gutted a passenger coach on the Calcutta to Bombay mail train.

Cigarettes Next in Line

Washington, May 12 (AP)—Tobacco smoke curls a big question mark over the next tax-raising decision of the House Ways and Means Committee. The group already has pushed its prospective 1951 tax increases above $5,700,000,000. The Treasury wants to collect an additional half-billion dollars a year by increasing the tax on cigarettes from 7 cents a package to a dime.

Japanese Orphans Thank Wolfhounds

Somewhere in Korea, May 12 (AP) — A hand-painted greeting card, printed in childish but painstakingly correct English, is a treasured keepsake of the famed U. S. 27th "Wolfhound" Regiment.

It came yesterday from the 107 orphans the regiment has been supporting.

The greeting card was accompanied by packets of letters in Jananese.

The card said:

"Wishing the Wolfhounds of the 27th Regiment every grace and blessing, every success and happiness, on the occasion of its 50th birthday. From the orphans, Osaka, Japan."

The regiment started supporting the orphanage at Christmas, 1949 while they were on occupation duty in Japan. Since then the monthly pay-day collections have amounted to $53,000.

It's Spring

Of all the seasons of the year—
It's Spring that fills our heart with cheer.

General Vaughan Is Afraid Talking Hurts

Pennsville, N. J., May 12 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, president Truman's military aide, is determined to stay out of trouble by not making speeches.

Vaughan turned down an invitation to address a Veterans of Foreign Wars Memorial Day service May 27 because speechmaking "is not really part of my duty."

The general made the statement in a letter to Otto Simberg of Quinton, N. J., chairman of the arrangements committee:

"Every time I try to help somebody out I seem to get into trouble," Vaughan wrote, ". . . So I think it is better to just refrain from making speeches."

General Vaughan Is Afraid Talking Hurts

Pennsville, N. J., May 12 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, president Truman's military aide, is determined to stay out of trouble by not making speeches.

Vaughan turned down an invitation to address a Veterans of Foreign Wars Memorial Day service May 27 because speechmaking "is not really part of my duty."

The general made the statement in a letter to Otto Simberg of Quinton, N. J., chairman of the arrangements committee:

"Every time I try to help somebody out I seem to get into trouble," Vaughan wrote, ". . . So I think it is better to just refrain from making speeches."

It's Spring

Of all the seasons of the year—
It's Spring that fills our heart with cheer.

Greens are budding, flowers peep,
Birds are singing, oh so sweet.
All God's children sing anew
Songs of praise to God so true.

General Vaughan Is Afraid Talking Hurts

Pennsville, N. J., May 12 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, president Truman's military aide, is determined to stay out of trouble by not making speeches.

Vaughan turned down an invitation to address a Veterans of Foreign Wars Memorial Day service May 27 because speechmaking "is not really part of my duty."

The general made the statement in a letter to Otto Simberg of Quinton, N. J., chairman of the arrangements committee:

"Every time I try to help somebody out I seem to get into trouble," Vaughan wrote, ". . . So I think it is better to just refrain from making speeches."

Drive Hits $15,000 Mark; Ends on Tuesday

The YMCA anniversary financial campaign reached the three-quarter mark Friday night when a total of $15,000 was reported by George H. De Kay, chairman.

With four days still remaining until the final day of the campaign on Tuesday, prospects for reaching the $20,000 goal were bright, De Kay said today.

"All workers must give their utmost, however, if we hope to attain the goal," the drive chairman said.

The $15,000 mark was hit Friday following returns from Dwight McEntee, former chairman and Stanley Matthews on the initial gift committee. Others reporting were John Henry Martin, James E. Tobin and Mr. and Mrs. James W. Millard.

French critics regard Edgard Allan Poe as the father of the short story.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.

1,200 Vols May Attend July 28 Village Parley

Woodstock, May 11—Prior to a general meeting of the Woodstock Business Association, Thursday night, Reginald Lapo, fire chief of Woodstock and also president of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association, spoke about the Volunteer Firemen's convention to be held in Woodstock July 28. Lapo said that it is expected that approximately 1,200 visiting firemen will attend and that there will be 800 to 900 in the fife and drum corps. He also said that it is estimated that between 3,000 and 4,000 people will be in this village for the day.

As a result of Lapo's request for permission to solicit funds from individual Business Association members, a motion was carried to appoint one of the directors of the association to make the collections. The funds, after collection, would be turned over to the Volunteer Firemen's Association. The Woodstock Business Association would attempt to assist in the collection of funds to meet any deficit, but the association did not commit itself to any definite amount.

During the meeting, William Hand, president, reported on the activities of the Association since it went into operation 11 months ago. He said that among the projects already completed were the erection of street signs, distribution of car plates advertising the art colony, promotional folders which will be released next Thursday, a credit bureau, a date clearance bureau, two parking areas, and the creation of better feeling between business people and the townspeople.

The general feeling was expressed by all members present that the Association had done a successful job and that everyone hoped for a better future.

Directors Nominated

In the course of the meeting Jarry Jerominek, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following list of nominees for directors: William Hand, Karl Cousins, Wayne Underhill, William Mower, William Melville, Lloyd Lund, Edgar Bauman, Harry Alpern, Mrs. Cecile MacReady, and Carl Schroeder. Two nominations from the floor were for Mrs. Bert Wangler and John Lullman.

Only 10 of the 12 nominated directors will be elected on the final ballot, it was pointed out.

Inquiries were made by members about the possibility of a bank in this village. William Hand replied that to date there is no available information concerning a bank here.

A serious discussion took place regarding the lukewarm attitude of villagers concerning the blood bank sponsored by the Woodstock Masonic Square Club. Warren Hutty, who is in charge of the blood bank committee, reported that in order to make it worth the doctor's while to come out for the regular blood bank dates from Kingston, he must be assured of at least 10 pints of blood from each session. At the past few blood bank sessions the quota has not been met.

A letter from the American Legion was read, inviting the Business Association to attend the Memorial Day services. Merchants who are members of the association will display flags, and it is hoped that non-members also will participate.

Morty Berkowitz and Edgar Bauman were appointed to investigate the matter of advertising Woodstock in the New York newspapers. An undisclosed, but substantial sum has been appropriated for this purpose.

A committee will be formed to contact immediately the city fathers of this village on the ways and means of installing sidewalks in the main section of the village. The committee will make its report at the next meeting.

Loft Thespians Seek Area Theatre

Woodstock, May 11—One of the surest signs last week-end that the summer theatre season is close at hand was the welcome as well as pleasurable sight of Aileen Cramer on the village green, notebook in hand and a batch of photographs of the Loft Players under her arm.

With characteristic enthusiasm for the projects and plans of the Loft Players, Aileen confirmed the report that the group is looking for a location for an arena-type theatre, with perhaps a month's stay in the vicinity in view.

"We'd like to present 'Dark of the Moon,' the play which we opened the Circle in the Square in New York," she said, "and perhaps a few others."

With "Antigone," their third production at the arena theatre, successfully launched, the young players are eager to return for at least a short season to the village which gave them so much encouragement last summer. Their current production, "Antigone," is by Jean Anouilh, and was adapted and translated by Lewis Galantiere.

Aileen also reported that their new "Arena Gallery" opened April 28. Each month there will be a different exhibition on view.

On Sunday, April 29, the concert which was given by the American Recorded Society, was attended by an enthusiastic audience of 200 persons.

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.

1,200 Vols May Attend July 28 Village Parley

Woodstock, May 11—Prior to a general meeting of the Woodstock Business Association, Thursday night, Reginald Lapo, fire chief of Woodstock and also president of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association, spoke about the Volunteer Firemen's convention to be held in Woodstock July 28. Lapo said that it is expected that approximately 1,200 visiting firemen will attend and that there will be 800 to 900 in the fife and drum corps. He also said that it is estimated that between 3,000 and 4,000 people will be in this village for the day.

As a result of Lapo's request for permission to solicit funds from individual Business Association members, a motion was carried to appoint one of the directors of the association to make the collections. The funds, after collection, would be turned over to the Volunteer Firemen's Association. The Woodstock Business Association would attempt to assist in the collection of funds to meet any deficit, but the association did not commit itself to any definite amount.

During the meeting, William Hand, president, reported on the activities of the Association since it went into operation 11 months ago. He said that among the projects already completed were the erection of street signs, distribution of car plates advertising the art colony, promotional folders which will be released next Thursday, a credit bureau, a date clearance bureau, two parking areas, and the creation of better feeling between business people and the townspeople.

The general feeling was expressed by all members present that the Association had done a successful job and that everyone hoped for a better future.

Directors Nominated

In the course of the meeting Jarry Jerominek, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following list of nominees for directors: William Hand, Karl Cousins, Wayne Underhill, William Mower, William Melville, Lloyd Lund, Edgar Bauman, Harry Alpern, Mrs. Cecile MacReady, and Carl Schroeder. Two nominations from the floor were for Mrs. Bert Wangler and John Lullman.

Only 10 of the 12 nominated directors will be elected on the final ballot, it was pointed out.

Inquiries were made by members about the possibility of a bank in this village. William Hand replied that to date there is no available information concerning a bank here.

A serious discussion took place regarding the lukewarm attitude of villagers concerning the blood bank sponsored by the Woodstock Masonic Square Club. Warren Hutty, who is in charge of the blood bank committee, reported that in order to make it worth the doctor's while to come out for the regular blood bank dates from Kingston, he must be assured of at least 10 pints of blood from each session. At the past few blood bank sessions the quota has not been met.

A letter from the American Legion was read, inviting the Business Association to attend the Memorial Day services. Merchants who are members of the association will display flags, and it is hoped that non-members also will participate.

Morty Berkowitz and Edgar Bauman were appointed to investigate the matter of advertising Woodstock in the New York newspapers. An undisclosed, but substantial sum has been appropriated for this purpose.

A committee will be formed to contact immediately the city fathers of this village on the ways and means of installing sidewalks in the main section of the village. The committee will make its report at the next meeting.

Loft Thespians Seek Area Theatre

Woodstock, May 11—One of the surest signs last week-end that the summer theatre season is close at hand was the welcome as well as pleasurable sight of Aileen Cramer on the village green, notebook in hand and a batch of photographs of the Loft Players under her arm.

With characteristic enthusiasm for the projects and plans of the Loft Players, Aileen confirmed the report that the group is looking for a location for an arena-type theatre, with perhaps a month's stay in the vicinity in view.

"We'd like to present 'Dark of the Moon,' the play which we opened the Circle in the Square in New York," she said, "and perhaps a few others."

With "Antigone," their third production at the arena theatre, successfully launched, the young players are eager to return for at least a short season to the village which gave them so much encouragement last summer. Their current production, "Antigone," is by Jean Anouilh, and was adapted and translated by Lewis Galantiere.

Aileen also reported that their new "Arena Gallery" opened April 28. Each month there will be a different exhibition on view.

On Sunday, April 29, the concert which was given by the American Recorded Society, was attended by an enthusiastic audience of 200 persons.

1,200 Vols May Attend July 28 Village Parley

Woodstock, May 11—Prior to a general meeting of the Woodstock Business Association, Thursday night, Reginald Lapo, fire chief of Woodstock and also president of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association, spoke about the Volunteer Firemen's convention to be held in Woodstock July 28. Lapo said that it is expected that approximately 1,200 visiting firemen will attend and that there will be 800 to 900 in the fife and drum corps. He also said that it is estimated that between 3,000 and 4,000 people will be in this village for the day.

As a result of Lapo's request for permission to solicit funds from individual Business Association members, a motion was carried to appoint one of the directors of the association to make the collections. The funds, after collection, would be turned over to the Volunteer Firemen's Association. The Woodstock Business Association would attempt to assist in the collection of funds to meet any deficit, but the association did not commit itself to any definite amount.

During the meeting, William Hand, president, reported on the activities of the Association since it went into operation 11 months ago. He said that among the projects already completed were the erection of street signs, distribution of car plates advertising the art colony, promotional folders which will be released next Thursday, a credit bureau, a date clearance bureau, two parking areas, and the creation of better feeling between business people and the townspeople.

The general feeling was expressed by all members present that the Association had done a successful job and that everyone hoped for a better future.

Directors Nominated

In the course of the meeting Jarry Jerominek, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following list of nominees for directors: William Hand, Karl Cousins, Wayne Underhill, William Mower, William Melville, Lloyd Lund, Edgar Bauman, Harry Alpern, Mrs. Cecile MacReady, and Carl Schroeder. Two nominations from the floor were for Mrs. Bert Wangler and John Lullman.

Only 10 of the 12 nominated directors will be elected on the final ballot, it was pointed out.

Inquiries were made by members about the possibility of a bank in this village. William Hand replied that to date there is no available information concerning a bank here.

A serious discussion took place regarding the lukewarm attitude of villagers concerning the blood bank sponsored by the Woodstock Masonic Square Club. Warren Hutty, who is in charge of the blood bank committee, reported that in order to make it worth the doctor's while to come out for the regular blood bank dates from Kingston, he must be assured of at least 10 pints of blood from each session. At the past few blood bank sessions the quota has not been met.

A letter from the American Legion was read, inviting the Business Association to attend the Memorial Day services. Merchants who are members of the association will display flags, and it is hoped that non-members also will participate.

Morty Berkowitz and Edgar Bauman were appointed to investigate the matter of advertising Woodstock in the New York newspapers. An undisclosed, but substantial sum has been appropriated for this purpose.

A committee will be formed to contact immediately the city fathers of this village on the ways and means of installing sidewalks in the main section of the village. The committee will make its report at the next meeting.

Loft Thespians Seek Area Theatre

Woodstock, May 11—One of the surest signs last week-end that the summer theatre season is close at hand was the welcome as well as pleasurable sight of Aileen Cramer on the village green, notebook in hand and a batch of photographs of the Loft Players under her arm.

With characteristic enthusiasm for the projects and plans of the Loft Players, Aileen confirmed the report that the group is looking for a location for an arena-type theatre, with perhaps a month's stay in the vicinity in view.

"We'd like to present 'Dark of the Moon,' the play which we opened the Circle in the Square in New York," she said, "and perhaps a few others."

With "Antigone," their third production at the arena theatre, successfully launched, the young players are eager to return for at least a short season to the village which gave them so much encouragement last summer. Their current production, "Antigone," is by Jean Anouilh, and was adapted and translated by Lewis Galantiere.

Aileen also reported that their new "Arena Gallery" opened April 28. Each month there will be a different exhibition on view.

On Sunday, April 29, the concert which was given by the American Recorded Society, was attended by an enthusiastic audience of 200 persons.
